OUR GLORY

There she flies! Whipping in the breeze, Old Glory — our strength, our heart, pride; A bit of US on all the seas, America flung far and wide.

Within whose stripes runs courage red, The all of US that's tried and true; For this, up there, we've died and bled, Our flag—a bit of me, of you.

Old-fashioned patriotism is a thing of the past. Oh, sure, we love our country, will fight for her, die for her, if need be. But unashamed, uninhibited, emotionally-expressed Americanism is rare today. We take Old Glory too much for granted; we take our way of life too much for granted, unheeding and little realizing that pre-occupancy and complacency can take that from us and drag Old Glory in the dust—if we don't wake up and understand that the flag is something more than a prop with which to celebrate the Fourth of July.

This fellow told the other, who had been griping about the South: "If you don't like the South, the same bus that brought you here can carry you back."

In my book, loyalty is a cardinal virtue. A man's loyalty to one's country, his friends his associates and to his better self. And high on my list is loyalty to one's place of birth—his town, his city, or whatever spot on this earth where he was born, or adopted as home, spent his childhood, made his first friends, found his first job, met his first girl. And where, more than any other period of his life, stored up memories to brighten and enrich his later life. If you have not loyalty, you are as the Bible says, but tinkling brass and sounding cymbals—and you'd just as well take the bus to somewhere else.

THE WEST—John Chapman, one of the earliest, if not the first, train robbers, was a man of seemingly sterling character, a Sunday School teacher and superintendent. Which goes to show that temptation can get under any man's skin, and you never can tell what goes on inside a man's mind.

No compromise with communism!

farming this valuable crop. The Tobacco Field Day At The Greenville Research Station is being held on Wednesday of next week, July 6. There will be two identical programs: one beginning at 9:00 o'clock A. M., and another at 2:00 o'clock P. M. We have scheduled Chowan tobacco growers to attend the morning program. If you don't have a carload, meet us at the Edenton Post Office at 7:15 and we can arrange to travel together.

Features of the program will be: Old and New Varieties; Disease Recognition and Control; Variety Development; Recovery After Hail Damage; Fertilizer Placement; Care of Spraying and Dusting Equipment.

The Cotton Insect Situation indicates that we better get busy dusting. Harry and I made a survey of 12 cotton fields scattered over the county last Tuesday and Wednesday.

The punctured square count ranged from one percent to 23 percent, averaging nine percent. Four of the fields had over 15 percent punctures. Last week, we mailed you information on insect control. Make at least five applications at five to seven day intervals. Don't wait because of weather unless it is raining, dust when your scheduled time comes.

FIRST BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Sandra Carol Farless, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Farless, celebrated her first birthday June 21, with several of her little friends attending her party. Those attending were: Brenda Spruill, Linda Estes, Jane Bass, Linda Berryman, Dot Griffin, John Holland, Linda and Donna Toppin, John and Tom Mitzke. Refreshments were enjoyed by all.

New Pension Law In Effect July 1st

New Law Affects Widows and Orphans Of Veterans

July 1 is an important date for the widows and orphans of World War II and Korea veterans, the Veterans Administration announces. On that date the new Pension Law goes into effect and widows and orphans of World War II and Korea veterans for the first time become eligible for VA pensions on the same terms as the dependents of World War I veterans.

Starting with July 1 the widows and orphans of veterans of World War II and Korean service and of World War I are eligible for pensions if the veteran was in active military service for 90 days or more, part of it during wartime, and was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable.

Certain limitations of income also apply. But, VA said, it will no longer be required after July that the veteran had a service-connected disability at the time of his death.

Under the new Pension Law, if the widow has a minor child and her income is no more than $1,000 annually, she is entitled to receive $75 per month. If her income is between $1,000 and $2,000 annually, she may get $60 monthly. If the income is between $2,000 and $3,000, she may get $40.

VA said if a widow has more than one child, the monthly payment may be increased by $15 for each additional child. But if her income totals more than $3,000 annually, she will not be eligible for pension.

VA recommended that widows of World War II and Korea veterans who may be eligible get in touch with the nearest VA office to make inquiry as soon as possible.

bill may be cited as an example of the pressure on Congress. Having been before the Senate Committee for nearly two years, the bill was reported in the middle of last week. The Senate was expected to complete action on this far-reaching legislation in only a day or two of debate. This is not adequate time to explore legislation of this character inasmuch as other equally significant bills were piling up for action. I have always felt that very little meritorious legislation has ever languished due to orderly procedure. Much bad legislation has been killed by thorough debate under unburied circumstances.

Strange Words From A Deacon A minister told his flock that he had a "call" to go to another church. One of the deacons asked how much more he was offered. "Three hundred dollars," was the reply.

"Well, I don't blame you for going," remarked the deacon, "but you should be more exact in your language, parson. That isn't a 'call,' that's a raise!"

Washington — The strain of long hours and night sessions during the final days of a Congressional session demonstrates the folly of attempting to legislate on great national issues at such a time.

Why The Hurry? — Mounting pressures from interested groups lead to considerable emotionalism on many issues, thus removing a calm atmosphere conducive to wise action on legislation. As a consequence, it is not easy to get issues of this character in true perspective. There are those who appear to believe that the wisdom of the ages resides in the present and that time-tested verities should be cast aside in favor of radical and reckless action. One may legitimately ask why there is this great rush.

Election year — One reason pressures build up for action is that 1960 is an election year, a so-called political year. It can be truthfully said that Congress does need prodding by the people on some issues. This helpful advice is welcome and valuable to the legislator.

WHEN SHE SAID "YOU GO TO THE BANK AND OPEN THAT SAVINGS ACCOUNT"... HE SAID "YES, DEAR"

When you pay bills in cash it's sometimes hard to tell where the money went. Before you know it the budget is upset and so are you. That's one reason why so many are paying by check these days. They have a continuing record of income and outgo. Other reasons are the amount of time it saves, the evidence of payment that cancelled checks bring, not to mention the prestige of paying by checks drawn on this leading bank. Come in soon. We have a checking account to fit you and your budget.
