A LIFT FOR TODAY

★... Repent ye, and believe the gospel. —Mark 1:15.

CAN WE EMPHASIZE the sins and shortcomings of other peoples, if our own policies and practices do not meet the standard of Christ? First, let us review our lives, individually and nationally, asking our Father to reveal to us our own failures. Then by the grace and power of God, we can re-make our own characters, the first step in building a new world.

Holy Father, may we truly repent all un-Christian ways and commit our lives unreservedly unto Thee.

Chowan Badly Lagging

Mrs. Nick George is very much concerned about the cancer campaign which is now in progress and is supposed to wind up this month. Never before has Chowan County lagged as much in a cancer drive.

Chowan County's quota for this year is $1,500, and Mrs. George reported early this week that only about $275 has been turned in. She, therefore, is appealing to Edenton and Chowan County citizens to rally to the support of this very worthwhile campaign. Anybody who will make a contribution is requested to send it at once to Mrs. Jesse Harrell, treasurer.

Mrs. George points out that 60 per cent of the contributions go to the county and state organizations, 10 per cent to the national organization and 30 per cent used for research.

Further, Mrs. George says that because cancer eventually strikes two out of three families, there is urgent need for everyone to do his share to combat a disease which last year took the lives of more than a quarter of a million fellow Americans. "Here in Chowan County," she says, "we can help save lives and reducing suffering by making contributions."

Mrs. George points out that some 85,000 men, women and children die needlessly of cancer every year simply because they do not see their doctors in time. She, therefore, urges every household to get a health checkup regularly. "Our objective," she says, "is to help save more lives and to support the research that will one day find a solution to the cancer problem."

It is to be deplored that Chowan County is so badly lagging in this drive, so that an urgent appeal is made for Chowan County people as a whole to rally to the support of Mrs. George in her desire to meet the county's quota.

Make Your Ballot Count

With Edenton's municipal election scheduled to be held Tuesday of next week, another pertinent reminder is advanced for the benefit of voters. It is reported that quite a few new voters have been registered and some may not be as well acquainted with voting rules as they should be.

There are two contests for which there are more candidates than offices to be filled. This is the case for Councilmen-at-large and Board of Public Works. It is often the case that a voter does not care to cast a ballot for a particular candidate, so that a ballot is cast for only a portion of the candidates.

Two Councilmen-at-large will be elected for which there are four candidates. A voter must mark two names for his ballot to be counted in the election.

A similar situation exists for the Board of Public Works. There are seven candidates but only five will be elected. In this case a voter must mark five names in order for the ballot to be counted.

This information is again set forth, so that voters will not make the mistake of voting erroneously and thus have their ballot thrown out. It is important to vote, but it is even more important to properly mark ballots so that they can be counted.

Let's Keep Squealing!

According to the Chamber of Commerce, Edenton will be well represented at a meeting with the State Highway Commission in Raleigh today. The purpose of this meeting is for communities served by U. S. Route 17 to press action for improvements to U. S. 17 in order to coincide with the opening of the Chesapeake Bay bridge and tunnel, expected to be completed in 1963.

Many arguments have already been heard by the Highway Commission relative to the necessity to improve U. S. 17, but these and other arguments should continue to be advanced. The traffic on U. S. 17 is confidently expected to increase by leaps and bounds when this artery of traffic is opened to the public. And if this important highway is not adequate to cope with this increased traffic, the entire section will obviously be detrimentally affected.

Of course, the highway folks have been made acquainted with the prospect of increased traveling on the route, but we who are so vitally affected should not be content until something concrete has been promised or done.

The remark of Merrill Evans, chairman of the State Highway Commission, still rings clear. Mr. Evans was telling about going out to feed some pigs. "If you heard one group of pigs squealing to beat the band and another group apparently contented, which ones would you feed first?" he asked.

Well, let's keep on squealing for improvements to U. S. 17 which we need and deserve.

There is no substitute for intelligence, applied to whatever is before you. So use what you have.

It is excusable to get tired when you work hard but the trouble with the average person is a tendency to get tired before working.

Heard & Seen

By Buff

A very pleasant visitor to The Herald office the latter part of last week was Mrs. Eleanor R. Beach of Rochester, New York. Mrs. Beach had heard something about Edenton and along about September she requested the Chamber of Commerce to send her a copy of the Edenton newspaper, which was done and she immediately subscribed to it although she didn't know a soul in Edenton. When she entered the office she shook my hand and said she will now even more enjoy reading The Herald. She remained in Edenton a few days looking over the historical sites, and you know sumpin', some visitors know more about Edenton than a lot of folks who live here. Mrs. Beach met up with Miss Marion Robertson, librarian at Shepard-Pruden Memorial Library, who hails from Buffalo, N. Y., so they had a nice little chat. Anyway, it was nice meeting her and she apparently felt well repaid for her brief visit to the old town.

