

The Roundup

By WILBORNE HARRELL

HARRELL

Here is a sobering thought: Most of us fought World War I, World War II and the Korean conflict from our armchairs, via newspapers and radios. But the next war will be a different story—the actual soil of the United States, our homes and towns and cities will feel the brutal and merciless fist of warfare. All the glamor, the romance and the glory of war will be trampled in the mud and blood and agony of battle, a grim reality will take the place of fantasy and story-book war. Make no mistake about it, YOU, Mr. Average Citizen, will be shot at or bombed and probably killed if war comes again. IT CAN HAPPEN HERE! It must not happen here!

STREET SCENE—Autoist blithely jogs through a red light, much to the confusion of a few other drivers. Many people are contemptuous of all traffic regulations; consider them devised to interfere with their personal driving freedom and as such should be ignored.

Chemic Reply
Telephony recently cropped up in a science course. The teacher asked, "Can anyone tell me what nitrates are?"

OBSERVATION—Christmas holiday preparations are starting earlier each season. If this keeps up Thanksgiving will be pushed into the background and lost in the shuffle. I think that is a pity; as much as we look forward to Christmas, don't forget that Thanksgiving is important, too.

THE OLD WEST—During blizzards and snow storms on the range, cattle drift with the wind. They turn their backs to the storm and often wander many miles before the storm blows over. The Indian name for cigar, when translated into English, meant, "The stick that smokes like a pipe."

ANOTHER OBSERVATION—I have noticed in various newspapers that "Homes" are advertised for rent. You can't rent a "Home"—you can only rent a house. A "Home" is something far different from a house. A "Home" is a process of growth—love, warmth, kindness and happiness must grow and abide there. When Edgar Guest wrote, "It takes A Heap of Livin' In A House To Call It Home" he clearly defined the real difference between "Home" and "House."

Chemist Reply
A long pause followed. Then one of the boys timidly raised his hand. "I'm not exactly sure," he said, "but I know they're cheaper than day rates."

STREET SCENE—Autoist blithely jogs through a red light, much to the confusion of a few other drivers. Many people are contemptuous of all traffic regulations; consider them devised to interfere with their personal driving freedom and as such should be ignored.

ANOTHER OBSERVATION—I have noticed in various newspapers that "Homes" are advertised for rent. You can't rent a "Home"—you can only rent a house. A "Home" is something far different from a house. A "Home" is a process of growth—love, warmth, kindness and happiness must grow and abide there. When Edgar Guest wrote, "It takes A Heap of Livin' In A House To Call It Home" he clearly defined the real difference between "Home" and "House."

You can't trust Russia.

Peanut Producers Urged Use Care In Harvesting Crop

Peanut picking will be an important activity for the next three or four weeks with the farmers in Northeastern North Carolina. This is a critical time in the harvesting of the crop and care and judgment should be exercised.

Following the experience of last year, it is most difficult for farmers to exercise the restraint required in waiting for the peanuts to get properly dry. Most farmers know from experience that one day's drying in the stack is equivalent to five or six days' drying in the bag. In many instances, one extra day left in the field will mean the difference in being able to sell the peanuts and not being able to sell them on account of high moisture.

It is also a fact that peanuts containing high moisture damage in the bag and may thereby affect the income from the crop. It behooves all producers to use best judgment and care and not put wet peanuts in the bag.

Again, it is felt that a reminder should be made of the fact that the Peanut Growers Cooperative Marketing Association is making available facilities in most every community where peanuts may be put under loan at support prices. It also should be pointed out here that those people who put peanuts under loan last year will receive an additional check within the next few weeks amounting to $5.00 or more per ton on last year's peanuts.

Every farmer should carefully survey the market facilities and place his peanuts in the market which will bring him the most money. Whether the peanuts are sold to commercial outlets or placed under loan will have no bearing on the acreage allotments for the 1959 crop, inasmuch as the acreage allotments for 1959 will be based on the national minimum acreage, which was the same as the allotments in 1958.

and H Savings Bonds, without regard to annual limitations of $10,000 (maturity value) for each series.

Proceeds of any unredeemed F and G bonds, which mature before that date, may also be applied toward the purchase of E and H bonds without regard to the annual limitation.

