

SENATOR JORDAN

REPORTS

From WASHINGTON

I have just returned to Washington for the opening of the new session of Congress, and I feel that I should give you my ideas about some of the issues that will be brought up for action during the coming months.

Probably more than at any other time in history, all of us are pre-occupied, and rightly so, with the continuing efforts being made to preserve world peace.

There is a definite trend to put our foreign relations on a person-to-person basis. More and more, world leaders are sitting down face-to-face in their efforts to reach reasonable solutions to critical problems. I think this is good. We are learning that we cannot buy friends and allies by merely increasing foreign aid grants. It is clear that we must establish more direct contacts with the peoples of the world, not just governments. I have long agreed with the idea that we could greatly improve our foreign relations by establishing a special school for the representatives we send to foreign nations—a kind of West Point for diplomats.

While world problems take a great deal of our energy, time, and money, we cannot hope to solve them without keeping our own economy strong. I am deeply concerned about the waste and extravagance still apparent in many government agencies, and I shall continue to work not only to balance the budget but to begin making payments on our national debt. I feel that definite savings can be made through more effective disposal of our surplus farm commodities, thereby reducing staggering storage costs. Savings can also be made by eliminating much of the overlapping in our missile program and by Congress exercising closer control over foreign aid expenditures.

Prolonged strikes and threats of strikes in our basic industries are a most serious matter. The recent steel strike was extremely costly to our entire economy, and I am fearful that the settlement reached will touch off another round of inflation.

Last year Congress passed a reasonably good labor reform law in spite of Jimmy Hoffa. Mr. Hoffa has said that he and his cohorts will make every effort to defeat the Senators and Congressmen who voted for the labor reform bill. I voted for the labor reform bill, and I shall continue to vote to curb the power of Mr. Hoffa or anyone else who undertakes to defy the Government or the best interests of the people. The repeated threats of Mr. Hoffa have not scared me in the past and they will not scare me in the future.

We have some very serious problems in regard to our farm economy. It will be most difficult to reach reasonable solutions as long as Secretary Benson holds office. Mr. Benson persists in his belief that unlimited production and lower price supports—often below production costs—are the answer. The tobacco program has proven that he is wrong. I am hopeful that some way can be found to stabilize tobacco prices, which would enable farmers to recapture many foreign markets and at the same time bring hope for an increase in acreage allotments next year. Work is already under way to make badly needed adjustments in the laws affecting cotton in order to avoid the chaos that existed in the administration of the program last year.

Another matter in which I am deeply interested is water conservation. Work is beginning on the Wilkesboro Reservoir and the deepening of the Morehead City harbor and channel. Studies are continuing on the Cape Fear and Neuse River basins. These studies are progressing, but too slowly. The Corps of Engineers and the Soil Conservation Service have been working on the Cape Fear survey for several years, but as yet no report has been made. I think Congress should step in and insist on early completion of these surveys.

I am sure many other vital issues will come before Congress. It is impossible to mention all of them here, but they will include civil rights, Social Security, minimum wages, and education, to name only a few. I sincerely hope that when matters in which you are interested are considered by Congress, you will make a point of giving me the benefit of your thinking concerning them.

Linwood L. Radford Promoted In Navy

On December 16, Linwood L. Radford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Radford of Edenton, was busy sewing on his "crow," as the Navy's eagle rating badge is affectionately called.

On that date the Navy Department announced Radford's promotion to Interior Communications Electrician Third Class. The promotion followed successful completion of Navy-wide petty officer examinations conducted last August.

Radford enlisted in the Navy in May, 1958. He is presently touring the Far East aboard the heavy cruiser U.S.S. Bremerton (CAA-130).

our love for Christ and our commitment to him, not because such obedience will save us. Many American Christians have been victims of the idea that if they were only "good" enough, God would have to save them. By "good" they have often meant refraining from any gross outward sins such as those which get into the newspapers. Or sometimes certain sects refrain from dancing or certain habits because of their interpretation of "goodness." Seldom have they meant the sins of pride or self-righteousness.

While the moral practices which the church encourages are very important and desirable, we must never fall for the idea that we are saved by these. Our moral living is the result of our faith, and not a substitute for it. If we depend upon obedience to the law to save us, we would be no better than the Pharisees, who would let an injured man die rather than break the law against working on the Sabbath. As Jesus pointed out (Mark 2:23-3:6), the Pharisees were destroying the spirit of the law by insisting upon the letter.

