Hardin Speaker At Lions Meeting

Dr. Richard Hardin presented a film and a brief talk at the Edenton Lions Club at its meeting Monday evening, April 14. The film showed the technique now favored for reviving victims of suffocation. This technique, which has been thoroughly tested under medical laboratory techniques, consists of breathing into the victim's mouth by direct mouth-to-mouth contact or by the use of various apparatus for this purpose. This method is superior to the old method of pressing on the sides with hands since the old method does not do anything to unblock the throat when the tongue is acting as an obstruction. Often the old method forced too much air into lungs and damaged them. The new method of breathing into a victim's mouth has proved successful in reviving victims of drowning, electrocution, gas victims, and even those rendered unconscious by serious accidents.

According to Dr. Hardin's explanation and as pictured in the film, the rescuer holds the victim's head tilted backward, pinches the nostrils and breathes air into the victim's mouth, letting the air escape, and continues the operation at the rate of about 12 breaths per minute until the victim begins breathing independently.

American Ministers Visit Bible Lands

A group of 13 Americans from Louisiana returned recently from a month-long trip to the Middle East where they were guests of three Arab governments.

The group was composed of seven Baptist ministers and wives, a doctor on the faculty of the Louisiana State University Medical School, a woman active in church affairs, and a woman school teacher.

Their tour through the Arab states took them from Cairo to Beirut, Baalbek, Damascus, Amman, Jericho, and Jerusalem. In Cairo they were received by Secretary-General Abdul Khalek Hassouna of the League of Arab States and Arab Christian and Muslim religious leaders. In Lebanon the group had an audience with President Foad Shehab and with the Maronite Patriarch Meouchie.

Jordan's King Hussein welcomed them in Amman, and in Jerusalem the group toured the historical sites of the Holy Land. In all the countries, members of the group held discussions with civic and educational leaders. The doctor was especially interested in public health education and facilities in the Arab countries, and the teacher studied public education methods. The upper picture shows the group during a conference in Cairo with Ambassador Abdul Khalek Hassouna, Secretary-

General of the League of Arab States. The lower picture shows two of the American ministers chatting with representatives of the different Islamic and Christian religious groups in the Gaza strip.

Mrs. Inglis Fletcher Speaker For DAR night, marooned the 205 members and delegates in the Hotel Robert E. Lee for over 24 hours, and the question asked hundreds of times was "how are we going to get home?"

Novelist Inglis Fletcher of Bandon Plantation, Edenton, and member of the Edenton Tea Party Chapter, addressed the Society at their banquet on the night of March 8. Mrs. Fletcher injected wit and humor in her address on "Adventures in Writing." "Welcome to Squaw Valley! If we had a Renault-Dolphin we might be able to go home," was the greeting Mrs. Fletcher gave the DAR as she began her talk, with an obvious reference to the snow falling outside.

Mrs. Fletcher, the author of 13 historical novels, discussed her work as a writer.

"It's simple," she said, "it takes perseverance, hard work and a desire."

"Most anyone can write a novel," she said, "if he has the desire to write and the willingness to write. It just takes a little bit of industry."

Mrs. Fletcher discussed the colonization attempts on Roanoke Island. These attempts by Sir Richard Grenville (a cousin of Sir Walter Raleigh) were the first in the New World, she said.

"North Carolinians should be proud of this historical fact," she said, and added that she mentions the colonization of Roanoke Island every time she makes a speech because "so few people in North Carolina are aware that America's beginning was on our own coast."

Mrs. Fletcher was most enthusiastically received by the Society, who felt most fortunate in being able to secure her as a speaker for the occasion.

Mrs. John A. Krames, Regent of the Edenton Tea Party Chapter, and Mrs. W. I. Hart, were delegates from the local chapter who accompanied Mrs. Fletcher to the conference. The Edenton ladies reported they had had numerous inquiries from the other delegates throughout the state as to the date of the next Pilgrimage of Colonial Edenton and Countyside.
