both an absolute divorce and a limited divorce. If so, it is optional with her as to whether she will sue for an absolute divorce or a limited divorce. If she elects the latter, she usually requests permanent alimony for separate support.

In first obtaining a limited divorce, the wife invokes only a portion of the full measure of redress available to her. Her first choice of a limited divorce is not a bar to a subsequent suit for absolute divorce. The injured spouse merely retains unused the privilege of obtaining an absolute divorce and expresses a temporary willingness to live in a marital separation.

May a husband obtain an absolute divorce from a wife who has obtained against him a divorce from bed and board?

He may if he proves that he has a ground that constitutes a cause for absolute divorce. He is not barred merely because his wife has previously been successful in obtaining against him a divorce from bed and board.

This is the last of a spring series of articles that have appeared weekly during the past three months. They have been written for the non-lawyer as a public service of the North Carolina Bar Association. Another series will be started in the fall.

Potato Heads List Of Favorite Food

Of all the vegetables our food markets offer, the potato has long been the favorite. For the money spent on them, potatoes give a high return in food value.

Best quality potatoes are firm, smooth and well shaped. Miss Virginia Wilson, nutrition specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, says that potatoes should be free from cuts, blemishes and decay.

Avoid potatoes that show green color on some part of the surface because green portions have a bitter taste. For the least waste in paring, select potatoes that are regular in shape and have shallow eyes.

Most homemakers like medium-size potatoes best for general use. It's easy to estimate portions with potatoes of this size, and there is less waste in paring.

Store potatoes in a cool, dark place for best keeping and cooking quality.

FHA Funds Available For Watershed Work

Watershed improvement districts lacking sufficient funds to get their programs underway, and unable to borrow from other established sources, may qualify for Farmers Home Administration loans.

Funds will be available for any legitimate purpose — other than recreation or maintenance. Under national legislation, coupled with recent action by the North Carolina General Assembly, Tar Heel watershed improvement districts are eligible to use federal appropriations in the construction of small dams and clearance of stream channels.

According to Bryce Younts, administrative officer, N. C. State Soil Conservation Committee, hundreds of small dams forming lakes from five to 25 acres are likely to be built in North Carolina during the next decade.

Younts declared the small watershed program "is a big step toward solving North Carolina's flood problem in key areas."

Drainage districts throughout Eastern North Carolina, which will also receive federal appropriations for flood control, will be able to borrow FHA funds too—with the same limitation as watershed improvement districts.

The small watershed program in North Carolina is moving forward at a rapid clip, declared Younts. Contracts for the first dam to be built under the program are expected to be let in the near future. They call for a medium-sized dam on Deep Creek in Yadkin County.

Contracts for clearing the channel of Polley Ditch in Gates County will also be let in the near future, said Younts.

Swine Prices Expected To Reach Peak In July

Try to top market hogs by July 15.

That's the advice from J. R. Woodard, animal husbandry specialist at N. C. State College.

If prices follow their normal trend, Woodard says hog prices should be near their seasonal peak by July 15. Prices are then expected to trend downward and will probably be weak throughout the rest of 1959 and most of 1960.

Farmers might want to consider selling pigs farrowed from now through summer as feeder pigs, Woodard said. He also said that now is a good time to cull old, heavy sows; and gilts that do not produce large litters of thrifty pigs.

Dalapon Kills Bermuda Grass

It's time for farmers who plan to use dalapon to kill Bermuda and Johnson Grass to get moving.

Timeliness is important in using any weed-killer, says W. G.

Westmoreland, weed control specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service. Dalapon, which is sold under the trade name "Dowpan," should be applied while the grass is growing vigorously but before it seeds. Now, is a good time to use it in problem areas, Westmoreland said. The chemical is not as selective as some herbicides and it should not be put on plants unless a kill is desired.

Most county agricultural agents have demonstrations under way showing the correct way to use dalapon. The agents, or dealers, can provide information on its most effective use.
