Bonner Approves Kennedy Action

Similar To Proposal He Advanced September 20

Congressman Herbert C. Bonner expressed his satisfaction at the action of President Kennedy in barring ships carrying arms to Cuba from United States ports.

He pointed out that the President's action was designed to accomplish the same purpose as the amendment proposed by him on September 20, 1962 to the Foreign Aid bill, which would have prohibited foreign aid to countries whose ships were engaged in traffic with Cuba.

"The time has come," he said, "to deal firmly with the situation before it becomes a menace not only to the welfare of the United States, but the peace of the Western Hemisphere."

"Under the obligations assumed by us in the Monroe Doctrine, we must bear the burden of protecting the continents of North and South America from Communist aggression, and the most effective means of doing so is to prevent the delivery of war materials to the potential aggressor."

The veteran First District Congressman pointed out that in the recent past, with the rise of the Castro government and the increased support given by Russia to that dictatorship there has been a very substantial increase in the number of cargoes carried by our allies' vessels in the cause of Communism. During the period from June to August, 1962, a total of 169 merchant ships flying the flags of 20 free countries made a total of 185 trips to Cuba. Of this number 29 per cent of the owner were from the United Kingdom, with 34 per cent of the vessels involved. Thirteen per cent of the owners were from Germany, with 12 per cent of the vessels; and 13 per cent from Norway with 9 per cent of the vessels. In addition, flags of 17 other recent countries of American generosity were represented in the trade in smaller measure.

"To add insult to injury," Congressman Bonner said, "a number of the vessels engaged in that trade after discharging their made in Russia" cargoes in Cuba proceeded to ports in the United States to pick up government aided cargoes for the return voyage."

Congressman Bonner, who is chairman of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, concerned with merchant marine and shipping matter, revealed these facts on October 2, in an appearance before the House Select Committee on Export Control, under the chairmanship of Congressman Paul Kitchin of North Carolina. Mr. Kitchin has just concluded a two-day probe into national security aspects of the Cuban supply situation.
