A LIFT FOR TODAY

★ What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ? —Matthew 27:22.
HOW HAVE WE answered this, the paramount question of the ages? Have we, looking to The Cross, given the Saviour the supreme place in life, believing without wavering, that He will at last triumph on the earth?
O Lord, may we gladly bear the Cross of Christ, the divine mark of discipleship, with holy enthusiasm and spiritual courage and win victory for Him.

Hats Off To 'Em

Edenton's Aces on Friday night lost the Eastern Class A football championship to Southern Pines in a hard-fought game 7-6 in Goldsboro. Though defeated for the Eastern crown, the Aces have every reason to be admired and complimented by the host of fans who stood by them at home and abroad during the season.

While the Aces at times during the season displayed a little better brand of football than they did Friday night, they played an outstanding game and were defeated by a very good and wide-awake opponent who knew they were in a football game after it was all over.

Coaches Bill Billings and Johnny Morris, as well as the Aces themselves are to be commended for the showing made this season. At the beginning of the season the coaches didn't have much of a nucleus around which to build a strong machine. Most of the boys were inexperienced and the opinion was not infrequently given that the Aces this year would not have a chance to even win the Albemarle Conference Championship, with the opposition they were scheduled to encounter, much less go as far as to play for the Eastern Championship.

The boys have come a long way and have overcome their inexperience with a desire to play the game, so that some opponents, with the Aces as the underdog, were bowled over in spite of apparent odds. Few of this year's squad will be lost by graduation, so that with quite a few remaining, the prospects appear very good as to a strong team next year.

During the season, due to the nature of football, some boys were given a great deal of credit, which they justly deserved. However, on a football team there are those who play just as valuable a game but whose efforts too many times go unnoticed. The Herald, therefore, does not single out any particular player for the success of the 1958 season, but rather congratulates every member of the squad, as well as the coaches, for the fine showing made despite a very light and inexperienced team to start with.

Important Elections

December 15th is Referendum Day for many farmers in Eastern North Carolina in that they will be given an opportunity to vote on that day on the continuation of the peanut assessment, the continuation and increase in Tobacco Associates, on the tobacco quotas and on cotton quotas. This is a definite advantage to the growers in that the four referenda are combined and all of them can be voted on in one trip. The peanut assessment idea, whereby growers could vote to assess themselves and use the funds thus derived to promote the production, marketing and consumption of peanuts was first put into effect in Virginia at 1c per 100 pounds. Then in 1953, North Carolina voted in 1c per 100 pounds. Seeing the need for increased funds, the peanut growers in 1955 in North Carolina increased their assessment to 2c per 100 pounds. In 1957, Alabama, seeing the successes in North Carolina and Virginia, voted to assess themselves 5c per 100 pounds and then in 1958, Georgia, seeing the advantages, voted to assess themselves 5c per 100 pounds. Texas and Oklahoma are now in the process of getting legislation passed so that they, too, will be able to assess themselves and raise funds to promote their peanuts.

The fact that Georgia, Alabama, Texas and Oklahoma are coming in on the assessment basis, following North Carolina and Virginia, is certainly endorsement to the success of this program.

The peanut growers of North Carolina who are aware of the activities of the North Carolina Peanut Growers Association or who will study the activities of the association, will certainly feel that a continuation of the 2c per 100 pounds assessment is to their benefit. Detailed information of the activities of the association will be made available through press releases, radio, county agents, vocational agricultural teachers, and other agencies, to all farmers prior to the referendum. It is hoped that the peanut growers will turn out in large numbers and give strong support to a favorable vote on the peanut assessment. It is even more important now with the other states competitively promoting their type of peanuts with more money than is being raised in North Carolina that all support the assessment referendum in order that the North Carolina Peanut Growers Association can continue and expand its activities in promoting the North Carolina grown peanut.

Carrots For The Rabbits

Have you made your Christmas Seal contribution? One hundred of your neighbors have, according to Ralph Parrish, treasurer of the Chowan County Tuberculosis Association. Are you one of the 2,100 who haven't? Did you say to yourself, "They won't miss my small gift."

But your small gift is the whole point of the Christmas Seal Sale. It was founded on the principle that small contributions from the many, many people who want to see TB licked will do the job. The TB association people don't high-pressure their friends and neighbors into contributing. They don't solicit in stores and factories or ask for pay-

Heard & Seen By Buff

With Thanksgiving to be observed Thursday of this week, the Rev. Walter E. Isenhour of Taylorsville, N. C., sent me the following poem:

THANKSGIVING

For clouds that send their drops of rain
And give the little seeds their birth;
For fields that yield their crops of grain,
And skies that shine above the earth;
For mountains, valleys, plains and hills
That make the landscape grand to see;
For oceans, rivers, streams and rills,
O God, in thanks we look to Thee.

For birds that sing their cheerful songs
That greet us at the break of day;
For ev'ry heart of man that longs
To bless us all along life's way;
For food to eat and clothes to wear,
For friends and loved ones, homes and beds,
For health and strength and daily care,
O God, in thanks we bow our heads.

For our great privilege to live
Where schools and churches dot the land,
Where men their best to others give
In time and service that is grand;
Where Christians love and pray and sing
And add dear brothers to their rolls;
Where men to right and freedom cling,
O God, in thanks we lift our souls.

For Thy good Word and saving grace,
And for our glorious flag unfurled;
And for the right to fill our place
In this great nation of the world;
For Christ who came from heaven's throne
And died up the cruel tree,
That He might crown us as His own,
O God, we thank and worship Thee.

Here's one who was fortunate enough to attend the annual Home Demonstration Clubs' annual husbands' banquet held at Wards Community Building Wednesday night of last week. And all I can say is that there are some stumped-down good cooks in that neck of the woods. It was the farthest north in Chowan County that I have ever eaten a meal and, with no reflection on other meals I've had with home demonstration clubs, it was as good as any meal where I have stuck my legs under a table. It was fitting for a king.

