

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By JAMES H. GRIFFIN, Soil Conservationist

Pollock Swamp Watershed
Charles E. Godley reported for duty with the Pollock Swamp survey team January 8. Mr. Godley was employed by the Soil Conservation Service in March, 1961, and has been working on the Grindle Creek Watershed in Pitt County. He is a native of Greenville, N. C., and graduated in 1959 from the Stokes-Pactolus High School. He is married to the former Miss Lucille Farmer of Stokes. They have one daughter and are now residing at 228 East Queen Street. They are members of the Methodist Church. Mr. Godley is a member of the National Guard.

Franklin Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carey Evans of the Rocky Hock community, is a member of the Pollock Swamp survey team. Mr. Evans has been employed by the Soil Conservation Service on a part-time basis in Chowan County during 1961. In December he was detailed to Hertford County as a full-time employee. He now will work in the Pollock Swamp Watershed.

The other member of the survey team is Conservation Aid Ed Craft of Washington County. Mr. Craft has been detailed from the Washington County Work Unit at Plymouth as party chief for the design survey.

Lloyd W. Evans of the Rocky Hock community and John Chappell, Center Hill community, will be employed on a part-time basis on the survey plan team in Pollock Swamp Watershed.

The design survey started on Pollock Swamp Watershed on January 8 and is expected to be completed in March this year. This survey is necessary to locate the center line of channel and the location of the lateral in the watershed plan. L. D. Hunnings, area engineer of Edenton and Civil Engineer H. P. Tribou of Goldsboro will be in charge of the survey and design of the channels in the watershed project.

SCS Personnel

G. Samuel Cox, Soil Conservationist in the Pitt County Work Unit at Greenville will be promoted to Work Unit Conservationist and transferred to the Chowan County Work Unit on January 22. Mr. Cox will replace Work Unit Conservationist James H. Griffin, who has been promoted and transferred to the Johnston County Work Unit at Smithfield on January 22.

Mr. Cox has worked in Greene County and Pitt County and comes to Chowan County highly recommended. He is married and will reside in Westover Heights.

District Meeting

Albemarle Soil and Water Conservation District supervisors met in Hertford January 3. L. C. Bunch, of Chowan County was re-elected as chairman of the district for 1962. H. A. Leary of Camden County was re-elected as vice chairman, Joe Nowell, Jr., of Perquimans County was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Bunch appointed M. K. Berry of Pasquotank County as chairman of the woodland committee for 1962. To serve with Mr. Berry are Ralph Powers, Currituck County supervisor; Frank Sawyer, Jr., Camden County supervisor; Joe Nowell, Jr., Perquimans County supervisor; H. F. Byrum, Chowan County supervisor; O. C. Abbott, SCS; E. W. Looney, N. C. Forest Service; Bill Stanton, Extension Service forester and E. S. White, vocational agriculture teacher at Chowan High School. The woodland clinic is a new project for our district. Its purpose is to train 4-H and vocational agriculture students in woodland management.

A. B. Etheridge, Pasquotank County supervisor, is chairman of the annual conservation poster contest. Serving with him will be Larry Forbes, Camden County supervisor; Joe Webb, Jr., Chowan County supervisor; George Winslow, Perquimans County supervisor; M. E. Doxey, Currituck County supervisor; Frank McGoggan, SCS; Pete Thompson, Extension Service, and George Bellmon, ASCS.

L. C. Bunch, Chowan County supervisor, is chairman of the district newsletter. Serving with him will be George Winslow, Perquimans County supervisor; A. B. Etheridge, Pasquotank County supervisor; H. A. Leary, Camden County supervisor; Manley West, Currituck County supervisor and W. C. Smith, SCS.

Frank Sawyer, Jr., Camden County supervisor, is chairman of the land judging committee. Serving with him will be J. A.

Bray, Perquimans County supervisor; Manley West, Currituck County supervisor; H. F. Byrum, Chowan County supervisor; H. J. Banks, Pasquotank County supervisor; Joe Covington, SCS; G. Samuel Cox, SCS; and E. S. White, vocational agriculture teacher at Chowan High School.

