SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

creation. Within the limits God has placed upon his freedom, man can determine his destiny by his choices.

In his best moments man has always distinguished between the good and the bad, between the beautiful and the ugly, between the true and the false. Man is a creature of dignity because he can grow in his appreciation of the good and the beautiful and the true. Since he has been made in the image of God, he can grow in those qualities that belong to God himself.

In the light of man's dominion over every living thing that moves upon the earth we are faced with an important question. How does man's special privilege of dominion relate to the sovereignty of God? We must always realize that man's dignity and power do not belong to him by nature, but are a direct gift from God. Thus man is free to exercise his power of dominion only within the framework of the sovereignty of God.

Since we have been made in the image of God, we should never speak disparagingly of any human being, not even ourselves. The Christian gospel speaks of the greatness of man—a greatness not of his own achieving, but a gift of God.

The Scripture reminds us that man has sinned and falls short of the glory of God. If man had been true to the high nature with which God endowed him, he would have fulfilled God's purpose in creation. But he turned away from obedience to God to follow his own rebellious impulses. The image of God in him was blurred and broken.

The Bible keeps reminding us that we can never be content until we are true to our highest nature—to the great thoughts and lofty impulses given us at the time of creation. The great theme of the Bible from the beginning to the end is God's loving concern for his people, even though they are sinners, and his persistent effort to bring them back into fellowship with him.

Through our fellowship with God we come into a meaningful relationship without another Jesus spoke of two great commandments—love to God and love to man. Jesus told us that the only way to overcome anxiety and conflict in our loyalties is to fill our minds and hearts with the concerns of the kingdom of God. Then all else will take its proper place.

Incentive Price For Wool Is Announced

Program Scheduled to Be Changed to Calendar Year Basis

A shorn wool incentive price of 62 cents per pound has been announced for the period beginning next April. The mohair support price will be 76 cents per pound. The incentive price for shorn wool is the same as for the first eight years of the program; the mohair price is up two cents from the level for the 1962 marketing year.

Beginning next April, the marketing year under the wool program is being changed from an April 1 - March 31 period to a calendar year basis, in line with recommendations from producers. In making this transition, the 1963 marketing year will be a 9-month one—from April 1 through December 31, 1963. After 1963, the marketing year will be on a 12-month calendar year basis.

Payments to producers for the 1963 marketing year will follow the same methods employed for the current 1962 year. Shorn wool payments will be equal to a percentage of each producer's cash returns from wool sales. The percentage will be that required to raise the national average price received by all producers for shorn wool up to the incentive price of 62 cents a pound.

Support for pulled wool is provided by means of payments to producers who sell lambs that have never been shorn. The payments will be a rate per hundredweight of live animals marketed to compensate for the wool on them on a basis comparable to the national average shorn wool.

With the marketing year ending December 31, payments for the 1963 and later marketing years will be made beginning in April following the close of the year rather than beginning in July, as in the past.

Payments made in July under the national wool program were for the 1961 marketing year. Current marketings of wool and lamb (from April 1, 1962 through March 31, 1963) may qualify for the payments under the wool program for the 1962 marketing year.