And then the women had a pile of favors at each place so that it was almost necessary to have a small traveling bag to put 'em in. But sometimes the favors are wasted. Take for instance a comb which was at Winks Bond's place, a toothbrush at Raleigh Peele's place and a plastic purse at my place. Winks has no hair to tidy up, so the comb is of no use to him. Raleigh Peele has no teeth, so he needn't brush his teeth, and I have no money to put in the purse, so—well, what the heck, it was a fine banquet.

Just about the most popular question asked Thursday night and Friday morning was, "Are you going to Goldsboro Friday night?" I heard one good answer when I. E. Halsey, Jr., asked Jack Hardison the same question out at the Tasty-Freeze. Jack's reply was "Well, my car has wheels on it, hasn't it?"

And speaking about the football game, a large crowd of Edenton fans accompanied the Aces to Goldsboro. The band, too, was on hand, and presented a very outstanding performance at half time, for which they were generously applauded by friend and "foe." An interested spectator on the Edenton side was Congressman Herbert Bonner and when I spied him walking in I went to his seat, asking, "What are you doing in this neck of the woods?" Herbert, all diked out in a loud mackinaw, replied, "Why, I'm here trying to help Edenton win the Eastern championship." Well, we didn't win and if Friend Herbert didn't have any more influence in the Congress of the United States than he had on the Goldsboro football field Friday night, darned if I'd vote for him any more.

At this season of the year there are a number of campaigns in progress to raise money. I heard one colored man say to another on Monday morning, "We had a meeting Sunday to plan to raise some money and you weren't there." The other fellow hesitated a bit and replied, "You know one thing, I met with myself last night and found out that I don't have any money."

Just about out of gas and energy, too, in order to print The Herald a day earlier this week on account of Thanksgiving. Here's hoping all of us will find enough time Thursday to count some of our blessings and thank Him, who has been so good to us.

roll deductions. They don't ring doorbells or solicit by phone. They trust implicitly in a letter explaining why money is needed to fight TB, a letter that you receive and answer in private. In the more than half a century of the Christmas Seal Sale their faith has been rewarded annually. But you're still asking, "What difference will my few dollars make?" Here's one small example out of many. In a laboratory in Philadelphia rabbits are nibbling on carrots. These rabbits, which look like any other rabbits, have been bred for generations for one purpose to find out why some get sick when infected with TB germs and others do not. Some day this research may lead to a method of making us all resistant to tuberculosis. Christmas Seal funds help support this research. But if that support has to be withdrawn because there isn't enough money? If there aren't enough carrots to feed those rabbits? How about it? Send your contribution today.

Selfish individuals contribute very little toward a better world.

People who get tired easily seldom accomplish much worthwhile work.

Going to church is a habit that one should cultivate; there is little danger in it.

An honest man, after reviewing his own life, will be inclined to let youth chart its own course.

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

Washington—From what I have read about the general legislative program for the next Congress suggested by Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson there seems to be encouraging signs that overwhelming Democratic control of the State will continue to produce responsible legislation. This is not to say that there will not be squabbles with the Republican Administration in the White House or even smooth sailing among Democrats at all times.

Not Party-Line

I have not minimized the danger in which the South finds itself with respect to changing Senate Rule XXII. But that danger is not a party line affair. It mushrooms from the mistaken notion that much desirable legislation has been killed or long delayed by the use of unlimited debate in the Senate. Such is not the case. The device of unlimited debate is not a whim of so-called Southern conservatives. Historically speaking it has been used by minorities from other sections to carry on an educational process in the Senate against legislation which they considered harmful to the country. Unfortunately when Southerners pursue this same process they are charged immediately with a filibuster no matter how worthy or lofty the reason.

The civil rights debates in the last session of Congress were maintained on a high level. When the debates started few people in the country had taken time to study the proposals in the bills. As an example of this truth we can recall the uphill battle that had to be fought on the jury trial feature. Had Rule XXII not been in effect it is doubtful that this debate could have been had due to the highly emotional aspects of the proposition. In this debate the South had the support of many Democrats from outside our region. Therefore it can be said that the election of an overwhelmingly Democratic Senate will not necessarily change the atmosphere on matters like this any more than the election of modern Republican control in the Senate.

News About Clubs In Chowan County By MAIDRED MORRIS Home Demonstration Agent

The spirit of Thanksgiving sets the mood for festivity and gay celebration, centered on the traditional turkey dinner with all the fixings. It is the culmination of all the days of planning and preparation. The setting for the meal is a beautifully set table, sparkling bright with the choice appointments festive as the day.

Thanksgiving food shoppers have a lot to be thankful for. There's a good selection of different foods for Thanksgiving and retail prices are reasonable. But it will cost more to put a full scale holiday meal on the table than it did a few years ago, even with reasonable price tags on many of the foods.

Plan your holiday meals according to available time and money, plentiful and seasonal foods, holiday meals can be enjoyable without too much cost or work.

If you are having turkey for Thanksgiving or Christmas, choosing that bird is important.

In a turkey, look for:

1. Plump appearance, with a broad breast and short body.
2. Clean, waxy skin with few pinfeathers.
3. Well rounded thighs and a good meat coverage on the back.
4. Pliable keel bone.

 3. Birds with many pinfeathers.
- Food shoppers should check on prices, quality and value when buying the makings of the Thanksgiving Dinner. Put special emphasis on wise selection at the counter, proper care of the food until it is used, and the right preparation. They will make it possible to put on the table a meal that will fulfill all requirements of the Thanksgiving tradition and still not break the budget.
