

Funeral Held For Victim Of Murder

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Louise Snow, 36, were held at Beilard's Bridge Baptist Church Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The pastor, the Rev. Lamar Sennell, officiated and burial was in the churchyard.

Mrs. Snow was a native of Chowan County but lived in Norfolk 13 years. She was employed at the Naval Operating Base at Norfolk as an IDM operator for six months. Surviving are her mother, Mrs. Nellie Easton of Tyner and her stepfather, Dowe Davidson; two sons, Graham W. Snow and Mack Snow; a daughter, Sharon Louise Snow, and a sister, Mrs. Marvin Bunch of Suffolk.

Mrs. Snow was shot to death by her husband, Walton W. Snow, with a 12-gauge shotgun. He then turned the gun and killed himself. The murder-suicide occurred in the Snow home in Norview as the couple's three children sat in an adjoining room. The daughter notified a telephone operator, who in turn called the police. Police found the couple dead in a pool of blood when they arrived at the home.

Funeral services for Mr. Snow were held Tuesday afternoon at the Hebron Methodist Church at Powell's Point with burial in the church cemetery.

Health For All

Making The Bathroom People-Proof

Friend of ours is going around these days looking as though he went ten rounds with the champ. Fact is, he lost a bout with the bathtub. Slipped getting out, cracked his chin on the edge, cut his forehead on the faucet and chipped his elbow on the wall. We've sent him a rubber mat for the bottom of his bathtub as a "get well" present.

That bathroom certainly can be a dangerous place. Falls in the tub or shower are the most common hazard. In addition to a rubber mat, a solid handhold set in the wall at a height convenient for grabbing can prevent a tumble in the shower or help you stand up safely in the tub. Keep the soap in sight, though. Not even a rubber mat can save you if you should put your foot down on the soap.

The medicine cabinet offers its own perils. Please, always open your eyes and put the light on before helping yourself to anything from the cabinet. Don't put pills or liquids in unlabeled bottles or switch them from their own bottles to others. And do hang that cabinet way out of the reach of children, remembering that the little ones know all about climbing on chairs to get at things. Thousands of children are poisoned every year as a result of eating aspirins, laxatives, and other tasty items.

When using any medicine, it is a good idea to follow the hospital nurse's rule: look at the label when you take the bottle out, again when you remove the pill or pour the liquid, a third time when you replace the bottle. Then administer the dose. That way, you're less likely to make any mistakes.

Many bathroom mishaps result in no more than a few lively bruises. But it's worth taking the trouble to people-proof your bathroom, just to avoid the one accident which may have tragic consequences.

bility. He finds that it does and a time is set for the harvest. The county agent arranges for the committee. The committee measures the field or portion of the field to be checked. The field is harvested. The committee supervises the weighing and signs the form. The form is sent to the respective state committee for approval.

"This may appear to be a lot of trouble," says County Agent C. W. Overman, "but it isn't. The grower can notify the agent by telephone. It takes only a few minutes to make the preliminary check. Harvesting is hindered very little."

"Last week, McCoy Spivey informed me that last fall he had some peanuts which yielded about 4,300 pounds per acre. A field certification would have placed him in the 'Two-ton Peanut Club'. It was too late after he had harvested the peanuts. Another grower told me of making a little over two bales of cotton per acre. There have been several others with club record yields.

"In North Carolina we have a 'Two-ton Peanut Club', a '300 Bushel Sweet Potato Club', a 'Two-bale Cotton Club' and a '100 Bushel Corn Club'. I hope our growers will try for these attainments."

Preparing Food

Dorothy Dix once wrote that only one man in sixty had a breakfast sufficient to give him the necessary strength for efficient work until noon, and only one woman in two hundred had sufficient breakfast.

The housewives have rebelled against preparing food for the family. They have turned to canned goods, frozen goods, something which they can prepare in just a few minutes with a can opener or just a little heat.

One of the main food preparations in the home has become the sandwich. A couple of slices of bread with a sliced banana or tomato in between and a slap dab of mayonnaise and that ends the food preparation. We wonder if the shirking of food preparation is not an invitation to doctor and hospital bills.

It may be that the necessary vitamins may be stored in grass and weeds but if they are it is necessary to put them through the necessary process before they can be assimilated by the human body. Ordinarily hay may be all right for cows, horses and sheep but if they should throw a bale of hay on the table and tell me to help myself I would soon change boarding places.

Much goes into preparing the food for a family. To make a happy contented home the family must be well fed. Much love is lost and many homes break up around the dining table. If a woman expects to be a successful wife and mother it is more important to know how to prepare food than to know how to dance, play bridge or pass in society.

Credit For Crops Must Be Certified

Official credit for high crop yields must be certified. A county certification committee usually consists of a county agent, another agricultural worker to certify the land measurement, and a farmer. The county agent has the certification forms.

Before any harvesting is started in the field to be checked, the farmer must notify the county agent. The county agent visits the field with the grower and makes a preliminary check to see if the yield has a possi-
