Frankly Speaking

By FRANK ROBERTS

Show-business has been described as wierd, odd, fascinating and I suppose it is that, and more. Show-folks live in their own private world, at times completely unaware of what's going on around them. Be that as it may, those who are not connected directly with show-biz, often find the stories of the people who make entertainment headlines quite fascinating. With that thought in mind, I've been digging around and have managed to come up with some interesting little items, most of which will be new to you, some of which might even be interesting to you. Hope so. Let's go way back to 1908. At that time the Society for the Prevention of Crime was opposed to what was referred as "the poor man's amusement." Movies, that is. On the day before Christmas of that year the organization persuaded New York's then Mayor George McClellan to revoke the licenses of 550 nickelodeons. To regain licenses, managers had to sign written pledges not to give Sunday performances and to bar films tending to "degrade the morals of the community." A year before that, believe it or not, the first talking and colored movies in America were twin-debuted in Cleveland. Most folks believe talking movies first appeared in the late '20's and color movies in the early '30's. However, in 1907 a process called Chromophone presented life-sized films in color, with speech and other sounds fully synchronized to the feature. The first colored talkie consisted of a smattering of grand opera, a full fight with loud snorts and a political speech with the accompaniment of jeers and shouts. To present it, one Max Faetkenheur spent $25,000 fixing up a dilapidated Cleveland family theatre that seated 600 open-mouthed, disbelieving spectators. While on the subject of firsts, the first animated cartoons were the work of one Winsor McKay, who patented his device in 1911. Incidentally, every film cartoon today pays a royalty tribute to the McKay estate. Moving up a couple of years, it was in 1913 that a company, the Eclair Company, presented a movie called, "The Sons of a Soldier." It was billed, prophetically enough, as "War with Japan, shown in three parts." A few more fascinating facts: In 1908, when Sarah Bernhardt was the most important stage star, a tribute was paid to this lady by the Chicago booking of four of her cousins. They were billed in just that capacity. Also concerning the stage, just past the turn of the century, this item: Producer David Belasco enchanted audiences by having a cat walk onstage, stretch, then lay down to play with a ball of yarn in front of a fireplace. Belasco ensured this performance by cramping the cat in a small box for an hour before stage time and releasing it from the wings on cue. The yarn ball was smeared with catnip. Also, concerning the stage, I found out that few brighter stars shone in the prewar world of legitimate than Maude Adams, whose Peter Pan one woman confessed to sitting through an amazing total of 47 times. You know the by-now familiar tag-line: "That's all there is, there isn't any more?" Know who first popularized that line? Of all people, it was Ethel Barrymore. Al Jolson had a line that went like this and I'm liable to be leaving myself wide open—but "You ain't heard nothing yet." That will apply to this column. We've come up with more interesting little known facts concerning the fascinating business known as show-business and will continue with same next week.

Closing Thought: Some men are born great; some achieve greatness; and some have greatness thrust upon them.

Firemen Called Out Eight Times In July

Fire Chief W. J. Yates reports that Edenton firemen were called out eight times during July, one fire being in Edenton and seven out of town.

The firemen were out 30 minutes for the Edenton fire and six hours and 45 minutes out of town. They were on the air 10 seconds in Edenton and 1 minute and 10 seconds out of town. One mile of traveling was necessary in Edenton and 41 miles out of town.

There was no hose laid in Edenton, but 2,700 feet laid out of town. Ladders were raised 12 feet in Edenton and 35 feet out of town.

For the Edenton fire 14 volunteers responded and 140 out of town. Property involved in Edenton was $20,000 and $35,000 out of town. There was no damage in Edenton but out of town the damage was estimated at $6,-160. Insurance in Edenton was $17,000 and $13,000 out of town.

The firemen held one fire drill, answered four still alarms and refilled two fire extinguishers.

SILAS: TRUSTWORTHY CO-WORKER

International Sunday School Lesson for August 20

Memory Selection: "Even if you do suffer for righteousness' sake, you will be blessed."—I Peter 3:14.

Lesson Text: Acts 15:22-41; 16.16 through 17:14; 18:5; I Thessalonians 1:1; Peter 5:12.

In today's lesson we give consideration to the thought: "How can we become more dependable Christians?"

Turning to our Scriptural studies for today, we find the answer.

At the start we find a bone of contention separating the leaders, with the result that Barnabas took Mark with him and sailed to Cyprus, while Paul chose Silas and continued teaching through Syria and Cilicia, strengthening the churches. And as a result of their teaching, we find Paul and Silas persecuted and flung into prison.

Silas seems to have been a quiet, dedicated man. That, more than anything else, was probably the secret of his greatness. Silas' support must have meant a great deal to Paul during his trials and tribulations teaching the word of God. Silas, together with other early Christians, was sustained and driven by the compulsion that he had discovered something precious, had been given something, had something to tell. That something he believed was the most important truth man can know—truth that can awaken and release human beings for living in the peace and joy of fellowship in Him whose law is love; truth that is God's personal and loving message to his children.

It was for this truth that Silas and others who shared his dedication were witnesses. They spurned comfort and safety, and went everywhere to let their message loose in the world. It was by means of this dedication that the Christian church was born. During the centuries when the glory that had been Greece and the grandeur that had been Rome perished in decay, there was emerging a new and nobler world. These first friends of Jesus Christ spread the gospel that brought life to

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chap.	Verse
Sunday	Isaiah	43	1-10
Monday	Isaiah	44	1-8
Tuesday	Psalms	121	1-8
Wednesday	Proverbs	3	5-12
Thursday	II Timothy	3	10-17
Friday	John	4	7-26
Saturday	John	6	27-42

The carefree may call this entertainment. The discouraged might call it life!

We feel often as though we're not getting anywhere. Many of us recall a long succession of up and downs—coming in a vicious circle.

To get anywhere, our life must have direction!

Not just ambition, mind you. Ambition is simply a restless yearning to reach another platcau.

Direction is a course of forward progress.

It may lead to one's ambition . . . or beyond. And sometimes it bypasses an unworthy ambition to bring within our reach a worthy goal.

Set a time in your week when you will forego both entertainment and ambition—to insure for body, mind and soul a right direction. Begin next Sunday morning!