This new privilege is extended to include all trusts, corporations, groups and organizations, except commercial banks.

This broadened privilege was in response to requests from many investment groups which have not been able to purchase savings bonds since Series J and K bonds were withdrawn from sale on April 30, 1957.

Walter P. Johnson, State Director of the U. S. Savings Bonds Division, stated, "The Treasury hopes that the owners of maturing F and G bonds will find it to their advantage to reinvest in Series E and H Savings Bonds."

"In order to preserve the continuity of their investment, holders of the maturing bonds are urged to present them for reinvestment of the proceeds during the month in which maturity occurs."

MILK PRODUCTION UP

Milk production on North Carolina farms during October totaled 149 million pounds, according to the North Carolina Crop Reporting Service. Production for the month exceeds that for the same month a year ago by 5 million pounds, but is 9 million pounds below production during September.

dentists say "wonderful" ... "best I've ever used" ... "best tooth paste on the market"

What you do not want others to do to you, do not do to others. —Confucius.
What we have to learn to do, we learn by doing. —Aristotle.

OLD Glenmore
KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY • 86 PROOF

6 YEARS OLD

Glenmore Distilleries Co. "Where Perfection of Product is Tradition" Louisville, Kentucky

New Savings Bonds Regulations Will Go In Effect On Dec. 1

Proceeds of Bonds Can Be Used to Purchase E and H Bonds

Effective December 1, 1958, owners of Series F and G Savings Bonds may apply the proceeds of their bonds maturing on and after December 1, 1958, toward the purchase of Series E

SELL YOUR HOGS TO
M. D. BAKER HOG BUYING STATION
Tyner, N. C.
Open Daily — Monday thru Friday
FOR PROMPT AND COURTEOUS SERVICE AND HIGHEST PRICES PAID . . .
DIAL EDENTON 2311
SUNBURY 2090

"Wisdom of the Ages"

DANIEL WEBSTER

WE are of great service to those who like finesse without gross display and who wish for a dignity that is real.

Milliford Rmneral Home
110 W. ALBEMARLE ST. • 2518 • EDENTON, N. C.
24 HOUR AMBULANCE SERVICE

"THE PEOPLE'S BANK"
3% Interest Paid On Savings Accounts
(Compounded Semi-annually)

...and a SAVINGS ACCOUNT OF MY OWN

PEOPLES BANK and TRUST COMPANY
EDENTON, NORTH CAROLINA

MEMBER FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION
DEPOSITS INSURED TO $10,000

LISTEN TO PEOPLES PROFILE EACH MORNING AT 8:20 O'CLOCK OVER THE LOCAL RADIO STATION

PROFILE FOR WEEK ENDING NOVEMBER 10, 1958—W. H. HOLLOWELL, JR.

WINNERS

Mrs. W. E. Mills, $5.00.	Mrs. W. H. Saunders, Theatre Ticket.
Mrs. Ray Hollowell, Theatre Ticket.	Mrs. H. V. Bass, Theatre Ticket.
Charles E. Dobbins, Theatre Ticket.	Mrs. D. M. Carter, Theatre Ticket.
Mrs. Vivian Creighton, Theatre Ticket.	Mrs. Doris Lowe, Theatre Ticket.
Mrs. E. L. Belch, Theatre Ticket.	Mrs. Marguerite Burch, Theatre Ticket.
Mrs. E. W. Spires, Theatre Ticket.

We're putting the pyramids right back where they were!

Recently we have been testing a slightly different label on the Camel package. The experimental design changed the illustration and the wording a little. That's all. No change whatever was made in the famous Camel blend of choice Turkish and domestic tobaccos.

What we learned in the test is that Camel smokers prefer the original package, so we're putting the pyramids right back where they were, as quickly as we can do it. The test package is being discontinued, so you will soon be getting your Camels in the package you know so well.

We have always been proud of the loyalty of Camel smokers, and we thank you for helping us decide not to change the looks of the package that brings you the best-liked cigarette of them all! (Yes, we are happy to say that again this year, for the 10th straight year, Camel outsells all others!)

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company
Winston-Salem, North Carolina

CAMEL