

60-SECOND SERMONS

By FRED DODGE

Text: "To live with honor, be what we would appear to be." —Socrates

Someone asked President Lincoln if he found the ceremonies connected with the Presidency tiresome.

"Yes, sometimes," said Lincoln. "In fact, sometimes I feel like a man who was being ridden out of town on a rail, and said, 'If it weren't for the honor of the thing, I'd rather walk!'"

There are many types of honors. The value depends upon the point of view. Apparently the most expensive honor is honor to be gained by a reputation for integrity. So few people seem able to afford it.

They can't pay the price. They shrug off responsibility because it isn't convenient. They tell a "white lie" because it won't hurt "very much." They make promises and evade fulfilling them. They are not evil, just undependable. The honor of a reputation for integrity costs more than they are willing to pay.

Integrity is for sale. This is the cost: A man must go out of his way to discharge an obligation, if necessary. He must sacrifice, sometimes, to make his word good. He must be fair. He must be truthful.

The world is eager to honor men of integrity. There are too few. There never can be too many.

one of the best insecticides to control these insects but do not use DDT if the hay is to be used for feed, particularly for dairy feed. If you are going to sell your hay, by all means, do not use DDT. If the hay is to be left on the land, you can get a combination dust of copper-sulfur with DDT in it which will help with the leaf-spot condition and also with the insect condition.

Methoxychlor is perhaps the best insecticide to use where the peanut hay is to be used for feed. The residual effect of this insecticide will soon disappear so that the hay will be safe for feeding. Sevin should also be a good insecticide to use on peanuts to control worms and other insects and there should be no residue in the hay at harvest time. Sevin may be used up to a day or two before harvest.

Family Farm Seen Dominant In 1975

Will the family farm be dominant in 1975?

"Yes," predicts H. L. Stewart, an economist for USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

"Family farms of 1975 will be even more specialized than at present, but will continue to dominate most types of farming," says Stewart.

Stewart believes the average size of family farms will increase, while the total number of farms will decrease. He foresees an increase in the present trend to adopt labor-saving and put-increasing improvements essential to economic survival in competitive farming.

"Farmers of 1975 will employ others to perform more services," he says. He named such services as spraying, dusting, fertilizing, more professional management assistance, and help in buying and marketing livestock.

"Large-scale livestock feeding will become increasingly important in the west and Southwest, where there are expanding markets and abundant supplies of livestock, feed grain and forage," he says.

Wilbert Hare of Cross Roads community appears to be doing an excellent job with his sweet potato crop this year. Around the first of August, his potato vines were beginning to show yellowing due to insufficient nitrogen. Mr. Hare immediately broadcast nitrate of soda on his field and the plants now have a beautiful green color again. He plans to make another application of nitrogen the last week of August.

To avoid burning, it is very important to put the nitrogen on when the plants are dry.

Dusting Peanuts To Control Leafspot And Insects: During the last two weeks, several peanut growers have called us to their fields to investigate a late infection of the leafspot disease. These growers have been advised to make another application of copper-sulfur dust to stop the disease spreading. This will tend to make the peanuts stay green and possibly a little later digging but in so doing it will increase the yield and quality.

The rains have also possibly leached out much of the land plaster on peanuts, particularly where it was applied early. This condition took place in several fields last year resulting in poor kernel development and a lot of pops. Under these conditions, it will pay good dividends to broadcast another 300 pounds of land plaster per acre now. Where a second application of land plaster was made after the heavy rains last year good results were obtained.

Leaf hoppers are working on some peanut fields and it is about time for the grass army worms, the corn earworms and some other worms to start working on peanut vines. DDT is

RESULTS OF SELF-INDULGENCE

International Sunday School Lesson for August 21, 1960.

Memory Selection: "The Lord of hosts is exalted in Justice, and the Holy God shows himself holy in righteousness." (Isaiah 5:16)

Lesson Text, Isaiah 5:1-24.

Today the purpose of our study is to examine the results of self-indulgence and to discover what Christians can do to help counteract these evils.

As we peruse the Scripture allotted for study today, we see that it contains a series of reproaches. And the prophet Isaiah also fixes upon specific sins that were bringing ruin to the nation in his day and time. Isaiah reminds us that Israel, like many nations that have come after her, was harassed by the problem of alcohol. The practice of drunkenness not only affected the lives of individuals, but had disastrous social and economic results as well.

Self-indulgence is a great American evil. Drug addiction is increasing, and people in our country pay more for narcotics and tobacco than they give for the support of religious institutions. Self-indulgence in alcohol also thrives. Radio, television, and advertising in popular and extensively-read magazines have all conspired to make the American citizen appear fanatical, bigoted, and downright silly if he opposes the use of alcohol.

But increased consumption of alcohol affects certain phases of our national life also. Indulgence in alcohol adds to our health problem on a national scale. Alcohol has enough calories to keep a drinker from feeling hungry, but it lacks vitamins. The result is undernourishment. Tuberculosis affects about three people in every thousand; social diseases claim five in every thousand; but alcoholism afflicts, on the average, from seven to nine persons from each thousand in our nation. And at a time when our national economy is struggling to get on its feet, and when the sources of increased taxes appear exhausted, Americans spend about nine times as much for alcohol as for medical care.

National safety is threatened by alcohol also. Alcohol and

POWER

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

"Isn't it wonderful, what man can do?" But when looking at man's work, we often overlook the Hand of God. Man harnessed the power in this great dam, but God created it. Long before man discovered the turbine or the electric motor, God placed the power at man's disposal.

God is the source of every one of man's inventive and ingenious undertakings. He gives us the natural resources and the intelligence to use them. And He wants us to use them constructively.

Our Christian faith teaches us of God's power and the vastness of its scope. It teaches us the right use of these blessings, so that life may be enriched by them. Go to church and learn God's plan of love for us and our fellowman. It will mean a better world for all of us.
