'60 Price Support Level For Peanuts $213.93 Per Ton

Price Is Little Better
Than 13 Cent Per Pound Above Last
Year

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced the price support level for Virginia type peanuts at $213.93 per ton. This announcement was based on the supply situation as determined as of August 1st and will be the price per average ton of Virginia type peanuts under the price support program for this marketing season.

The figure, $213.93, is the support level and not the loan level. The loan level, as computed for an average ton of Virginia type peanuts, is support less $9.16 per ton, which covers storage, inspection charges, and handling charges. An average ton of Virginia type peanuts is figured to have a grade of 67.5% SMK's, 32% Extra Large, and 1% damaged and other kernels. Using these grades, the value of a ton of meat content will be $193.29 and the extra large premium would be $12.30, making a total of $206.09 per ton. Figured in cents per pound the price would be 10.3c per pound. This is the loan price the farmer would receive at the Co-Op receiving points under the price support program operated by the Commodity Credit (Continued on Page 7—Section 1)
