Pretty Reminder Of Nickels For Know How Referendum

Jeanne Swanner, Miss North Carolina of 1963, reminds Tar Heel farm families of an important day coming up on Tuesday, November 19. That is the day farm people will vote on their Nickels for Know-How program. Through this self-help effort, they donate one nickel to agricultural research and education for each ton of feed or fertilizer they purchase. The program was started by farm people in 1951. The vote on November 19 will determine if the program is to be continued another three years.—Photo by Landis Bennett.

her two years as president of the District was also displayed.

Mrs. W. J. P. Earnhardt, Community Improvement Committee chairman, will represent the club at the North Carolina Antiquities Society meeting in Raleigh December 5 during Cultural Week. She has been invited to give a 5-minute talk on the club's beautification and preservation projects.

The club endorsed a request by the Shepard-Pruden Memorial Library Association that the Municipal Building be used for the library, if the building becomes available.

W. J. P. Earnhardt, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Tourist Committee, requested the club to contribute to the Area Highway Association to advertise this section with billboards and brochures.

The Halloween party was reported a great success and the John A. Holmes High School Tri-Hi-Y collected $50 for UNICEF.

Robert H. Ward of Raleigh, director of public assistance of the North Carolina State Board of Public Welfare, was introduced by Mrs. J. H. McMullan, Chowan County director of public welfare.

Mr. Ward explained that public welfare work began in 1935 as a result of Social Security. According to him, the program in North Carolina was organized in 1937. He explained the three categories in which public assistance is given. They are families with dependent children, old age assistance and assistance to those permanently and totally disabled.

Six new members were inducted into the club. They were Mrs. John Lavezzo, Mrs. David Wright, Mrs. Stephen Long, Mrs. David Redfield, Mrs. Hiram Weeks and Mrs. Charles Tysor. Mrs. J. Graves Vann was welcomed as a transfer member from the Sparta Club.

BROAD STREET BULLETIN

By KATE

Another beautiful day, which makes me want to dig in the yard, go fishing or just plain be outside, a day which makes me glad to be alive and in excellent health. To feel well and healthy is quite a blessing, not much else is needed.

Notes Of The Week

Clean Slate Note: A fortune cookie purchased in one of New York's leading restaurants yielded this message: "Please ignore previous fortunes."

For First Aid Treatment of Household Burns: Ice-cold water, plus an antiseptic agent.

Men who drink five or more cups of coffee per day are more likely to have heart attacks than those who don't, according to a news report from the American Medical Association.

Another very gracious lady in Edenton is Mrs. Annie (Philip) McMullan. She never seems too busy to be interested in people and to be especially nice to all. Her smile and friendly manner is known to most everyone and it is always a pleasure to meet her. How nice it is to know people like her!

Household Hints

Use a small paint brush or a tooth brush to dust carved furniture. Just spray it or dip it in your favorite polish, then dust the hard-to-get-to places.

Use a pastry brush to grease your waffle iron and your first waffle will not stick.

To measure shortening without smearing, heat a measuring cup first and then measure and the shortening will fall out the cup without leaving any sticky goo. This will also work when measuring molasses.

Put some vinegar in a bottle and label "For Cleaning Purposes Only." It will always be handy for the many cleaning purposes of vinegar.

This Is The Law

By ROBERT E. LEE (for the N. C. Bar Association)

Nature Of Safe Deposit Boxes

What is the legal relation created when a person rents a safe deposit box in the vault of a bank?

Most courts in recent years have classified the transaction as a bailment. The bank is the bailee and the customer is the bailor.

Although the transaction would seem to be lacking some of the requisites of the customary bailment, the courts have not hesitated to apply generally to the relationship of the parties the ordinary legal principles governing bailments.

The bank has control of the vault and the general premises, but the contents of the box or drawer that you have rented is usually unknown to the officers or employees of the bank. They do not have a key that will give to them access to the box or drawer.

Under the usual arrangement it requires the use of two keys to gain entrance to a safe deposit box; one held by the bank and the other by you.

Some people think that the bank has a key that will open all boxes. This is not true. The turn of the bank's key merely fixes the lock so that your key will work.

If the key to the box is lost, there is no way to unlock your box. The bank will have to "drill" the lock, or have a locksmith enter by force, and install a new one. You will be required to bear the expense. Most banks give to their customers two keys, exactly alike, at the time the box is leased.

What is the liability of the bank for theft or damage to the contents of a safe deposit box?

The bank is not an absolute insurer as to the safety of the contents of the box.

It is liable only when it has failed to exercise ordinary care.

Most banks employ elaborate instrumentalities, both animate and inanimate, to protect the property in the safe deposit boxes of their customers. The fact that cases of loss or damage have so seldom been before the courts is a striking testimony to the efficiency of banks in safeguarding the property in their vaults.

Men well governed should seek after no other liberty, for there can be no greater liberty than a good government.

—Sir Walter Raleigh.

of the board, read a letter of resignation from Mrs. Margie Ford, president, in which she stated that she would be leaving Edenton due to her husband's transfer to Lexington, Virginia. will have a representative, either a lay person or pastor, on the Executive Committee. The amendments also changed the title of the Promotional Secretary to Superintendent of Missions. The Rev. Robert S. Harrell, a native of Edenton, is serving in this capacity.

A record budget of $16,422.00 was unanimously adopted for the work of the association. Included in this amount was $3,000 for the Kitty Hawk Chapel on the beach and $2,000 for the initial development of Camp Cale, a 75-acre tract of land owned by the association and located on the Perquimans River.

Each church was encouraged to contribute to this over-all budget on the basis of $1.15 per total member.

The association authorized its trustees to borrow up to $17,000 for the construction of a chapel building near Kitty Hawk on the lot now owned by the association. It is hoped that all necessary planning and arrangements can be completed in time to construct this building by the last of May, 1964.

New areas of work to be begun or considered during the next year include a literacy workshop, scheduled for March, the establishment of two Seminary Extension Centers for pastors and laymen, fuller cooperation with the Albemarle Council on Migratory Labor in the ministry to migrants, and mission Vacation Bible Schools.

The Chowan Baptist Association is made up of 58 Baptist churches located in the ten counties of Northeastern North Carolina. Through voluntary cooperation, these churches make possible the program of work of the Chowan Association. Through the cooperative program and certain designated gifts these churches, along with all the others affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention, make possible a world-wide ministry of evangelism, missions and education.
