A LIFT FOR TODAY

★ Now no chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous. —Hebrews 12:11.
IN THE time of trouble, let us remember that "all things work together for good to them that love God."
We thank Thee, Blessed Father, that Thou always givest joy to all who do Thy will.

New Herald Feature

The Chowan Herald is initiating a new service which it is hoped readers will find interesting and helpful. With this issue will be published a column to be known as "The Three P's" under the direction of a counselor of experience. In this column the counselor will attempt to answer and give advice on problems that come up in every day living.

The answers and advice will be the sole responsibility of the counselor and not necessarily the opinion of this newspaper.

We hope our readers will like it and submit questions in care of the editor.

Doctors Overworked

It will be of interest to Edenton and Chowan people the announcement that Edenton doctors, after October 12, will discontinue office hours at night.

This practice is in general keeping in all communities in this section of the state, where night office hours have long since been abandoned.

It is not the purpose of the doctors to create a hardship for their patients, but it is rather a move in the direction of their personal welfare. The work load for local doctors has increased to such an extent that it becomes necessary for them to consider their own health, and at the same time provide more time to spend with their families.

By discontinuing night office hours does not mean that the doctors will neglect their patients. They will always be available for emergencies of any kind at all hours, but those who call at the office at night will be obliged to make arrangements to call during the day. Doctors, like all other human beings, need a certain amount of rest and recreation, and it is in the interest of their health more than anything else that the new policy has been adopted.

Of course, the doctors hope their patients understand their position and that the change will not cause any undue hardships.

Terrific Fire Loss

With the observance of Fire Prevention Week in progress it is timely to remind readers that fire, always a constant threat, last year (1957) destroyed $152,000,000 in farm property alone. And accidents on the farm resulted in 3,100 deaths, a large number from fire.

Combustible substances like hay, straw and gasoline, plus heat-producing equipment—matches and smoking tobacco and sparks from machinery (not to mention the chance of lightning)—combine to increase the danger of fire on the farm. In addition, many farms are in isolated areas which fire-fighters cannot quickly reach.

Because of this, the National Board of Fire Underwriters advises that each phase of the farmers daily work should be done with the threat of fire in mind. The farmer should inspect his entire farm carefully for fire hazards. Cardinal safety rules is that heat, sparks or flames (actual or potential) and combustibles like hay, straw, gasoline or kerosene do not mix. Keep plenty of space between them.

Here are some suggestions offered by the National Board of Fire Underwriters:

1. A garden hose, if you have water under pressure. Keep it handy; have plenty of bib-type outlets where you can hook it up.
2. A back-packer pump. The tank holds five gallons of water and can be carried anywhere.
3. Your fruit-spraying equipment. It's mobile, carries plenty of water and throws a good spray.
4. A ladder, for reaching fires on roofs or for rescue purposes.
5. Fire pails and buckets. Keep them filled with water and hanging on hooks or brackets, one pail for each 400 or 500 square feet of building area. Cover pails to reduce evaporation.

It is very fitting to set aside a week to be observed as Fire Prevention Week, but like the late R. K. Hall, veteran Edenton fire chief, often said, "Make every week in the year Fire Prevention Week."

Heard & Seen By Buff

A group of stockholders of Edenton Industries met one night last week at the Peoples Bank & Trust Company. A number of them arrived at the bank promptly on time, but Dick Atkinson was detained and turned up late. While waiting one of the group said that if he could get in the bank he'd get enough money to finish financing the local fiberglass concern. "No you wouldn't," said another, "because you wouldn't know how to open the places where the cash is stored." But it remained for John Graham to say, "just put three boys under six years old in there and give 'em a hammer, screw driver and a wrench and I'll guarantee you they'll open anything they've got in the bank." And John might not be far wrong.

And incidentally, while meeting in the directors' room, one of the group said there should be red carpet on the floor. Asked why, he replied, "Because a fellow has to sweat blood sometimes to get a loan, so that the drops of blood would not be so noticeable on the floor."

A group of Edenton football fans went to Baltimore Saturday night to see the professional football game between the Chicago Bears and Baltimore Colts. They were thrilled with the playing of Bill George, brother of Nick George, who plays with the Bears, but despite Bill's outstanding performance, the Bears lost to the Colts.

It was a group of wiggling Rotarians at last week's Rotary meeting, when each one tried his hand (or rather his body) at trying to keep a hula hoop in motion. Jack Habit uncorked a rather unique program by dividing the club into two sides to determine the winner. Moving pictures were taken of the contest which should be a scream when they are shown at a later date. At any rate, only three Rotarians managed to keep the hoop swinging for any length of time, they being Jimmy Ricks, Frank Collins and Don Dalton. They in turn competed for the "championship" with Jimmy Ricks winning out. He received a prize from Jack Habit but I'm too modest to say what it was.

From the looks of things Monday night, just about everybody in Edenton except the police and firemen were at the football game in Elizabeth City and, as is usually the case, in this particular game, the Aces came home nursing another defeat at the hands of the Yellow Jackets. It wasn't that the Jackets were two touchdowns better than the Aces, but as has been the case on numerous occasions, the Aces just withered under pressure in their great desire to once more topple the Yellow Jackets. Fans were also treated to a fight among a couple of service men, but the cops turned up to break up the show. At any rate, it was a good football game with the two teams about evenly matched except that Elizabeth City was hanging on to two touchdowns and the Aces none. About all of the consolation we have is to say, "Wait until next year." The Edenton Band did itself proud at the game, joining with the big Elizabeth City Band to provide entertainment for the large number of spectators.

