Chowan High Girls Win Court Honors

The girls' basketball team at Chowan High School recently completed a very successful season, having one seasonal and tournament honors. The girls, coached by Gilliam Underwood, lost only one game during the 1957-58 season. They won out in tournament play by defeating Moyock 46-28.

Little 5-ft., 3-in. Emily Leary, junior, led the team to victory with her superior ball handling and speed plus the competitive spirit which she displayed during the season's play. Thus she led the team with 18.2 points per game.

Following closely was Ruth Leary, senior, sister to Emily, with a 14.4 average per game. Ruth gave a top performance during the tournament, leading the team to victory over Moyock with a 46-28 score to capture the Tidewater Athletic Tournament.

Lynda Copeland, junior, turned in 12 points for the championship game, thus establishing herself as a sure shot for next year's starting team.

Regular substitutes, who Coach Underwood called upon frequently and who came through with brilliant performances, were left-handed Margaret Raines, junior, who also will be a first string regular next year. Margie Evans, sophomore, has played extremely well this year and will be giving the girls a fight for next year's regular position. Freshman Janet Faye Hendrix saw a great deal of action this year and has promises of being one of the outstanding forwards of Chowan High.

In the guards department, playing a man-to-man defense, Barbara Jordan, junior, played a steady, dependable season, leading in rebounds, and also cutting the opponents' high scorer as much as 15 to 18 points per game. Sarah Bunch, junior, turned in a year's play of dependable guarding. Kay Hare, sophomore, gave a performance through the year of being one of Chowan's best guards. Capable of fast thinking and movement, Kay often found it her responsibility to guard a fast girl, but did equally well with larger girls. Her tournament play was not surpassed. Guards called upon heavily were Jackie Asbell, Patsy Privott and Karen Raines. Therefore, the wheel of Underwood's Chowan Bulldogs lose only one spoke, Ruth Leary, this year. They expect to be rolling again next year as strong as ever.

Mrs. Harrison Brent, Jr., of Norfolk, Va., was the house guest of Col. and Mrs. A. R. Stacy from March 24-26.

New Vacation Book Is Just Off Press

Containing 62 pictures in full color, the 1958 North Carolina "Variety Vacationland" vacation book is off the press and available free on request to the State Travel Bureau, Department Conservation and Development, Raleigh, North Carolina.

Color cameramen ranged from the Atlantic coast at Cape Hatteras to the crest of the Great Smoky Mountains to illustrate the 1958 "Variety Vacationland". The new book is divided into three sections, with attractions of the Piedmont central part of the State and the Mountains and Coast grouped for convenience in reading. A new feature is introduced in the form of a picture index. Instead of the usual textual table of contents, 1958 "Variety Vacationland" shows a map of the State with page numbers indicating location of places illustrated.

Two Edentonians Attend Industrial Conference Tuesday

Joe Conger, Jr., president of the Edenton Development Corporation, and Harry Smith, Jr., executive vice-president of the Edenton Chamber of Commerce, attended the regional industrial development conference at East Carolina College, Greenville on Tuesday of this week. It was the first in a series of meetings scheduled by the State Department of Conservation and Development to discuss the economic welfare and industrial programs of communities in three different sections of the State.

Panel discussions included opportunities for food processing and packaging and locally sponsored industry, prospect development and selling the community or area, development and use of community resource data and available sources of industrial development information, and financing of industrial development programs.

Similar meetings will be held in Greensboro on March 27 and in Asheville on April 4.

not cover this problem. The reports will be coordinated by the Army Engineer Corps after the hearing and will be submitted to Congressional committees for consideration and action. Col. Harry E. Brown, Director of the State Hurricane Rehabilitation Program, exhibited samples of reports to guide officials in their preparation.

The meeting voted that each county, town or distressed area should undertake its own survey, including statistics on damage, the value of property destroyed, the economic effect on the area, and recommended projects. The reports should be presented in person at the Washington hearing. Mayor A. T. Stewart of Washington was appointed to serve as moderator of the hearing. County and local officials planning to submit reports should notify Mayor Stewart prior to the hearing.

Mayor Ernest P. Kehayes of Edenton and President Gilliam Wood of the Chamber of Commerce were hosts at a luncheon meeting following the meeting.
