Mrs. Len Palmer wishes to thank everyone for the cards and letters received by Lt. Palmer, who is in the Portsmouth Naval Hospital.

SALAD DRESSING — Mrs. Helen Nicholls is ready to eat her hat, an entry in the Sandy's Flower Hat Show in Hamilton, Bermuda. Mrs. Nicholls, who's from Paget, Bermuda, raided her vegetable garden for the chapeau, which has baby carrots fanning out over a crown of lettuce leaves. Asparagus fern adds a finishing touch.

The Eskimos had seen explorers employ it to prize great icebergs apart or destroy some harmful obstruction. They had taken this English word over bodily into their language. In awed tones at times they spoke it. The missionary now adopted it, and taught his little flock the prayer. He told the Lindberghs of his experience.

On the Sunday morning of their stay the visitors attended church. The swarthy natives entered in their furry garments and took part heartily in the service. When the time came for the Lord's Prayer, the aviator and his wife could catch only one word, for which they were listening. They agreed that the translator had made a happy discovery.

The worshippers began reverently with bowed heads, praying in the Eskimo tongue "Our Father . . ." As they reached the concluding portion of the great prayer which Christ gave His disciples, they repeated thus the solemn words of ascription, "for Thine is the kingdom, and the dynamite and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen."

The people of Alaska are now jubilant and shouting over the statehood which, after long years of petitioning, they have attained. With a state twice the size of Texas, with billions in natural wealth—mines, and fisheries, and forests—they are expecting and planning a glorious future. On August 26th they will cast their votes for or against becoming the 49th state, and every one knows what their decision will be. On the same day they will nominate men for state offices, approve state boundaries, and accept other provisions of the recent congressional act.

At this momentous juncture they might remember the founding of another famous commonwealth, nearly three centuries ago, and the words of its founder: "If men are not governed by God, they will be ruled by tyrants."

Heavenly power—divine dynamite—this is what the great Quaker, William Penn, wanted for his state.

Realism will at length be found to surpass imagination, and to suit and savor all literatures. —Mary Baker Eddy.

Writing is like religion. Every man who feels the call must work out his own salvation. —George Horace Lorimer.

Does Faith WORK for You?

It takes faith in God to be an Episcopalian. Our beloved Church believes in and teaches the constant presence of God, not just in church on Sunday, but in our everyday lives. And it goes farther than that, in its continued insistence down through the years on the importance of the frequent celebration of the Holy Communion and frequent reception of this Sacrament by all members of the church. You see, we believe in the REAL presence of the Son of God in the consecrated elements of the Communion.

Yes, it takes faith in God, but we find that faith to be tremendously rewarding as we receive, not two or three or four times a year, but weekly or even more often, the comfort and strength which accompany this communion with God. Our Lord said, "Do this . . ." He said, "This is My body . . . this is My blood . . ." We accept His direction, and we accept the fact of His REAL presence realizing that God's ways are beyond our understanding. We don't make lengthy explanations of the mystery of the Holy Communion. Why are they necessary when we have faith in God? You, too, can find great strength and comfort in the Sacraments of the Episcopal Church. We invite you to learn more about them. Worship with us soon.
