A LIFT FOR TODAY

★... I will give peace and quietness. —I Chronicles 22.
'TIS DEATH to me, to be at enmity; I hate it, and desire all good men's love. —Shakespeare.
We pray, Almighty God, that Thou wilt guide all nations into the paths of peace and understanding and free them from the burden of war.

Job Well Done

With a furious hurricane traveling along the North Carolina coast Saturday, headed in the direction of Edenton and this area, local citizens should be thankful that Hurricane Helene changed its course away from the coast, so that very little damage occurred in this area, compared with the great amount of property destruction along the coast further south.

Though the anticipated fury of the hurricane did not materialize locally, a splendid job of precautions and dissemination of information was done in event the worst came to the worst.

Edward Wozelka, director of Civil Defense in Chowan County, proved his efficiency in that capacity. L. H. Haskett, chairman of the Chowan County Red Cross Disaster Committee, done a splendid job in way of preparing to meet the storm and he is high in praise of the cooperation he received on the part of National Guardsmen, police, firemen and others who stood ready to offer any assistance possible.

Radio station WCDJ also rendered a splendid service by remaining on the air until midnight, after all apparent danger was passed.

Members of the National Guard unit remained up all night and patrolled the streets in jeeps in order to discover any possible danger or need of assistance. The schools in the county and in Edenton and the Edenton army were thrown open for use of citizens who felt safer there than in their homes.

Members of the Street Department were out on duty about 4 o'clock Sunday morning in order to clean up the debris caused by the wind and by 10:30 o'clock had completed a splendid job of cleaning up the town.

Mr. Wozelka was in constant touch with Civil Defense authorities as well as securing information on his ham radio set. He in turn relayed any information about the progress of the storm to the radio station for broadcasting to those within the radio reception.

All in all it was an excellent job of informing the public and preparing for any emergency. It was a glowing example of what can be done with the proper sort of cooperation. The efforts, fortunately, were not needed, but it was far better to be prepared and the hurricane not arrive as anticipated than to have the hurricane strike with damaging force and nobody being prepared to meet it.

You can save yourself a lot of wasted effort if you refuse to believe everything you hear about other people.

When you get in a hurry, that is a good time to be sure that you do not move too fast.

Luckily for the human race, adults who grow cynical are replaced by youngsters with enthusiasm, hope and faith.

Heard & Seen By Buff

Somebody told Reggie Griffin that I had something to say a week or two ago, when he was bitten by a pony at the Beers-Barnes Circus. "Well, he don't know everything," the boy said, I just learned how to whistle today."

Some people don't have any "respect" at all. The other night I joined a group to play cards and as I sat down at the table I discovered that I had left my pipe at home. "Good heavens," I exclaimed, "I forgot my pipe." But without losing any time two or three chimed in "Thank the Lord".

A fellow was telling me the other day about a local motorist who while on a northern trip stopped to buy gasoline. After the tank was filled, the filling station attendant asked "How's your oil?" The southerner probably misunderstood the attendant and replied "We're all right, thank you, how're you all?"

As if the Edenton Aces do not have enough followers, three dogs joined the ranks at Friday night's game. One of the dogs stood as quiet as spectators when the national anthem was played and marched with precision ahead of the band. Somebody ought to take that particular dog to Elizabeth City Friday night and train him to chase the Yellow Jackets when they run after Edenton ball carriers. At any rate the Aces will try their best to stage an upset by defeating the Yellow Jackets. It is reasonable to assume that a large crowd of Edenton fans will accompany the Aces. The Edenton band will also accompany the Aces, so that it should be a colorful football game if the Aces win or lose.

Many people were rather jittery Saturday night when it was expected that Hurricane Helene would unleash its fury here. We should be very thankful that Helene changed its course, so that we experienced only a stiff breeze. However, the electric current went off for a spell, so that kerosene lamps and tallow candles had to be used to provide light. It gave us an opportunity to realize how much better off we are now than many of our forefathers.

Jack McMullan the other day typed off the following religious formula:

- Get it like the Methodist,
- Experience it like a Baptist,
- Propagate it like the Roman Catholics,
- Praise it like the Episcopalians,
- Glorify it like the Jews,
- Simplify it like the Quakers,
- Practice it like the Christian Scientists,
- Pay for it like the Presbyterians,
- Work for it like the Salvation Army,
- Enjoy it like the Negro.

