Farm Plan Revising

Fahey and Carroll Byrum have begun cooperators with the Albemarle Soil and Water Conservation District for several years. In fact a conservation plan was developed for their farms years ago. Farming is like everything else today, it is in a changing world, and our farming needs are changing from day to day. Therefore we have to change or bring our plans up-to-date to meet our present farming needs.

Fahey and Carroll have just revised their plan to bring it up to date. The basic item in their plan is a four year rotation on most of their farm. The four year rotation will begin with corn followed by peanuts, small grain and cotton. On some of the heavier land the plan they developed calls for fescue every fourth year. The roots of fescue will penetrate deep into this tight soil, and help to loosen it up. This will result in higher crop yields in the remaining three years. When seeding the small grain in the fall the fescue can be mixed right in with it and this will give you a crop of grain off of this land at the same time you have the fescue on it. The fescue is also used by them for cattle grazing.

Deadline on ACP Practices

The 1962 Agricultural Conservation Program will end on December 31, 1962. All of the practices that assistance has been requested on will have to be finished by this date. Pasture seeding and cover crops will have to be in and reported to the ASCS office by November 20th.

To meet this deadline some practices such as open ditches and tile should be done as soon as possible, because there is not enough contractors to do this work in 3 or 4 weeks time. Open ditches will need to be cleared of trees and brush so that SCS Technicians can stake and survey them before they are cut. On tile drains, crops will need to be harvested and outlet ditches provided before it can be staked and surveyed. If you are planning to do either of these practices you will need to get this work done and let SCS Technicians know when your job is ready to stake and survey. They in turn will schedule the first day possible to do the survey work for you.

Many Turn Out At Halloween Party

Members of the band will follow, after which there will be a minute of silent prayer. The invocation will be by the Rev. R. N. Carroll, pastor of the Edenton Baptist Church. The welcome will be made by William S. Privott, who will also recognize guests, make a few remarks and introduce the speaker.

The principal speaker for the event will be John W. Graham, who will make an appropriate address in connection with the observance. Following the address by Mr. Graham, the colors will be retired and the benediction will be by the Rev. Van Crawford, pastor of the Methodist Church.

As a climax to the observance, a supper will be served Legionnaires and Auxiliary members at the Legion building.

Ed Bond Post is joining over 16,000 Legion organizations throughout the nation and overseas in observing Veterans Day, so that it is hoped a large number will assemble at the Court House Green for the program.
