A LIFT FOR TODAY

★ This man truly was the son of God. —Mark 15:39. WHEN WE COMMIT our lives to Christ and live on the high plane of His nobility, then we proclaim to the world, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God."

Almighty God, may we here in America honestly face the Saviour and respond to Him by dedicating ourselves to His service.

Not Too Late

It is to be regretted that the annual Christmas Seal Sale in Chowan County has apparently bogged down, so that contributions are far behind previous years, something to the tune of $750 less than last year.

One cannot but be impressed with the progress made in the fight against tuberculosis, which has been accomplished primarily as the result of research, followed up with health education and case finding. Much of this effort would not have been possible had it not been for the annual Christmas Seal Sale, for most of the money thus raised goes for this purpose as well as rehabilitation.

Though tuberculosis has been greatly reduced, Americans were obliged to pay approximately $725,000,000 last year, mostly in way of taxes, for TB patients in hospitals throughout the nation, so that the fight against the cripple isn't over and continued financial resources are needed to carry on the battle.

Quite a few Chowan County people have not yet made a contribution and it is believed the principal reason has been due to forgetting or overlooking the appeal. It isn't too late, so that contributions, large or small, will be gladly accepted by W. J. Taylor, Ralph Parrish or Mrs. Wesley Chesson.

Freedom First

"I love America, and I don't want to live anywhere else . . . I feel so many Americans don't appreciate it . . ."

These words were not from the lips of a person wanting to make over everybody and everything; they were spoken by a beautiful refugee Romanian girl. Her childhood record included starvation, floggings, three gun wounds while being used for target practice in prison camps including Dachau.

This girl and her family, including a brother in the Air Force, are not finding it easy to make a living in this country, but they put the right to be free ahead of everything else.

We should never forget or belittle the right every American has to be free. This freedom should not be forgotten when pressure groups, in or out of government, seek to submerge the individual under mass regimentation. Infringements on individual opportunity can destroy the America the Romanian girl loves. The right to work, the right to vote, the right to worship, the right to speak, are not just trick slogans—they mean liberty.

Those who violate the law should not object to the penalty.

The smart man knows what he doesn't know.

Heard & Seen By Buff

Last week I thought surely I was over being befuddled over the holidays but evidently I was not. In this column I had a paragraph about J. Clarence Leary, connecting him with the Chowan Storage Company. What I should have said was "Leary Bros. Storage Company." Clarence called my hand, so that I'm now sort of steering clear of Lloyd Bunch.

Edenton police have recently had a lot of complaints about damage done by boys with air rifles. In one instance about a dozen windows were broken, and no less than half dozen window screens damaged so that all must be replaced. The police are appealing to parents to check with children having air rifles and remind them that no firearms are permitted to be discharged within the city limits and that air rifles cannot be used off one's own premises. Further, there is a fine of as much as $50 for disregarding this law.

We had another spell of winter last Thursday when a two to three-inch snow was dumped down in this neck of the woods. With cold weather prevailing the previous snow had just about vanished and for a time it appeared as though we'd have a duplication of the first snow. Quite a few people said the snow was very pretty but that's about all that can be said for it. However, Old Sol has worked on the stubborn snow, so that at this writing no trace of it is left.

In one of our grocery stores the other day one of the checkers noticed a very attractive girl entering the store. She asked the boy packaging groceries to take a look at the pretty girl, but the boy replied, "I can't look, I'm going steady now."

It's no telling what a fellow will bring home when going hunting or fishing. I've heard of fellows going fishing and bringing home a duck or goose, and likewise some have gone hunting and brought home fish. But the word was going the rounds Wednesday morning that a local commercial fisherman found 61 ducks in his nets.

Red Men held a weiner roast Monday night, but some of the heavy eaters didn't show up for the feed. All of which caused Gus Bunch to say, while a stack of hot dogs was on the table, "Boys, I've eaten until I'm full, but I can't eat all of those hot dogs." After some of the fellows ate quite a few of the hot dogs, they had the nerve to say they had eaten supper before coming to the meeting. Well, if they hadn't, Friend Gus wouldn't have seen hot dogs going to waste.

