The Scouts of Troop 156 were given a demonstration on packing a pack by Billy Dail during the meeting on Monday night. Billy unpacked an improperly packed pack. He emphasized each wrong thing. He then got some new Scouts to pack the pack the correct way. After much fumbling around, and after their instructor had added some instructions, they got it packed.

After the business had been disposed of St. John Scallion gave a demonstration on weight lifting. All the boys joined in to test their skill on his weights.

The Scouts plan to sell ball-point pens and mechanical pencils during November. Details will be announced later.

Rocky Hock Club Has Interesting Meet

"The use of accessories is an inexpensive way to give your home the appearance of a complete change. But be careful not to overdo it. Accessories for your home should be chosen as carefully as you choose your wardrobe, so said Mrs. Jacqueline Lewis, assistant home agent, at a very informative demonstration on "Accessories For The Home" at the Rocky Hock Home Demonstration Club meeting last week. She stressed the importance of balance, color, line and purpose. "Every room in your home can reflect your own individuality, and personality with a well-planned selection of accessories."

Club members were given helpful hints on entertaining at a "tea" by Mrs. Henry Bunch, who gave a leaders report "Let's Have A Tea." The club education leader, Mrs. Jack Leary, reviewed tips on how to preside at a meeting and how to introduce your speaker graciously. These leader reports were well received and the instruction most helpful to members.

The vice president, Mrs. Bunch began the program with a well-chosen devotional. During the business session, she named committees to be responsible for the two Christmas trees at the "Christmas Festival of Ideas" sponsored by the County Council to be held at the Chowan Community Building on November 26 from 7:00 to 9:00 P. M. The women were urged to attend the Husbands' Supper-Achievement Program on November 5, also.

Only one member was absent at the October meeting. Mrs. B. L. Raines, hostess, served the group delicious refreshments.