Many Christians do the same thing. This is especially true when form or ceremony becomes a legalism. Baptism is a spiritual sacrament for which water is an outward symbol. This water is applied in different ways, by different faiths. The trend today is to give the one to be baptized a choice of which way he wants to be baptized—sprinkling, total immersion, or what have you. This is a recognition of the fact that no one form is "right" to the exclusion of all others.

Some insist on certain forms in the communion service. Some receive communion while kneeling; others receive it seated; still others, standing. To Jesus and Paul and Peter it would have made no difference. Each way is equally valid if the spirit of the participants is right. Legalism comes in when someone insists his way, and only his way, is the true form.

Legalism, regardless of form, fosters pride and self-righteousness. Legalism fosters division and bitterness. Diversity in Christian practice and organization is not necessarily evil. It is only so when diversity leads to legalism and this, in turn, leads to division that evil comes.

We must watch our tendencies toward legalism, because it stresses side issues instead of the majestic essentials of Christian experience. Such an approach often puts organization above the needs of God's people. We must keep bright and clear in our thinking the picture of Christ, who lashed out against neglecting "the weightier matters of the law, justice and mercy and faith." (See Matthew 23)

Minutes Of County Board Of Education

The Chowan County Board of Education held its meeting January 4, 1960, at 10:00 A. M. The following members were present: Mrs. Mary D. Nixon, Chairman, Mrs. F. A. White, Garland Asbell, Eugene Jordan, Marvin Evans and Sherlon C. Layton.

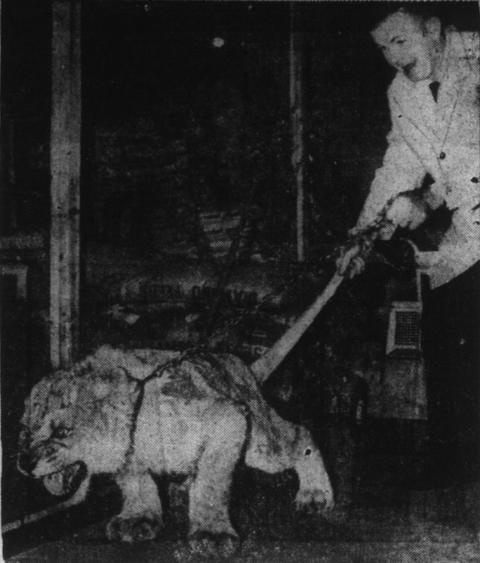

The meeting was called to order by the chairman with prayer, after which the minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted by motion made and passed.

The bills paid since last meeting were read, and approved by a motion made by Mr. Evans, seconded by Mrs. Ward and unanimously carried.

The reports of the County Treasurer and the Local School Fund Treasurer were presented, and same approved by a motion made by Mr. Jordan, seconded by Mr. Layton and unanimously carried.

The superintendent presented the report of the District Sanitarian on Chowan High School and White Oak Consolidated School. The Sanitarian suggested that proper size steam tables be installed in both school lunchrooms in order to meet health standards, also two thermometers and repairs to outside screen door were needed. The superintendent reported that the thermometers and the screen door had been attended to. He suggested, due to the lack of funds at present, that the steam tables be provided for in the 1960-61 budget. The suggestion was met with a motion by Mrs. Ward, and duly passed, that the steam tables be provided from funds of the next budget.

The resignation of the French and English teacher in Chowan High School effective the latter part of January was discussed. The superintendent advised that information on two applicants was being gathered for the District Committee's consideration. Mrs. Nixon stated that the Chowan PTA had appointed Mrs. DuBois, chairman of a committee to investigate the possibility of having a school band for Chowan High School. The cost of

The new economy size is the Ford Falcon—America's lowest-priced 6-passenger car. It's up to $124 less than other 6-passenger cars in the compact field. It goes up to 30 miles on a gallon of regular gas. Servicing is easy and repair costs are low. You can even save up to 15% on your insurance.

And the Falcon is the one American compact car that is thoroughly proved for American driving. There's room for 6 people—luggage and all.