It's a small world. Recently Arthur Charbonneau joined the crew at Ricks Laundry & Dry Cleaners and one day he dropped in at the Triangle Restaurant. He got into a conversation with Larry Dowd and it turned out that both young men were reared in the same town, Springfield, Mass. Despite the fact that they lived in the same neighborhood, they did not know each other until the meeting the other day.

Josiah Elliott the other day asked where I bought the cap I'm wearing which just about covers my head. Joe said he's going to buy one just like it because whenever he gets in and out of the Byrum Hardware Company truck he always knocks his hat off. Maybe that's the reason his hat's in the shape it is.

Edenton received a generous piece of publicity in the summer-fall edition of the Employment Security Commission Quarterly. Two full pages are devoted to Edenton on which are a number of pictures and activities of the Edenton Chamber of Commerce. Oh yes, the spread is enhanced with a picture of Harry Smith, executive vice president and while much of the reading material is about the Chamber of Commerce, Harry didn't write it. The story was written by Martha Jackson, secretary of the Public Information Office at E.S.C.

Letters To The Editor

ANSWERS THREE P's

Dear Editor: Last week's issue contained a column entitled Three P's in which the author attempts to solve personal problems. While the author is to be commended for his noble effort, the article contained some confused and misleading ideas that could be misunderstood. To clarify some of these statements further explanation by the author would be appreciated. For instance what is his source for stating that St. Francis of Assisi was later taken into the Church. Francis was taken into the Church by baptism at birth and given the name John in the year 1182. Therefore, he could not have been "outside the pale of the Church" and later "taken into the Church". Reliable history shows that Francis, as he came to be called, practiced the Catholic Faith devoutly from his earliest years. One of his visions occurred while he was attending the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. His primary concern as the number of his followers increased was to receive the approval of the Pope for the Rule of Life of his many followers. This approval was readily given by Popes Innocent III, Honorius III as well as the Fourth Lateran Council in 1215. Thus, having always been a faithful member of the Church and having obtained the approval of the Church for his way of life and there being no evidence that he was ever outside the "pale of the Church" it is impossible that he could ever have been received into the Church later in his life.

Also, for the author to compare Jesus Christ with Buddha, Mohammed, Confucius as great spiritual leaders and equally good and sufficient guides to Salvation borders on blasphemy since Jesus Christ is the only one who was Good. Christ, being God, had the authority to establish a teaching Church and He entrusted to it the means of Salvation. His Sacraments. He founded His Church with Peter as its Head and imposed on all men the obligation to hear and obey His Church. "He who hears you rejects Me, he who rejects Me rejects Him who sent Me.—Luke 10, 16. The platitude: "It doesn't make any difference what a man believes just as long as he lives rightly and keeps the golden rule" cannot be accepted in the light and teachings of the God Man Jesus Christ. Let us express this in a proverb: "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." Such indifference is wrong since it wipes out all difference between truth and error. There are fundamental differences in religious beliefs and from these differences flow far reaching consequences. For, if the Unitarian, for example, be right when he says Christ is only a man, then the Anglican, who believes He is God and so adores him becomes guilty of idolatry. By the same token, if the Anglican is right, then the Unitarian, who denies His Divinity, and refuses to worship Him as God, but treats Him as a mere man, becomes guilty of blasphemy. In other words, that all creeds are equally good really signifies that falsehood is as good as truth, and idolatry is as good as true worship.

Christ gave His Apostles the command to teach His exact doctrine and imposed on their hearers the obligation to accept all that was taught. "All power is given to me in Heaven and in earth. Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing men in the name of the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."—Matt. 28-18. And again, "He said unto them, go ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, but he that believeth not shall be damned."—Mark 16, 15.

Among other glib statements the author referred to religion today as big business. The reason for the remark was not clear and its meaning is obscure. If religion is big business is that good or bad? Might not Government, Education, Recreation, etc., also be called big business since they have large invested capital in buildings and involve a large number of people? It is interesting that the author recommended attending church if only for the spiritual atmosphere to be found there along with peace for your soul. Christ Who is God founded the Church and commands that we hear and obey through His Church. This includes membership, attendance and worship in the Church that He founded.
