

Robert Evans Points Out Law Regarding Boating Equipment

"Before you take your boat out for a spin on North Carolina waters, be sure that everything aboard, including the certificate of registration, is in proper legal order," says R. E. Evans, wildlife protector in Chowan County.

Mr. Evans said that carbon tetrachloride fire extinguishers and others of the toxic vaporizing-liquid type such as chlorobromomethane are no longer approvable equipment as of January 1, 1962. The U. S. Coast Guard withdrew approval of this equipment effective December 6, 1958, but allowed use of these extinguishers until January 1 of this year in order that boatmen could replace them with approved foam, carbon dioxide or dry chemical types.

He also reminded boat owners that only Coast Guard approvable lifesaving devices would be considered as legal equipment. Life-saving equipment that cannot be Coast Guard approved will not satisfy legal requirements, and will be dealt with accordingly.

"For their own safety," he says, "boaters must obtain ap-

Joe Conger Urges Writing Letters

When Governor Sanford viewed construction of the Virginia Cape's bridge-tunnel under construction he said, "Our highway planners are studying all the possibilities. What we can do is limited only by how we can cooperate with Virginia. We are ready to cooperate."

"There is nothing Governor Sanford can do to help this immediate area industrially and economically more than to give us this road," Conger said. "Virginia is moving rapidly to seek a way for providing essential approach roads to the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel. It is apparent that the Virginia Highway Department will build a new road south to the North Carolina line connecting with the bridge-tunnel. If this area is to benefit by the thousands of tourists who will move into our area after the completion of the bridge-tunnel, we must be able to provide them with adequate highways and our present highways are insufficient to handle the expected increase. This is still another reason why citizens of Chowan should write the following highway commissioners and urge construction of this new road: J. Gilliam Wood, First Division Highway Commissioner, Edenton; Graham Elliott, president of Elliott Chevrolet Co., Washington, N. C.; D. G. Bell, Morehead City, and Lauch Faircloth, Clinton.

"If copies of these letters are sent to Merrill Evans, Chairman of the Highway Commission, they will be even more effective."

Coleman Andrews Flays Communism

Continued from Page 1, Section 1 Andrews pointed out the rapid spread of communism which, he said, now includes a third of the world's population under its domination. He also stated that he learned that communists infiltrated the government in 1953 proved lifesaving devices, and citations will be issued for using improper lifesaving equipment. State and federal laws are explicit about boat numbers and citations will be issued to operators of improperly numbered boats. The number assigned to the boat and no other shall be painted on or attached to the bow and must be distinctly visible and clearly legible. The letters and numerals must be of plain block design, not less than three inches high, and of a color which will distinctly contrast with the background. White letters and numbers bordered in black don't qualify when used on a light colored background. If these bordered letters and numbers are used on dark backgrounds, the light-colored visible portion must be at least three inches high.

"Also, between the prefix, the numerals and the suffix, the law requires a hyphen or a space equal to a letter or numeral other than 1 or I.

"Enforcement officers will be watching for compliance with all these requirements which make motorboating safer, more pleasant and more orderly."

when he was U. S. Internal Revenue Commissioner and that the situation has grown worse with very little done about it.

Andrews said Fabian socialism is to overthrow capitalism and that America is waking up from a 30-year binge of turning away from the Constitution. "The present conservative trend is not against the government but the usurpers," he said. He further charged that Fabian socialism is to brand anyone who declares his love of God and country as an extremist. He further criticized the lack of moral fiber of today's people and emphasized the need for a sense of right and wrong beginning with the individual and extending to religion, education, the military and government.
