SCHOOL AND YOUR CHILD By John Corey, Appalachian State Teachers College

Send Your Child to Nursery School If You Can A person may become successful without attending nursery school in his early years, just as he may become successful without going to college in his late adolescent years.

for nearly a million youngsters, beginning at age two or earlier. Most education experts agree that almost all children three to four years of age would benefit from nursery school—providing the schools are good ones. This last point is important. The wise parent will check carefully on the school before sending little Junior.

Usually the value of a nursery to a two-year-old depends on the school's program for children of this particular age and the adjustability of the youngster.

Should a nursery be too expensive or not available to your child, educators suggest that you try to provide the experiences and materials that help a preschooler grow.

Nurseries at churches offer wonderful experiences for children. Make available toys and equipment that Junior can successfully handle or manipulate at his age.

Make Church - Going a Habit

Sunday School Lesson

ONE GOD International Sunday School Lesson for January 14, 1962.

Memory Selection: "No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or he will be devoted to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon." (Matt. 6:24).

Lesson Text: Exodus 20:1-3; Deuteronomy 6:4-9; Matthew 6:24; John 14:1-yl.

Today's lesson is the first in a series dealing with "A Christian's Relationships to God." Our purpose in this series is to examine the first four of the Ten Commandments in order to help us discover the eternal principles underlying a Christian's relation to God.

The problem of serving two masters is difficult when people are aware of the existence of two different forces claiming allegiance in life. The problem takes on its most acute aspect when the dual loyalty is at work and we are unaware of it. Moses had been faced with two problems having to do with loyalty. The loyalty to the

Will A Penny Do? What is she thinking about, as she watches the flickering candle flame? There is a far away look in her eyes that makes one wonder. Yet, if she were offered a penny for her thoughts, she would probably only shrug and say, "Oh, nothing," in that maddening little way children have.

Watching her absorbed in her reverie is like an illustration of how closed one mind is from another. No one can ever know completely what another person is thinking. A thought expressed out loud all too often leaves something out of the telling. And most thoughts are never expressed at all.

Even should we wish to, we cannot entirely share our minds with one another. But we can share them with God. In the Church we can find the way to tell Him all our hopes, our fears, our loves, our angers, our pride, our pain.

Go to church this Sunday—and turn your own thoughts into prayer.