William E. Bond has taken over the duties as chairman of the County Commissioners, succeeding the late West Byrum, and he's going about his job like a veteran at the business. Monday was his first full day as chairman and despite a goodly amount of business, the work was disposed of with such dispatch that the Commissioners finished up before the noon hour.

At the Court House the room used for years and years by the Masons has been remodeled so that it now looks like a real office for Mrs. Evelyn Williams, county accountant. The steps in the room were ripped out and the room given a coat of paint, so that the various Masonic emblems painted at the top of the wall and ceiling by the late Paul Olson are a thing of the past. Mrs. Williams is now very proud of her office.

Miss Francis Harrold of Macon, Ga., can consider herself a very lucky person. Recently Miss Harrold made a trip to Williamsburg and vicinity and on her way home stopped over in Edenton, spending the night at the Eden Motel. When she reached Columbia, S. C., she missed an onyx ring set with diamonds, which she prizes very highly as a valuable heirloom. She telephoned Chief of Police George I. Dail to enlist his help in trying to find the lost ring, telling him that she stopped a number of times along the Great Dismal Swamp Canal to take pictures and also spent a night in Edenton. She said she lost the ring somewhere between Williamsburg and Columbia, S. C. Chief Dail went to the Eden Motel and inquired from Mrs. Shelton Moore if she saw anything of the ring.

Grand Prizes Given To Season Winners In Fishing Contest

Fish Biologist Refers To Edenton Gaining Title of Rockfish Capital of State

Arthur W. Dickson, fish biologist of the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission, speaking at a dinner last week for the grand prize winners of the Chamber of Commerce fishing contest, said that Edenton is fast gaining the title of "rockfish capital of the state." Dickson said more and more sports fishermen are going to Edenton for rock fishing.

Dickson was the principal speaker at the dinner which also honored representatives of the five business firms which donated the weekly as well as the grand prizes in the 14-week contest.

Grand award winners for the heaviest entries in five classes were Mrs. E. P. Kehayes, wife of Edenton's Mayor, for large mouth bass; Clyde Miller, Colerain, for rockfish; Hoskin S. Bass, Edenton, for white perch; eight-year-old Norman Perry, Jr., Colerain, for crappie, and Melvin Evans, Edenton, for bream.

Representing the participating firms were George Alma Byrum, Byrum Hardware Company; Watson Bell, Bell's Store; Scott Harrell, Edenton Marina; Ed Parker, Hughes-Parker Hardware Company, and Max Garland, Western Auto Store.

Mayor E. P. Kehayes praised the Chamber of Commerce and the business firms for sponsoring the contest and creating interest in local fishing. He said Edenton is fortunate to have natural resources which provide excellent recreation. The Mayor also said he was happy that the town and county are taking steps to improve the harbor by removing broken pilings and obstructions. He added that the project will greatly increase the use of local waters for recreation and bring added revenue to the community.

She searched everywhere and even looked in the vacuum cleaner to see if it might have been picked up. It was while Mrs. Moore and Chief Dail were talking about the ring when a colored boy heard 'em. "I found a ring in the yard," said the boy. "I thought it was a 5 and 10-cent store ring, so I didn't say anything about it." But the ring is worth at least $100 not to say anything about its value as an heirloom. The ring was sent to Miss Harrold, who in turn mailed the boy a reward of 10 bucks, so both Miss Harrold and the colored boy were very happy and Miss Harrold rightly considers herself very lucky.

Dickson said that sports fishing is a million dollar business in North Carolina. The State Wildlife Resources Commission was created to protect and develop the state's natural resources, both for recreational and commercial purposes. Dickson described several fish management projects which help both types of business and which are aimed at developing "less time between bites."

"Our regulations and limits are designed to safeguard these natural resources," stated Dickson.

The dinner was arranged by Scott Harrell, chairman of the Chamber's Tourist and Recreation Committee. Robert Evans, wildlife protector, also spoke. Chamber President Gilliam Wood presided and thanked all those who had contributed to a successful contest. He stated that the committee is planning another contest for next spring and fall.

New '59 Pontiac Ard Cadillac On Display

Chas. H. Jenkins Motor Company today (Thursday) put on display the new 1959 Pontiac which, according to A. E. Jenkins, manager, has broken all bonds of traditional styling and engineering. "We are confident that the public will hail the 1959 Pontiac as one of America's really new cars," says Mr. Jenkins. From every angle the car reflects ultra-modern design. Unprecedented styling innovations, resulting in a lower, wider car, give the 1959 Pontiac a dramatically new appearance.

Mr. Jenkins also has a new 1959 Cadillac on display in his showroom. This car, too, Mr. Jenkins says, features advanced engineering and design characteristics making it a dramatic new realm of motoring majesty. "It is the newest and most magnificent Cadillac car ever created," says Jenkins, who invites everybody to visit the showroom and inspect the new Cadillac and Pontiac.

Boy Scout Fund Drive Will Be Held Last Week In October

Sponsored by the Edenton Rotary Club, a Boy Scout fund-raising drive will be held the last week in October. Robert S. Marsh and Ferald James have been appointed co-chairmen of the drive, who point out that the need for funds is great. "Many boys in Edenton and Chowan County need to be and want to participate in Scouting, but cannot due to lack of funds," say the chairmen. They point out that this is a project which is 100 percent at the local and community level.

A kick-off luncheon is scheduled to be held Thursday, October 16, which is expected to be attended by all of the volunteer canvassers. "Give generously," urge the chairman, "to help a boy become a Scout and at the same time help your community."
