

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

Washington — After nine days of debate the Senate late Saturday passed by a vote of 90 to 1 labor reform legislation, the so-called Kennedy-Ervin Bill. It now goes to the House of Representatives.

Last week I wrote that I would press for favorable action on an amendment to delete Title 6 from the bill, those parents dealing with Taft-Hartley Act changes. This course was not adopted by the Senate which resulted in the writing of Taft-Hartley changes on the floor of the Senate.

Forward Step

The bill as passed is a good one in most instances. Its first five titles, aimed chiefly at labor racketeering, plus the amendments made from the floor to all of the titles, constitute a step forward in plugging present loopholes in the law. This action will help outlaw labor racketeering as disclosed by the McClellan Committee on which I serve. It will not punish honest unions but corrupt unions and union officials can be severely punished by this legislation. Of course I would have liked for the bill to cover other urgent matters such as secondary boycotts as the bill was not confined to internal affairs of unions.

Jury Trial Adopted

In the final hour of debate the Senate adopted my amendment giving the right of trial by jury under certain cases. As I insisted during the so-called civil rights bill debate in 1957, the right of trial by jury is a precious right and I felt the same safeguard should be included in dealing with labor.

Next week in this column I shall go more into detail about the provisions of the bill.

Governor Hodges Emphasizes Importance Of Soil Stewardship

Governor Luther H. Hodges issued the following statement on Soil Stewardship on April 15, 1959:

"Once again the state and nation will pay tribute to its productive soil by observing Soil Stewardship Sunday and Soil Stewardship Week.

"This special week is sponsored in North Carolina by the State Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors to increase the public's knowledge of the importance of maintaining a fertile and productive soil.

"Productive soil is man's most priceless heritage and one of very few non-replaceable resources. Without it neither plants, animals or man could survive. We are dependent on it for food, clothing and many of the raw products of industry.

"The natural balance of nature's soil-building and conserving processes has been interrupted as man has used the axe, the plow and fire in his efforts to conserve them and at the same time produce abundantly. Working through the soil conservation districts, which include every acre in the 100 counties of the state, North Carolina farmers are moving steadily toward the kind of soil stewardship which provides security for both its people and its land."

The world is divided into people who do things and people who get the credit. Try, if you can, to belong to the first class. —Dwight Morrow.

SERMONS WITH A PUNCH—Rev. Mr. Harvey Kneisel, Baptist minister, makes a fighting point while preaching in Dallas, Tex. He makes his point in the ring, too, as he is an expert lightweight boxer. Purpose: to train for the rigors of a missionary trip to South America.

Negro Home Demonstration News

By MRS. ONNIE S. CHARLTON, County Negro Home Economics Agent

Our 220 home demonstration club members are among the nearly 7 million homemakers now taking part in home demonstration work and this week are observing National Home Demonstration Week. The theme is, "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World."

Just the other day one of our members said to me, "You know when I go to a person's home in my neighborhood I can usually tell whether the woman is a member of a home demonstration club. The members' children, homes and yards are usually cleaner and you can see the improvements in her house she's making from the lessons and demonstrations we get each month."

What is Home Demonstration work? It is an educational program in better homemaking planned by and for homemakers, and conducted cooperatively by the Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the State land-grant colleges, and county governments. Through it, families learn to apply the latest results of home economics research.

The "Quality of Family Living" is the major point of emphasis in today's overall home demonstration program. Special stress is placed upon the common concerns of the home—family relationships, food, clothing, shelter, and financial security. Also important are educational, social, cultural, and recreational opportunities which must be used to best advantage.

Generally, most women participating in the home demonstration program are trying to learn to live and work congenially with others in the family and in the community; to better manage personal resources of time, money, and energy to reach family goals; to choose from the market, food, clothing, house furnishings, household equipment and other things essential in attaining a satisfying way of life; to keep the household running smoothly and provide a comfortable, convenient and attractive home; to understand the relation of nutritious food, suitable clothing, and adequate housing to the health and well-being of each family member.

This year, family living programs include, among other services, assistance to families in planning and managing their resources, health, education, human relations, safety and consumer information on foods, clothing and equipment.

We in Chowan County have had Home Demonstration work since July, 1946. Clubs are organized to carry on the work in the following communities: Paradise Road, Hertford Road, Hudson Grove, Canaan Temple, Edenton, St. John, Ryans Grove, Virginia Fork, Triangle, Warren Grove, Green Hall, Center Hill-Cisco. Non-club members are reached by leaders, other members and home economics agent.

In the past twelve months our emphasis in Chowan County has been concentrated on these problem areas: Foods and Nutrition—Using milk, green and yellow vegetables in our meals. Food production and conservation—vegetable garden, strawberries, poultry and eggs. Housing—repair of home, steps, porches, chimneys, etc; good light in the home, clothing storage and window screens. Wise management of money and time. A happy family that works and plays together.

Beside our regular monthly work club members took part in these activities. Attended the Farmers and Homemakers Conference at A. and T. College; sponsored a county Poultry Day and community picnics; attended the District and State Home Demonstration Federation meetings. Sixty three club members earned Achievement Certificates during 1958.

In observance of National Home Demonstration Week, an exhibit on "Parade of Milk and Milk Products" is on display at the Shopwell Fashion Store, corner of Oakum and Church Streets. The exhibit was done by the Edenton Home Demonstration Club. Be sure to see it. During the month members of each club will visit non-members and encourage them to join the local HD Club. Each club is also sponsoring a spring garden tour and clean up campaign.
