

Corn Referendum Scheduled To Be Held Tuesday, November 25

Chowan County corn growers themselves will help determine the corn program which will be in effect in 1959 and later years, according to C. W. Overman, farm agent.

On Tuesday, November 25, growers will vote in each of the state's 32 commercial corn counties. Chowan is one of the 32.

Mr. Overman urges every eligible farmer to take time to consider the issues involved and then to accept the responsibility of voting on November 25. Voters will have two choices:

1. Under the new program there would be no acreage allotments or designated commercial corn producing areas. All corn producers would be eligible for price supports without any restrictions on acreages. The level of price supports would be 90 per cent of the average corn price received by farmers during the three preceding years, or 65 per cent of parity, which ever is higher.

2. A continuance of the present program. Under this program acreage allotments and the designation of commercial corn counties would remain in effect. Price supports would be guaranteed within a range of 75 to 90 per cent of parity, depending upon the corn supply situation. Because of very heavy corn supplies, the allotment for 1959 would probably be about 33,000,000 acres, approximately 15 per cent lower than in 1958.

The November 25 corn referendum differs from most votes of its type in that farmers will have the say—a simple majority of all producers in the 1958 commercial area whose vote will determine which of the alternatives will be in effect in 1959. No two-thirds vote is required.

A farmers' meeting will be held at the Chowan Community Building tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 o'clock. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss provisions of the corn referendum and referendums to be held in December, Overman says.

Zackie Harrell State 4-H Peanut Winner

Zackie planted Jumbo Runner peanuts eight inches apart on three and one-half foot rows. He took a soil sample of his acre and found that the recommendations did not call for any lime or fertilizer on his peanuts. He applied 650 pounds of land plaster as recommended by the soil test report. The peanuts were dusted with sulphur to control the leaf spot disease.

Zackie is the third boy of his family to be a State 4-H winner. His oldest brother, Aubrey, was State 4-H peanut winner in 1948; incidentally, Zackie grew his acre of peanuts this year in the same field, and almost in the same acre in which Aubrey's were grown in 1948. Aubrey is now the assistant county agent in Bertie County. Sherwood, the other brother, was a team member of the 1955 State-winning vegetable production contest.

It is unusual for the same family to have more than one State 4-H winner, so the Gilbert Harrell family is to be congratulated for being so fortunate, and for having all of their sons to be State 4-H Club winners.

Zackie and his parents will attend the State 4-H Recognition Day at State College on November 28 at which time all State winners and their parents will be recognized. They will be accompanied by R. S. Marsh, assistant county agent.
