ceived her certificate. She is now employed and is able to support herself, despite her handicap.

This is an example of how aid to dependent children helped a child become a responsible self-supporting adult. Besides the glow of personal satisfaction we feel for Alice and her success story, there is another side—the cold fact that Alice, who received the benefit of tax money, is now herself a taxpayer and a contributing member of the society that helped her.

Support Price For Wheat $2.00

The minimum national average support price for 1962-crop wheat will be $2.00 per bushel, since quotas were approved by producers in the August 24 referendum. This price reflects 84.4 percent of the August 1961 wheat parity price of $2.37 per bushel. It compares with the 1961-crop support price of $1.79 per bushel.

According to A. P. Hassell, Jr., Administrative Officer for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, the minimum rate for this State will be somewhat higher due to a higher freight differential.

The nation's wheat producers voting decision in the recent referendum will carry strong implications for the future of their industry for years ahead.

For the first time in the nearly twenty-five years since the present wheat program was developed, major modifications in its operation have been adopted.

The newly-enacted wheat stabilization program can reverse the unsatisfactory trend of recent years during which our wheat supplies have accumulated to burdensome levels.

Men weary as much of not doing the things they want to do as of doing the things they do not want to do.

—Eric Hoffer.

Sunday School Lesson

TITUS: SERVING IN HARD PLACES

International Sunday School Lesson for September 17, 1961

Memory Selection: "Show yourself in all respects a model of good deeds." (Titus 2:7).

Lesson Text: 2 Corinthians 12:13; 7:6, 13-14; 8:6, 16, 23; 12:18; Galatians 2:1-3; 2 Timothy 4:10; Titus.

In today's lesson we will endeavor to see how our Christian faith can help us accept difficulties and use them as means of Christian growth.

From our Scriptures today, we must come to the inevitable conclusion that Titus was not a man who whined, pitied himself, or rebelled when adversity was his lot. He accepted it as a normal part of his life.

No one can deal with adversity constructively unless and until he accepts it and makes it a part of his life. Then he can see what he has to deal with and can begin to put it in proper perspective.

There is no denying the fact that this is a world in which

The Unquestioned Compulsion

Years ago there were many who disputed the novel idea of free and compulsory public education. The first truancy laws were opposed as infringements on liberty.

But as our children return this fall to schools that will mold their growing minds—does a single parent complain?

I believe in sound religious education, as well. The molding of the character should keep pace with the molding of the mind.

Naturally I never want my government to exercise compulsion in this sacred area. And my Church, while it offers a complete curriculum of religious training, does so on a free and voluntary basis.

But I'm a parent! And, though I find that example and encouragement usually suffice, I'm not above telling Johnny,

"YES, SON, YOU HAVE TO GO TO SUNDAY SCHOOL!"

As a child begins to see the importance Faith has in our lives and in the strength of our nation . . . you'll be surprised how quickly this becomes an unquestioned compulsion.

For The People

By Bernadette W. Hoyle
Public Information Officer
North Carolina State Board of Public Welfare

Note: This is one of a series explaining public welfare in North Carolina.

One of the important phases of the public welfare program is aid to dependent children. This provides for a money payment for needy dependent children who have been deprived of parental care and support because of the death, physical or mental incapacity or continued absence from the home of one or both parents, whether natural, step or adoptive.

The public welfare files of North Carolina are filled with case histories of thousands of children who have been helped toward responsible adulthood by aid to dependent children payments.

One of these cases is the story of Alice, who was born a spastic. Her feet and legs were affected by this spasticity and it was necessary for her to wear braces for support. Her mother died when the child was young. The father by reason of lack of skilled training was not equipped to earn sufficient money to give the child proper medical attention or support. After living in various situations, Alice was finally placed with an aunt and uncle. An aid to dependent children grant was made available for her. She received specialized treatment for her spastic condition at an orthopedic hospital and arrangements were made for her to attend school.

Although her academic record was poor, it was considered that she made excellent progress in social adjustment. Actually, irregular school attendance when she was young and the handicap of her spastic condition were responsible for her poor scholastic record.

Paradoxically, this girl—plain in appearance and physically handicapped—had a burning ambition to be a beautician. Through skilled casework services in the county department of public welfare she was helped to realize this ambition. She moved to the home of another aunt, who lived in a city which had a school of beauty culture. With the cooperation of the Vocational Rehabilitation counselor, she was helped with her expenses at the school. In addition, the operator of the school took an especial interest in the girl and helped her in making the necessary adjustments. At the same time, arrangements were made for her to receive psychiatric treatment and this helped Alice to resolve some of her deep-seated and mixed-up emotions.

According to law, aid to dependent children payments cease when a child reaches his eighteenth birthday. The day after Alice's payments ended—her birthday—she completed her course in beauty culture and re-