Postmaster J. L. Chestnut this week received a postcard from Mrs. Eva Fowler, who lives at 20 South Swain Street in Raleigh. Said Mrs. Fowler: Have just read of the disaster of the Casper family. Am sure sorry. If someone could or will come to the above address I will try to get up a package for them. I am in a wheelchair and can't come, but will do all I can to help them, and may God richly bless them." Anybody going to Raleigh?

Mrs. George D. Ward of Norfolk sent in her renewal to The Herald, with the following note: "I enjoy reading The Herald very much and keep up with news around Edenton since I used to be a resident there. What happened to the hospital news? I would like to see it in the paper again!" Here's another one who would like to print the hospital news, but I'm told the folks at the hospital do not have time to make up the list and neither do I.

James Bond the other day was passing out some cards. Nope, they were not political cards, for he has no opposition for town treasurer in Tuesday's election. It's sort of late for me to benefit by the cards, for one carried 12 rules for raising delinquent children and the other 12 rules for raising responsible children. Because the average parents, no doubt, think they know how to raise responsible children, here's the 12 rules for raising delinquent children:

1. Begin with intancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up to believe the world owes him a living.
2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. This will make him think he's cute. It will also encourage him to pick up "cuter" phrases that will blow off the top of your head later.
3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait until he is 21 and then let him "decide for himself."
4. Avoid use of the word "wrong". It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe later, when he is arrested for stealing a car, that society is against him and he is being persecuted.
5. Pick up everything he leaves lying around—books, shoes, and clothes. Do everything for him so that he will be experienced in throwing all responsibility on others.
6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful that the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feast on garbage.
7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of your children. In this way they will not be too shocked when the home is broken up later.
8. Give a child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?
9. Satisfy his every craving for food, drink, and comfort. See that every sensual desire is gratified. Denial may lead to harmful frustration.
10. Take his part against neighbors, teachers, policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.
11. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourself by saying "I never could do anything for him."
12. Prepare for a life of grief. You will be likely to have it.

Usually when a picture of a person is made a remark is made "that's a sorry picture of me." So the other day when "KB" Davis saw the picture which appears on the front page of this issue he said, "I look too darned serious." "Well," I told him, "anybody working in a bank has to be serious." In fact they're too darned serious at times when a fellow hits 'em up for a loan. But a camera doesn't lie—it takes what is on front of it, so that a good looking picture can not be made from a sorry looking person.

While in Raleigh recently, I met a lady who admitted that she was "nosey." She said it worried her until she found out something about new neighbors moving in or to get the dope on a fuss she heard in the neighborhood. She had a scheme to get in on the ground floor. Whenever a neighbor moved in or she heard a rumour next door she would hurriedly bake a cake. Then she would send a slice or two by her little daughter. In a short time the lady would go in search of her daughter and in that way found out about all she wanted to know. Good stunt, eh!

The "hams" hanging in front of Phthisic's Super Market caused a great temptation the other night. A group of boys from New York went through Edenton and while stopping on Broad Street they spied the string of "hams". One of the boys apparently figured he'd appease his appetite for ham, so he in some way jumped high enough to yank down one of the "hams". However, when the "ham" fell to the sidewalk, it was already digested for only sawdust scattered around the sidewalk when the bag tore apart.

I missed meeting a visitor one day this week. Major Herbert Bass dropped in the office to see me, but I was out at the time. Herbert spent several days in Edenton visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Bass and other relatives while he is recuperating following an operation. I'm sorry I missed him, for he wanted to tell me to thank

Chowan Women Take Very Prominent Part In Craftsman's Fair

The 1961 Albemarle Craftsman's Fair held in Elizabeth City last week was considered very successful. Advance Home Demonstration Club had an educational booth on stool bottoming. Mrs. Fred Castelloe, Mrs. Carlton Perry, Mrs. Harold Bunch, all of Route 3, Edenton, worked in the booth demonstrating how to bottom stools during the two days of the fair.

Oak Grove Home Demonstration Club had an educational booth on fish netting. Mrs. Wallace Peele, Jr., Mrs. Martha Peele, Mrs. Myrtle Peele Mrs. Josie Morris, Mrs. Albert Bunch, Mrs. Percy Nixon, Mrs. Arlon Parks, Mrs. Anthony Gosser and Mrs. Sam Nixon, all of Route 1, Edenton, worked in the booth and demonstrated tying fish net. This booth was set up by Mrs. Marvin Evans and Mrs. Alphonso Roberson.

A vase made of local clay was exhibited by Mrs. Doris George, Edenton. Cutwork tablecloth was displayed by Mrs. Margaret White, Route 3, Edenton. Hand-carved cannon and handmade bellows were exhibited by J. L. Chestnut.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of C. W. Ward, who passed away 12 years ago, April 28, 1949: The flowers long since have withered,
That were placed on your grave that day,
Time has lapsed, twelve years gone by,
Since the time you went away,
Your spirit with us still lingers,
For your memory will live in our hearts.
The inspiration you gave us,
Fresh courage each day impart.
When the sunset of life shall have ended,
When the night and the darkness are over;
We hope that you'll joyfully greet us,
As we reach that heavenly shore.
—Your Living Wife and Children.
