Let's Go All The Way

It is very encouraging to hear reports relative to the shooting of scenes for the forthcoming promotional film for Edenton and Chowan County.

That no time has been lost is reflected in the fact that up to Tuesday shots were taken of 36 homes and buildings, at some of which ladies were attired in colonial costumes. The work was continued Wednesday with shots taken of waterfront activity including boating, fishing, skiing and other shots from the water. Following this aerial shots will be taken of the entire town.

Those who have been engaged in making the pictures are very much impressed with what Edenton and Chowan County have to offer for the making of an interesting and attractive promotional film. They say they have never been to a place where they received such wonderful cooperation and hospitality, and with such conditions prevailing there is every reason to believe that they will come up with a good movie.

In fact there is such a wealth of appropriate material available that the opinion has been advanced that instead of the scheduled 13½-minute film, to properly present Edenton and Chowan County to a vast audience of viewers, a 30-minute film should be made, for which there is ample material which would be very beneficial. Of course, to make 30-minute film would entail some extra expense, but according to Jack McGowan, in charge of shooting scenes, it would be money well spent.

It is understood that members of the Iredell Association and the Edenton Tea Party Chapter of the DAR have taken the initiative to place an order for the longer film, feeling that enough people will be interested enough to meet the comparatively small extra expense. Anyone then, who is interested in producing the best film possible may make a contribution by contacting Mrs. John Kramer.

While we are in the business of making a promotional film, it is wise to secure the best possible story to present to the millions who are expected to view the film. With ample material, and very interesting material at that, on hand, it would be more or less foolish to have a film which shows only a portion of what we have to offer. In fact, limited to a 13½-minute film many shots would of necessity be omitted which might have a special appeal to some who will see the film. The leaders of the Iredell Association and DAR are to be commended for their interest and optimism in believing that Edenton concerns and Edenton people would rather pay a little more to make the best possible film than to go only about half way and later possibly regret that the longer film was not made. Anything done should be done right and the opinion of those who are making the film and the local ladies who are giving all assistance possible is that the half hour film is necessary to properly present the story of Edenton and Chowan County.

Incidentally, while all of the ladies of the two organizations so vitally interested in the film are cooperating, three have taken the lead in cooperating with the producers and deserve a word of commendation. This trio of ladies include Mrs. John Kramer, Mrs. R. N. Hines and Mrs. W. J. P. Earnhardt. And while they have worked almost to exhaustion, they are over-enthused with the prospect of a film of which the community may well be proud and that eventually its effect will be felt in the economic structure of Edenton.

Everybody's Problem

Crime costs this nation some $22 billion a year—and "In the last 10 years something has happened to the American public that is worse than communism. A new kind of crime is sweeping the nation. People claim it's all right to be a little bit of a thief, to do a little wrong."

That indictment comes from a real authority—Juvenile Judge Gilliam of Denver. Naturally enough, he is particularly concerned about juvenile delinquency which, it is forecast, will double in the next 10 years. He says: "The belief seems to be 'Never get sore about anything. Don't fight the racketeer; you'd just get hurt.'

"I ask boys why they stole, and they answered 'I didn't want to be a square.' And this problem is everybody's problem."

"Can you imagine a great American who

Heard & Seen By Buff

It's very nice to get ready and anticipate a trip from home, but it's always a more grand and glorious feeling to get back home. In fact everybody should travel—if only to get themselves acquainted with the comforts of home.

Three hospital employees were in sort of a dilemma one day last week. It so happened that a trio, a nurse and two nurses' aids, went into the powder room. The door slammed and locked and could not be unlocked. Two of 'em crawled out the window, but the window was not large enough for the third one. All efforts to unlock the door were futile, so that it was necessary to break the lock from the door to let the third one out of "prison." No names mentioned, but it actually happened.

Arriving in the mail late last week was a complimentary copy of "Reflections In Lafayette Park," a book of poems of which Gurnie Hobbs, Jr., a former Edentonian, is the author. It was published by "Valhalla Press," founded by Hobbs and is now on sale in some of the biggest book stores in Washington, D. C., including Brentano's, Airport Book Shops, Franz Bader and others, as well as Woodward & Lothrop, Washington's largest department store. It is also on sale in Edenton at Hollowell's Drug Store. Here's congratulating another Edenton boy who left Edenton and apparently is making good.

Mrs. William T. Pullen, who lives at Daytona Beach, Florida, is another Herald subscriber to send in her renewal. Mrs. Pullen in a brief message said it is hot weather at Daytona Beach (here, too) and that she is still hoping some day to come back "home."

My friend Fred Haney, at The Daily Advance in Elizabeth City, returned Monday from a week's vacation. Among the places he went during the week was Washington, D. C. He couldn't get up with Ike, he says, so that he didn't get in a game of golf during his vacation.

If anybody has never seen an illicit liquor still, ABC Officer Troy Toppin early this week set up one at the foot of Broad Street. The still was captured Friday in the wingfield section of the county, and just for the novelty of the thing Troy set it up. Not much need to cause any ideas about making moonshine, for this is the seventh still captured in Chowan County since January 10. Anyway, a lot of people have taken a look at the rig.

Scott Harrell and Pearly Ashley are very much interested in organizing a Go-Kart Racing Club in Edenton. The idea is rapidly increasing and is enjoyed by men, women and children. Well, some of our men, women and children have learned to ski, so no doubt some of 'em would like to take a crack at Go-Kart racing. Anyway Scott and Pearly have called a meeting for Friday night at 8 o'clock at the Ashley Welding & Machine Company so that anybody who might be interested is urged to attend. Plans are already in the making to construct a race track if enough interest is shown in the idea. But holy mackerel, what'll be next to take up a person's time?