J. A. Webb, Jr., Chowan County supervisor, is chairman of 4-H soil and water conservation. Serving with him will be Larry Forbes, Camden County supervisor; M. E. Doxey, Currituck County supervisor; George Winslow, Perquimans County supervisor; H. J. Banks, Pasquotank County supervisor; Harry Venters, Extension Service; R. H. Bryant, Extension Service, and George Hughes, Extension Service.

H. A. Leary, Camden County supervisor, is the chairman of soil stewardship week. Serving with him will be L. C. Bunch, Chowan County supervisor; Manley West, Currituck County supervisor; A. B. Etheridge, Pasquotank County supervisor, and George Winslow, Perquimans County supervisor.

Chairman Bunch requested each county board in the district to prepare a plan of operation for 1962 not later than January 31 and to send him a copy. He requested the 1961 annual report from each county not later than February 1.

The next district meeting will be held in Pasquotank County May 9.

District Supervisors' Meeting

Chairman L. C. Bunch, H. F. Byrum, J. A. Webb, Jr., and other supervisors are attending the state meeting of district supervisors in Goldsboro January 8-10.

Mr. Bunch is on the state legislative committee and is to introduce a recommendation that N. C. drainage law (139) be revised to make them more adaptable to small watershed projects. Mr. Bunch says the present law is too general and out-dated for present use.

Frankly Speaking

By FRANK ROBERTS

Movie Notes: "Twist Around The Clock" came near to breaking attendance records at the Taylor Theatre. The next presentation concerning this dance craze will be "Hey, Let's Twist," filmed right in the famous Peppermint Lounge in New York City. It'll be at the Taylor beginning the 14th. Two years ago Frank Sinatra started his own record company, Reprise Records. Last year he started his own movie production company and their commendable first effort, "X-15," will be at the Taylor Theatre in another week. Part of the movie "Back Street" consists of nothing less than a $100,000 fashion show. Kieron Moore, who portrays a fiendish doctor in "Doctor Blood's Coffin," actually was a medical student in Dublin. When you see Walt Disney's "Gretel's Bobby" come supplied with a good selection of handkerchiefs. This true story concerns a little boy in Edinburgh, Scotland, who kept a devoted 14 year vigil at his master's grave. A quote, I won't disagree with, via Bob Hope: "What this country needs is another comedy maestro of the old Mack Sennett stripe." For sure. In case you missed "The Hustler," that pool game, figuratively speaking, lasted 26 hours.

Other Notes: Commercial still photographers who used to use the Central Park Zoo in New York City as a background for their work, now have to pay a fee for taking snapshots of the zoo animals.

The famed folk-singing group, The Weavers was barred from appearing on the Jack Paar show recently because its members refused to take loyalty oaths, as demanded by NBC.

Speaking of NBC, its board chairman, Robert Sarnoff, has recently taken the press to task for the rather incongruous act of urging the narrowest possible concept of freedom of the press. It seems that the editor of the Wall Street Journal, Bernard Kilgore, is concerned about the weakening of freedom of the press and feels that media should be handled in somewhat the manner the FCC licenses broadcasting media.

Montgomery, Alabama, voting registrars are still demanding an apology from CBS which, on one of their newscasts, depicted the voting registrars as using trickery to keep Negroes from registering successfully. CBS said the voting registrars were derelict in their duties. The registrars demanded an apology, got one, but not to their satisfaction.

Veteran radio and television newsman, Howard K. Smith, has left CBS to join the staff of ABC news. There was a dispute over his interpretations of news events.

Don't think the owners of Time and Life Magazines don't get around. They recently purchased a radio station in San Diego, California. A television station and FM radio station went along with it. Time and Life already own radio and television stations in Indianapolis, Grand Rapids and Minneapolis and have a financial interest in a television station in Lebanon. They also co-produce television shows for the German speaking market.

A CBS correspondent, Edmund Gress, was arrested, questioned and deported from Portugal because police authorities objected to his coverage of Lisbon reaction to the Goa incident. So far, no comment from either CBS or the Portuguese government.

Closing Thought: Agree, for the law is costly.

Girl Scout And Brownie News

By DINAH WHITE

The Girl Scouts met at the Parish House on Monday. Both patrols chose new officers. Afterwards our teacher quizzed us to see if we could remember our laws. We had a good time.
