

Edenton Is Represented At 'North Carolina Day' Held In New York Tuesday

10 Local Leaders De- part In Three Groups To Attend Elaborate Luncheon

Edenton was well represented at "North Carolina Day" Tuesday when 10 local men were on hand as guests at a luncheon held at the Sales Executives Club of New York. Harry R. White, executive director of the club, said the "North Carolina Day" luncheon was the largest ever held. It was reported that guests at the luncheon included 1,320, of whom about 700 were North Carolinians, who attended the luncheon at their own expense.

The Edenton group also invited the treasurer of the Continental Baking Company of Rye, N. Y., to join the local delegation.

Governor Terry Sanford was one of the speakers at the luncheon during which he pointed out the desire and advantages of industries.

The Edenton delegation was very much enthused about the trip to New York in that appointments had been made with several prospects and individual realtors.

Stamp Will Be Unveil- ed In Ceremony at Nation's Capitol To- day at 11:30 A. M.

Edenton people were right much enthused early this week when it was learned that the new Carolina Charter commemorative stamp will go on sale for the first time in Edenton Saturday, April 6. This first day sale has been arranged to coincide with the observance of Carolina Charter Tercentenary.

The stamp marks the 300th anniversary of Charles II's grant of land to eight lords proprietors who helped him regain the throne of England. Edenton, one of the state's earliest settlements, was chosen for the stamp's dedication by the Charter Tercentenary Commission.

The design of the stamp is scheduled to be shown at the United States Capitol today (Thursday). The 5-cent stamp will be unveiled by Postmaster General J. Edward Day at 11:30 A. M. Present for the ceremony will be Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, former Governor of North Carolina, and Governor Terry Sanford.

Collectors who want first day cancellations of the stamp are requested to send an addressed envelope, with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed to the Edenton postmaster, J. L. Chestnutt. The envelope should be marked in pencil in the upper right hand corner indicating the number of stamps to be affixed. The outside envelope should be marked "First Day Covers Carolina Charter Stamp". Requests for first day covers should not be sent to the Philatelic Sales Agency in Washington.

Arrangements are already on foot when the stamp goes on sale in Edenton on April 6. Many prominent people are expected to be on hand for the occasion.

Many Eastern Star Dignitaries Meet In Edenton Monday Night

Over 100 members of the Order of the Eastern Star gathered at the local Masonic Temple Monday night when an official visit was made by Grand Matron Mary Smith Carter and Robert F. Spence, Grand Patron.

Many prominent visitors attended the meeting from the eastern part of the state as well as Virginia. Included among the visitors were Rita Henley and Ella Mae Stokes, past grand matrons; Lydia Cooke, past grand matron of Virginia; Margaret Tillett, grand warder; Emil Hamm, grand sentinel of Virginia; Aubrey Kirkwood, district deputy grand matron and Obed Reynolds, district deputy grand patron of the First District; Ruth Basnight, district deputy grand matron and Hilton Dunbar, district deputy grand patron of the Second District; and the following grand representatives: Annie Laurie Mullen, Delaware; Alma Spence, Pennsylvania; Josephine Twiford, Illinois; and Margaret Bell, District of Columbia. Worthy matrons and worthy patrons from many Chapters were also present.

During the meeting Mrs. Carter and Mr. Spence made very inspiring addresses pointing out the friendship and brotherly love among Eastern Star members and the work of the organization in the state as a whole. An appropriate program was presented during the meeting in honor of Mrs. Carter and Mr. Spence. Prior to the meeting an elaborate buffet dinner was served and after the meeting the group met in the dining room for light refreshments and enjoyed singing, led by C. W. Overman.