Then in rooting around my desk I found the following poem by an unknown author but appeared in "The Tar Heel Pest":

MAN IN THE GLASS

When you get what you want in your struggle for self,
And the world makes you king for a day,
Just go to a mirror and look at yourself,
And see what that man has to say.

For it isn't your father or mother or wife
Who judgment upon you must pass;
The fellow whose verdict counts most in your life
Is the one staring back from the glass.

Some people may think you a straight-shootin' chum,
And call you a wonderful guy.
But the man in the glass says you're only a bum
If you can't look him straight in the eye.

He's the fellow to please—never mind all the rest—
For he's with you clear up to the end,
And you've passed your most dangerous, difficult test,
If the man in the glass is your friend.

You may fool the whole world down the pathway of years,
And get pats on the back as you pass,
But your final reward will be heartaches and tears
If you've cheated the man in the glass.

New Farmers Elect Officers

The Edenton Chapter of New Farmers of America held its first meeting for the school year of 1936-37 on September 9. The purpose of the meeting was to elect officers for the school term.

The officers were as follows: President, John Moore; vice president, James Williams; secretary, Lee Coston; assistant secretary, William Welch; treasurer, Kenneth Jordan; reporter, Carroll Hurdle; parliamentarian, William Littlejohn; sergeant-at-arms, Geo. Bond; program director, William Fleming, Jr.; advisor, Alexander Blaine.

The October meeting will be devoted to developing a chapter program of work.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

My ministry required late hours last week-end when Hurricane Helene was expected. In the course of the evening and during the time the peak of the wind was to arrive in our area I found that I had much company on an otherwise comparatively lonely night!

Even while the wind had yet to reach gale force there was evidence of attention from the Department of Public Works. Debris was even then being gathered. I saw maintenance men and trucks from the Electric and Water Department already at work observing and repairing. The Police Department was present. At the hospital I found the entire staff had been alerted and emergency measures had been taken. When I offered to help put away a boat I found the marina already full of secured craft! The weather signals were flying. The telephone employees (on their own) remained on hand. All during this time our radio station was broadcasting reports and news items. I heard that the schools and churches were open to those who desired their security. I heard that the army was prepared to receive overnight guests. In fact, not only our friends, the Marines, but also our local reserves were prepared. I saw several volunteer firemen who fortunately did not have to be called, but who were prepared to answer any signal.

For the most part everyone seemed too busy doing their part in preparation for what could have been a bad blow to get alarmed. I know that many items were accomplished that evening that could not meet the eye of just passing citizen, but, dear Editor, let me voice the appreciation of several who expressed the opinion that here was real, live, tangible cooperation that meant loss of sleep for some, but preparedness and security for all of us!

Thank you,
GEORGE B. HOLMES,
Rector St. Paul's
Episcopal Church.

Ryland Home Demonstration Club Plans To Sponsor Stool Bottoming Workshop

Ryland Club is planning to have a stool bottoming workshop within the next few weeks. Mrs. T. L. Ward, who attended Craft Camp this summer, will teach the women how to bottom stools using hong-kong grass. After the women in the Ryland Community learn the craft, they will help teach other county women.

Fourteen members of the Ryland Home Demonstration Club meet at the home of Mrs. T. L. Ward for their regular monthly meeting. Mrs. Lester Copeland announced that the club will serve the Ruritans in November.

Mrs. Eugene Jordan announced that the club had received $24 for the sale of foam rubber covers for coat hangers. This money will go into the building fund. Mrs. Carson Davis was put in charge of selling small lamps for the benefit of the club.

The club members decided to bring a piece of shrubbery with them to the October club meeting and exchange with each other. Adding shrubbery to the yard was one of their community progress projects.

The club made plans to decorate and make place cards for the husband's supper which will be held in the Wards Community Building on November 19.

Miss Catherine Aman, assistant home agent, gave the demonstration on "Color in Dress." Miss Aman discussed the many colors in the color wheel and discussed colors that the ladies could wear becomingly. She said, "You can wear all colors as long as they are in the right shade." Club members served as models trying on various colors to see which was more becoming in regards to complexion, color of hair, eyes, etc.

The hostess served an apple salad, cup cake, and iced tea during the social hour.
