For First 30 Weeks of 1961 Only 327 Cases Reported In United States

The number of polio cases reorted in the United States his year is running far below incidence of recent years, Health Insurance Institute

In the first 30 weeks of 1961, going through the end of July, a total of 327 polio cases were reported, the Institute said in its statement based on data supplied by the U.S. Public Health Service.

Although last year, 1960, was the lowest for polio incidence in over 20 years, a total of 837 polio cases were reported in the first 30 weeks of the year.

In 1955, the year when the Salk vaccination programs were' initiated, 6,520 polio cases were reported in the first 30 weeks. The Institute said the 30-week polio totals were 4,564 for 1956, 2,244 for 1957, 1,168 for 1958, and 2,036 for 1959.

In all of 1960, there were 3,-277 polio cases in the United States, the lowest figure since 1938 when there were 1,705 cases. The lowest intervening
