Chowan 4-H's Win Awards At Manteo 4-H Camp

Fourteen 4-H girls and boys, accompanied by Miss Mairdred Morris, home agent, and Robert Marsh, assistant farm agent, attended 4-H camp at Manteo on June 23-28.

Chowan County camped with Cumberland, Green, Washington and Hyde counties. Although Chowan had the smallest number of campers present, they were honored with several awards on Friday night at the banquet. Eight awards were given to outstanding campers and Chowan received three of these awards. Bryant White received the most outstanding award in handicraft for the boys. Betty Jo Webb received the most outstanding girl award in recreation. Joe Ward received the most outstanding boy award in beginner swimming. Margaret Rountree received a blue ribbon on the "clutch bag" she made in handicraft.

The girls and boys were very busy from Monday to Saturday. Although the weather was bad a couple of days, the girls and boys participated in many activities. A class was taught in handicraft. The girls made clutch bags and the boys made billfolds. A class was taught in beginner and advanced swimming, recreation, electric and wildlife.

On Friday the group was divided into two teams for their field day program. They participated in relays, basketball and softball. On Thursday night there was a "Pirates Ball" and a pirate king and queen were crowned.

The group attending from Chowan County were: Winborne Blanchard, Glenn Bunch, Jr., Richard White, Jimmy Ward, Bobby Winborne, Danny Jones, Joe Ward, Bryant White, Helen Rae Blanchard, Sunny White, Margaret Rountree, Jo Ann Copeland, Bettina Black and Betty Joe Webb.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By JAMES H. GRIFFIN, Soil Conservationist

Do you want to seed a good summer legume? Giant Striata Crotalaria can be seeded until July 15 if you can find the seed. This date was just extended from June 30 to July 15 by the Chowan County Agricultural Technical Committee. It means that ACP payment of two dollars per acre can be made for seeding crotalaria.

Another summer legume that has been used in nearby counties is Sesbania. This crop has been used behind Irish potatoes in Camden, Pasquotank counties for several years. Many farmers like this summer legume. It grows tall, has a large root system, and supplies a large amount of organic matter and nitrogen to the soil. Seeding rate is 20-25 pounds per acre. The most important favorable factor is that it can be seeded up to August 1st. You might consider trying a small planting if it fits your farming operations. Leary Bros. are planning to seed about an acre on their Oak Ridge farm near Edenton.

Conservation farm plans were prepared for four district cooperators' farms. They were Willie G. Joyner of Cannons Ferry, T. R. Harrill of Bear Swamp, Arthur Lee Moring and Charlie Roberts of Greenhall Road. These conservation plans are plans of operations for the farm. First, a soil survey map is prepared of the farm. This is done by a trained soil scientist of the Soil Conservation Service. In the Albemarle Soil Conservation District Ed Karnowski does all the soil survey work. This soil survey map is used by the farmer and myself to determine the conservation needs of the farm. Plans are then made to best meet these needs with the farmer making the final decision as to the conservation practice he will carry out on his farm. The practices planned may be drainage, crop rotation, woodland, ponds, irrigation, pasture, contour tillage, strip rotations or wildlife conservation practices. The plan may include all of these or any part of them the farmer wishes. Technical assistance will be furnished by the local soil conservation district to the farmer (district cooperator) when these practices planned in the conservation plan are ready for installation. In this soil conservation district the technical assistance is mostly furnished through the Soil Conservation Service. All agricultural workers in the county can and will assist the district cooperator in carrying out his conservation farm plans.

Farmers (district cooperators) who are carrying out the needed conservation practices on their farms are finding that it pays them money returns. Conservation farming is using each acre within its capability and treating it according to its needs. Are you practicing conservation or are you one of these fellows who lives for today and forgets about tomorrow? Conservation is not retirement, it's using wisely for best returns.

If you do not have a conservation farm plan on your farm, contact your local Soil Conservation District Supervisor or the Soil Conservation Service office in the basement of the post office. Your district supervisors are L. C. Bunch at Hancock, R. H. Hollowell at Crossroads, and Joe Webb, Jr., on Route 2, Edenton.

Vets' Question Box

Q—I am the widow of a World War II veteran who never used his GI loan privilege. I have never remarried. Recently I noticed that the deadline for loan applications by World War II veterans had been extended to July 25, 1960. Does that mean that my right to apply for a loan was also extended?

A—Yes. Eligible unmarried widows of World War II veterans have until July 25, 1960, to apply.

Q—I will have to take a physical examination to reinstate my lapsed GI insurance policy. Who is supposed to mail my medical application for reinstatement to the VA, me or my physician?

A—Your examining physician should mail it to the VA as soon as your examination is completed.
