

L. C. Bunch Again Elected As Chowan District Supervisor

L. C. Bunch was elected to another three-year term as district supervisor from Chowan County to the Albemarle Soil Conservation District board of supervisors.

Mr. Bunch has served as a district supervisor since 1947, when the district was organized. He has served as chairman of the five-county district since 1947. Albemarle Soil Conservation District is composed of Currituck, Camden, Pasquotank, Perquimans and Chowan counties. Each county is represented by three publicly elected district supervisors. Their duties are to represent their county in matters concerning soil and water conservation.

Technical services are furnished to soil conservation districts from the United States Department of Agriculture through the Soil Conservation Service. State and county agricultural agencies furnish services to the district, too.

District supervisors receive no pay for their services. The state furnishes expenses up to $49 for district supervisors to attend four meetings per year and the state meeting.

Can gold calm passion, or make reason shine?
Can we dig peace, or wisdom, from the mine?
To make our fortune than our happiness. —Young.

WE BOTH NEED THEM

"Every citizen who enjoys the protection of a free government owes not only a portion of his property but even of his personal services to the defense of it." —GEORGE WASHINGTON

The above is a quotation of George Washington, our Country's greatest National Guard soldier. The principle he stated is an immortal principle. Men have lived by it. Men have died for it. This principle is the foundation stone and the bed rock of the National Guard, the oldest by far of the components of the defense team of the United States. Men who believed in this principle fought with their units in the French and Indian Wars. They fought in the Revolution; the War of 1812, the Seminole Wars in Florida, the Black Hawk War of 1832, the War with Mexico, the War between the States, the Spanish-American War, the Mexican Board, World War I, World War II and Korea.

The farmer, the shop keeper, the laborer, the professional man, the clerk, citizen soldiers all, fought shoulder to shoulder with the professional soldiers against the best the enemy had to offer, and they never lost a war. The National Guard is justly proud of its heritage and its history and looks forward to its future with confidence. Its members are in the first line of America's defense team carrying on its great tradition shoulder to shoulder with the best men in their home towns, and in their country.

MILITARY OBLIGATION

Most men seventeen or older are faced with a Military Obligation, and if you are able bodied and mentally qualified you can be reasonably sure that you will perform some type of military service. Under the present law you are subject to being drafted until you become 35 years of age. Should you be drafted it would be for a period of two years. The National Guard has an excellent program that will see a man through his military requirements and under conditions that will be the least likely to interfere with his normal civilian life.

If you are between 17 and 18½ years of age you can join your local National Guard unit now and arrange to take 6 months of active duty training at a regular Army training center. One not in high school can delay his departure for as long as 120 days after he joins the Guard, while one still in high school may delay his departure a full year. Upon completion of this training you will return home to complete your Ready Reserve service by attending weekly training drills at your home Guard unit and two weeks of summer training each year. You can still attend school and keep your job while training with the Guard.

Financial security can be yours in the National Guard in much the same way as if you were a member of the Regular Army or other military service; and the Guard also offers a retirement plan at age 60. "Come on out and have a talk with us," says Chief Warrant Officer John H. Asbell.

Draft Board Office Closed For 12 Days During Holidays

William S. Elliott, Sr., chairman of the Chowan County Selective Service System, announces that Local Board No. 21 will be closed on December 22 until January 4, 1960, for the holidays.

Mr. Elliott states, "All men of Chowan County who are required to register or report at this board during this period are excused from doing so until January 4. Should there be any other business to be transacted during this period, please contact the clerk at the address posted on the office door."

FOR SALE OR RENT

Disposal of valuable commercial or residential building at 427 South Broad Street will be made on or about January 1. This building has been in my possession since September 1, 1946. It has paid expense of purchase and investment since date of purchase and at present rental rate would continue to pay expense of ownership until present contract of purchase would end August 1, 1966. Since purchase of this property in 1946 tax value on this building has increased to a listed value of 2½ times tax listed value at purchase in 1946. I will consider rental at present rental of last lessee or at purchase of listed value on tax books in 1957. All replies are to be made personal or by letter to Walter H. Bond, 303 Court Street, Edenton, N. C.