It has been said lately that not many tourists are coming through Edenton. Well on Tuesday night I met a friend at a restaurant, who asked where to find a good motel. I told him we have several good ones and gave him the names and locations. However, on Wednesday morning he dropped in the office to tell me that he was obliged to try three times before he could get a room. The two others were filled up by 4 o'clock, he said. Looks like somebody is enjoying good business.

If you don't think there is any interest in games played on the softball diamond and on the colored playground, just drop around some night to see how many turn out and how much fun is enjoyed. Why even Ernest Kehayes is a regular "customer" when the P & Q team plays softball and you'll hear him rootin' for his team. Incidentally, Manager Ronnie Saunders would like to put Ernest in the lineup, but he sort of has a feeling that the "boss man" might strike out and he'd be better off for not bawling him out. Anyway, it's a lot of fun especially if the mosquitoes do not become too friendly.

would say 'I didn't want to be chicken?'

Thomas Jefferson and George Washington were angry Americans."

What we are confronted with is a great and gnawing moral problem. To quote Judge Gilliam once more, "We'll have delinquency as long as we have people who don't care, sloppy homes; people who excuse wrong-doing, poorly-trained teachers, filthy magazines and violent television programs."

"And this problem is everybody's problem."

The National Outlook The Democratic Platform And Business

By RALPH ROBEY

Political action has become so intertwined with economics that no business analyst any longer can afford to ignore what either the Democrats or the Republicans propose to do. The platforms adopted at the National Conventions never can be taken at their face value because they always are highly political documents, but at least they provide an indication of the direction in which the party is moving.

The platform just adopted by the Democrats at Los Angeles is truly an amazing document. It is over 20,000 words long, which means that it is one of the longest ever offered. It includes the strongest civil rights plank ever put in a platform, and it ranges over a variety of ideas and problems that is without parallel.

Here, however, we are concerned only with those items of outstanding importance from the viewpoint of the future of business.

Most basic is the dogmatic statement "that our economy can and must grow at an average rate of 5 per cent annually" and is followed by this sentence: "We pledge ourselves to policies that will achieve this goal without inflation."

There is not space even to list the various policies which are to assure this 5 per cent annual growth, but they include elimination of the high-interest, tight-money policy, which means the destruction of the independence of the Federal Reserve Board, and just about every conceivable type of spending program, together with a detailed direction of our economic system by the Federal Government.

Where is the money coming from to cover all these additional outlays? To the drafters of this platform that was not a problem. The increased rate of growth will bring in larger revenues (each one per cent increase in the growth rate yields about one billion in larger revenues), and it is said the present tax laws can be made to yield much larger returns.

This latter is to be accomplished by collecting "the billions" which at present are owed but not paid, and by closing so-called loopholes in present tax laws. In addition it is proposed to eliminate "the gross waste in federal expenditures."

Now everyone would like to see a deletion of the waste in government spending, and it unquestionably is large, and everyone is in favor of the tax laws being rigidly enforced. But both of these are not going to yield billions of dollars of additional revenues. So-called loopholes were put in the law by action of the Congress, and they should not be changed without most careful consideration and with

Mr. McGowan said he had been through Edenton many times but that he had no idea what was here. "And very few others will know," he said, "unless you advertise."

Mr. McGowan emphasized the fact that Edenton and Chowan

County has such a wealth of material that it is very unfortunate that only a 13½-minute film is being made, which is inadequate to capitalize on the many phases of life in this area.

He said that to properly advertise what of interest is here a half-hour film would not be too long. This, of course, would entail some extra expense. It is understood that members of the Iredell Association and DAR plan to authorize the longer film in the hope that the added expense will be secured, and he said it would really show Edenton.

Mr. McGowan stated that he had never been to a place where he had received such wonderful cooperation. "And," he said, "with this kind of cooperation, we are just bound to come up with a good movie." In sort of a facetious vein he said it was the first time he worked under three directors. He was referring to Mrs. John Kramer, Mrs. R. N. Hines and Mrs. W. J. P. Earnhardt who accompanied the cameraman and offered all possible assistance.

Combine such a deficit with the destruction of the power of the Federal Reserve to regulate the volume of credit, and it makes no sense at all to talk of increasing our growth rate without inflation.

This does not mean that our production can not grow more rapidly than it has. Of course it can, and it is to be hoped that it does. The policies which will make this possible, however, are not stepping upon the power of the Federal Reserve, increased government spending, running deficits, or forcing "full employment." To get increased growth we must have lower tax rates, elimination of the monopoly power of labor union leaders, and a shrinkage of the operations of the Federal Government.

We shall now look forward to what the Republicans offer in their platform.

Many Shots Taken For Edenton Film

and the films are not for rent but are furnished free for educational purposes. Mr. McGowan says two of the most requested films are on Gunston Hall and Stratford Hall in Virginia. He points at that these two films were on restoration while in Edenton the pictures are original. He said that the fascinating and appealing thing to tourists is that in many instances families still live in some of the old homes. "Therefore," said Mr. McGowan, "the Edenton film should be even more popular than Gunston and Stratford Halls. You actually have more to offer than Williamsburg and should be more valuable if you people would take advantage of this tremendous resource."

This latter is to be accomplished by collecting "the billions" which at present are owed but not paid, and by closing so-called loopholes in present tax laws. In addition it is proposed to eliminate "the gross waste in federal expenditures."

Now everyone would like to see a deletion of the waste in government spending, and it unquestionably is large, and everyone is in favor of the tax laws being rigidly enforced.
