

News About Clubs In Chowan County

By MADRED MORRIS Home Demonstration Agent

Hues of gold, browns and reds were the predominate colors in the mountains of Pennsylvania. The leaves were at their peak of beauty as we traveled between Washington, D. C., and Pittsburgh.

I attended the National Home Demonstration Agents' Association annual meeting in Minneapolis, Minnesota, on October 22-25. The Eastern District agents who attended with me were Miss Rebecca Colwell, Craven County; Mrs. Rita Preston, Beaufort County and Miss Jean Woodley, Hyde County. There were 17 agents from North Carolina who went to the meeting.

neapolis on Sunday night. Our bus trip was really wonderful. The drivers were very nice in pointing out historical places and keeping us informed where we were. One driver even waited a few minutes for us to buy some Wisconsin cheese and crackers. The drivers tried to keep an eye on us at meal time because we had a bad habit of wondering off and not getting back on time.

Our convention was really wonderful. On Monday afternoon we went on a tour of the Betty Crocker Kitchens in the General Mills Building to see the experimental kitchens. We were entertained there with a Continental Coffee Party with French, Viennese, Russian and American coffee being served. I believe I still prefer our American coffee, however.

Different companies had exhibits in one of the rooms and we collected several shopping bags full of materials. Our suitcases were packed with everything from screw drivers to cake mix on the way back.

The makers of Fleischmann's yeast entertained at an elaborate tea for all the agents and presented each one with a pair of gold wheat earrings. Campbell Soup Company entertained at a luncheon and introduced us to their three new kinds of soup, which was very delicious. Three men representing the Campbell Soup Kids entertained during the luncheon playing songs for different states. Of course, we really sung out on "Carolina Moon" and "Dixie."

The Friendship Party Dinner was the highlight of the meeting. I was fortunate to be at the table with Marion Brunnell, president of the National Farm Agents Association; John N. Booth of the Charles Pfizer & Co., Inc. of New York, with two ladies from New Mexico and three other ladies. The Friendship Dinner was sponsored by the Corn Products Refining Co.

We were also entertained at luncheons by the General Food Kitchen, Coats & Clark, Inc., and Simplicity Pattern Company. "Fashions Unlimited" was the theme of the fashion show which was held on the final day of the trip at the recognition luncheon for agents, who received recognition certificates. This luncheon was held at the Coffman Memorial Union at the University of Minnesota. The speakers at the meetings were the best, I believe. Miss Laura Lane, associate editor of the Farm Journal, was very entertaining in the way she presented her talk. The Rev. Reuben K. Youndahl, pastor of Mount Olivet Lutheran Church there, spoke on "The Possible You." Dr. Ralph Nickols of the University of Minnesota spoke on "He Who Has Ears," telling us that we should be trained how to listen. He said, "We only tune in on a speaker occasionally." These speakers were so wonderful that I will be telling you more about their speeches later on. The theme of the program for the week was "Frontiers Unlimited," which proved to be very effective.

We went on a tour of Minneapolis to see Minnehaha Falls, a few of the 10,000 lakes that Minnesota is noted for, and Southdale, the newest shopping center. Southdale is so large that the parking areas are marked by a large picture of various animals as the rooster, bear, etc.

The nights we had free were crowded, too. We attended the Cinerama production of the "Seven Wonders of the World," narrated by Lowell Thomas. This was the most wonderful movie I have ever seen. We also saw "Around the World In 80 Days." Then we finally got to see the stage production of "No Time For Sergeants," which was wonderful although we sat in the upper, upper, upper, upper balcony.

We came back through a lot of snow which was beautiful. In Chicago there was four inches of the fluffy white stuff.

I think you will agree that we had a wonderful trip and I wish you all could have shared these wonderful experiences along with us. I think this "inspirational thought" is a summary of my trip because I have found that people are wonderful no matter where you go.

"Inspirational Thought" Love is in the eyes of everyone who sees me, Love is in the ears of everyone who hears me, Love is in the tongue of everyone who speaks to me, Love is in the heart of everyone who knows me, Love is in the consciousness of everyone who remembers me.

Lions Raise $450 In Drives

Medlin Belch, president of the Edenton Lions Club, announced that $450.50 had been raised in recent weeks for the benefit of blind persons. The annual bread sale netted $167.00. W. E. Malone was chairman of the bread sale.

The annual White Cane drive netted $283.50. Dr. A. F. Downum was chairman of the White Cane drive. Downum stated that the drive would be held open a few more days since some persons who had been contacted had not responded at this time. He urged all persons to return their letter with the contribution to him as soon as possible, or stop by his office in person with their contribution to help put Edenton "over the top."

Belch was high in his praise of the support given Edenton Lions by the community. "This support by Edentonians makes it possible for us to continue our work not only with our local blind persons, but to assist others in North Carolina through the White Cane Drive," stated Belch.

of the support given Edenton Lions by the community. "This support by Edentonians makes it possible for us to continue our work not only with our local blind persons, but to assist others in North Carolina through the White Cane Drive," stated Belch. Victor J. Tucker, commercial teacher at Edenton Junior-Senior High School, was a visitor, a guest of Tom Ridgeway.

Fortesque Speaks To Methodist Men

The Rev. Frank Fortesque, pastor of the Chowan Charge, was the principal speaker at the Methodist Men's Club meeting Thursday night. Mr. Fortesque used as his subject "Christ Shall Prevail," during which he used as examples the lives of Peter and Paul. He also gave an interesting account of his call to the ministry, and urged his hearers to heed the call of Christ when He knocks at the door in various ways.

A delightful fried fish supper was served by A. L. Brinson, Irwin Griffin and Larry Knox and it was decided to invite the ladies to the next meeting of the club in November.
