

WITH THE FARM WOMEN

By MAIDRED MORRIS

Floor Care
What kind of care do your floors get? Mrs. Patricia Edwards, assistant home economics agent in Wilson County, says they have been studying types of waxes for different floor coverings.

"Floor protectors, including furniture cups and protector pins for legs, were shown to the group," she said.

Electric Group Tours
Members of the Burke County 4-H electric club recently found refrigerators and freezers are better insulated and the walls are now thinner than the older models. They found this to be true during their tour of some appliance centers.

According to Mrs. Sylvia Warren, assistant home economics agent, the 4-H'ers were shown the newest models of equipment and were interested in new features of the appliances.

Lamps Used In Decorating Scheme

Fourteen women in Lee County have recently made and renovated lamps. Mrs. Walter Scoggins, Sanford, Rt. 8, used a green shell which she cleaned and wired for an attractive den lamp. Mrs. J. H. Worthy, Sanford, Rt. 1, restored two kerosene lamps, which were family heirlooms, into lamps for the living room.

Miss Estelle Doyle, home economics agent, estimates that the women saved around $135 on the lamps they made.

Refinished Furniture
Mrs. J. S. Davenport, Columbia, Rt. 1, has combined the old with the new. She has just refinished an old drop leaf desk which has been in the family for years.

Mrs. Ann Davenport, home economics agent, says the Tyrrell County homemaker is now using the desk in her new home business center which she has just organized.

The Professional Look In Sewing
After commenting that their home sewing looked too "plain",

Miss June Street, home economics agent in Yancey County, arranged for a special workshop for learning to get that professional look in sewing.

The home seamstresses received some helpful information on how to add a decorative touch which really gives garments a more finished look. They were eager to get helpful hints for improving their sewing ability.

Family Life Week
Members of the White Plains Home Demonstration Club in Surry County recently visited homes of the sick in the community. Miss Ella Hampton, home economics agent, said each lady was presented a corsage and a box of candy.

Mrs. P. N. Taylor, club president, said they made the visits in observance of family life week.

Women Urged To Support Party

Democratic Women to participate in arrangements for the First District Democratic Rally to be held here October 9.

Tom Shepard, chairman of the District I registration campaign, called for the cooperation of the women in securing the registration of Democrats in Chowan County.

Mrs. C. A. Phillips, president, appointed Mrs. Tom Hopkins, Mrs. A. S. Bush and Mrs. Elwood Nixon on the nominating committee. Mrs. Hurley Winborne is the new secretary.

Members were invited to attend the State Democratic Women's Convention in Asheville October 5-6.

Johnny Winborne read an essay, "Why Should You Support a Political Party," which is entered in the Teen-Dem contest with winners to be announced at the Gov. Aycock Dinner in Asheville.

Other guests were James Bond, Joe Thorud and George A. Byrum, members of the Chowan Executive Committee.
