

KNOW YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

John T. Grooms, representative of the Social Security Administration, is in Edenton every Thursday at the North Carolina Employment Security Commission office in the Citizens Bank Building.

Absent-minded people have been the subjects of many jokes in America. It seems that many of us find something humorous in an individual's lapse of memory, yet many of us are also guilty of these same lapses.

People who would not dream of going off to the theatre or the homecoming football game without tickets or reservations, or who would not dare visit Aunt Ida without taking a little pipe tobacco for Uncle Tom, often go to their social security office to file for benefits completely unprepared.

Actually, preparation for the first visit is a simple matter and can hasten the processing of the claim considerably. This preparation depends on the type of benefit for which the individual plans to file. In all cases, the claimant should bring his social security card, since the number assigned to him when he first applied for his card may be the only means of identifying his records. The importance of this item of evidence is self-evident.

Individuals who are planning to file for retirement benefits should bring proof of their age. An old, written record is desirable, the older the better. A birth certificate is not required, but should be brought if available. They should also bring a record of their latest earnings, a wage statement (W-2) from an employer or a copy of last year's tax return if self-employed. This may be needed in determining whether or not the work requirements are met or in determining the amount of the benefits.

Those who plan to file for disability benefits should bring any medical information they may have if they have been found disabled by any other organization. This evidence will not necessarily mean that they will be found to be disabled under the social security law, but it will assist in developing their claim properly.

Regardless of the type of benefit for which a person may be eligible, he should call the nearest social security district office if he has any questions about the proofs that might be requirements are met or in not delay in filing his claim or go to any great expense if he doesn't have these proofs. The social security office can suggest where the proofs may be obtained.

TEMPLE OF THE GODS—This architectural masterpiece of an ancient culture is the 1,000-year-old Tajin Temple, mighty remnant of Mexico's Totonac civilization. Excavated and restored, the towering stone temple is located near Papantla on Mexico's east coast. The temple was the site of the Voladore Rain Dance, an ancient Totonac religious ceremony appealing to the gods for rain.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

How freedom from the bondage of sickness and sin can be gained through wholly spiritual means will be emphasized at Christian Science churches Sunday.

Readings from the Bible in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Matter" will include Luke's account of the healing by Christ Jesus of the woman "which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years" (Ch. 13).

One of the passages to be read from "Science and Health" with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (228:20): "If we follow the command of our Master, 'Take no thought for your life,' we shall never depend on bodily conditions, structure, or economy, but we shall be masters of the body, dictate its terms and form and control it with Truth."

The Golden Text is from John (6:63): "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing."

Information Please

The big railroad terminal was crowded when a shabby individual approached a wicket and peered inquiringly at the young woman on duty behind it.

"Excuse me, miss," he apologized, "but do you represent the Travelers' Aid Society?"

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

Washington—The defection to Soviet Russia by two code clerks employed by the National Security Agency has aroused the country. There is sufficient cause for concern. A full investigation is justified.

Inquiry—Their defection is bad enough. The fact that the clerks were employed in 1957 and retained in the agency until their defection this summer needs to be carefully probed by Congress. I think it will be in order for Congress to learn what influence the United States Supreme Court decision has had on the retention of security risks in the federal service. That split decision of June 11, 1956 (Cole v. Young et al) held in substance that the federal government could not fire a security risk unless the person was employed in sensitive work. To me it is incredible that security risks can be retained in the federal service with adverse information in their personnel records.

Soviet Propaganda—Our government has suffered a continuing series of reverses in our fight for survival in the cold war with the Soviets. These unfortunate events have been exploited and distorted to the disadvantage of the United States before the world. As a consequence, it is a time for concern. Although it had been known for a month that the two men had fled the United States via Mexico and Cuba, when the news conference by them was held in Moscow, the administration in Washington seemed to be unprepared to meet the propaganda. It now appears that the authorities were aware of derogatory information on the two code clerks but this was released after the propaganda value had been achieved by the communists and only after prodding by newsmen and Congressmen.

Our government must be more alert in the propaganda battle.
