Final Winners In Chamber Of Commerce Fishing Contest

The wife of Edenton's mayor and an eight-year-old angler from Colerain are among the grand prize winners in the Chamber of Commerce fishing contest which closed September 2. In making the announcement, Scott Harrell, chairman of the Tourist and Recreation Committee, said that two other local fishermen and one other from Colerain also captured season's prizes in the contest which began in June and made weekly awards for the heaviest bream, largemouth bass, crappie, rockfish and white perch caught in local waters.

The heaviest entry made in any class was a big thirteen pound rockfish which measured 32 inches and won the season's grand award in this class for Clyde Miller of Colerain. Miller caught the winner on a Pet spoon trolling off Cannon's Ferry in the Chowan River.

Edenton's first lady, Mrs. E. P. Kehayes, won the season's award for the six pound, fourteen and a half ounce largemouth bass she caught in Pembroke Creek. The mayor's wife brought in her winner while casting from the backyard. She stirred up "backyard" casting for many neighbors but none could match her entry.

Young Norman Perry, Jr., of Colerain took the season's award for the heaviest crappie entered in the weekly contests. It weighed one pound, four ounces, measured 13 inches and was caught in the Chowan River.

A nice one pound, six ounce white perch measuring 14 inches, the heaviest entered all season, won in this class for Hoskins S. Bass of Edenton. He was trolling in Edenton Bay using "shyster" bait.

The grand award for bream went to Melvin Evans, Edenton, for his entry weighing one pound, one ounce, measuring 10 1/2 inches. His winner was caught off Holly Wharf on crickets.

Harrell said prizes of $10 gift certificates will be presented to each winner by Bell's, Byrum Hardware Company, Edenton Marina, Hughes-Parker Hardware and Western Auto. The stores, which were official weighing stations, also donated weekly prizes for winners in each classification since the contest started.

Harrell said the contest created a great deal of interest and many have requested a similar contest to be held next spring.
