

Rocky Hock Section News

The second of those "family outings" by Rocky Hock folks resulted in a good night of fellowship and fun at the Chowan High School ball park this past Monday night. The "older folks" playing against the "youngsters" makes for an interesting game of ball and some interesting plays. About 75 were in attendance for the games and the fun connected with it last week and we heard this may get to be a regular thing. We don't know that this is "official" but have heard it rumored that this is another Rocky Hock Brotherhood project. If this is true, then we owe them another vote of thanks!

And, by the way, most of those folks who passed back by the Oak Grove community found the "Hickory Burger" going full swing. The Moseleys may have to hire some "extras" if the first week of operation is any indication of how popular this eating place is going to be. We have sampled the "hickory burger" and it is delicious, but we hear there is also barbecued chicken, steak, hot dogs, French fries and all the trimmings to go along. Looks like "Chub's" old customers will be beating a path to this door to sample the good eating.

Jimmy writes this week that he will be helping in a Bible school on an Indian reservation out in North Dakota during the next little while. It sounds like he is getting to do a lot of different work on his trip this summer. He will be returning home around the end of July, then I suppose he will want his "vacation."

The few ladies in attendance at the general meeting of the WMS last Wednesday evening wondered out loud if it is worth while to keep organizations and meetings going when so few ever show any interest or concern. This is not only true of the mission organization but also of the Training Union where less than 50 people out of a total membership of over 700 ever show any interest in training themselves for the work of the Lord. Guess we need to remind ourselves that the Lord just asks us to be faithful and do our best. We don't have an answer for all those who are unfaithful and disinterested. We do wonder sometimes how people can treat the "most important work in the world" so lightly when all the trivial little things they find themselves engaged in will be of such short duration. This will be that full week when circles, Sunbeams, GA's, RA's and Brotherhood will be meeting. Inabelle Coleman Circle at the church on Monday, Bett Ann Harrell met with Mrs. Norman Lee Bass and Audrey Gordon Circle with Mrs. Loren Burch on Monday also. Emm Harrell group at Nellie Gardner's home on Tuesday night also the Bertha Dale Circle at Mrs. Earl Smith's and Ruth Swan Circle at Mrs. Murray Bass.

Wednesday the Sunbeams were meeting at the church in the afternoon and at 8 the Prayer Hour, Junior GA's 1 and 2, Crusader and Pioneer Chapters of RA's at the same time and the choir following. To night (Thursday) the Brotherhood meeting at the Rocky Hock Community Building with barbecued chicken supper at 7. Sammy Byrum has the program for tonight. Also the Annie Leary Circle meets with Mrs. Martha Nixon tonight.

Because of the deadline for publication is several days previous to the day the paper comes to you, the news gets a little twisted and complicated sometime in writing on the week-end for publication or Thursday. Actually you realize that sometimes we are a week behind in the reporting of events. For instance, at this writing, our family is preparing to go to Western North Carolina on Monday and Tuesday where the pastor will be attending his executive meetings and the General Board meeting on those days. Lynn and I will visit the "newlyweds" for the two days and see Tippy who has been "spending the summer in the mountains with David and Ruth." But when you get your paper and you read that we "are preparing" to attend this, I hope you realize that these dates are already behind us and we are already back home from this meeting. Confusing, isn't it?

Last Friday completed the 11 hours of training that I had been giving to my "teacher" trainees in the adult literacy work. We certainly hope they will be others volunteering to help teach adult non-readers in our Chowan center. We have two students coming two nights a week at the present time and Mrs. Paulette Lane has been giving this instruction and finds the students responding very well.

Two of our YWA girls that attended the World Missions Week last week, Jeanette and Frances Nixon, took this literacy training during their house party and both agreed that it was fascinating. We may have to put them both to work.

Phil Long was the only RA boy from Rocky Hock attending Camp Cale RA camp last week but he had enough fun for two or three boys, he said. Maybe there will be more when the next opportunity presents itself.

If the neighbors wondered where the "giggles" were coming from on Friday night, that was a "pajama party" upstairs at the parlorium. Debra Long, Gail Nixon, Sheryl Harrell, Brenda Smith and Lynette Boyce spent the night with Lynn and enjoyed a cook-out for supper which the man of the house hosted.

We're in favor of the kind of wedding that took place on Sunday afternoon at Bethel Church, when Wallace Evans and Linda Kirby were married. When one of "our" boys marries outside the community, it usually means we gain a fine couple instead of losing one of our own to another community. Wallace and Linda will be living in the house formerly occupied by the Leon Byrums.

Didn't you like the "new look" as well as the "new sound" of the choir on Sunday morning? More on this subject later on!

Comments which surrounded North Carolina Agricultural Washington — The flurry of problems as the gubernatorial primary ended needs to be put in perspective.

I have always been conscious of the importance of agriculture to the economy of North Carolina. I have voted and fought for every measure to make the lives of those who live on our farms more abundant. My support of farm programs began when I took the oath of office as a United States Senator. It has continued unceasingly since then. In March of this year, I successfully led the fight for the tobacco farmer against the Williams Amendment to the Cotton-Wheat Bill which would have eliminated tobacco from the Federal agricultural program. I have repeatedly battled for tobacco farmers, cotton growers, textile workers and their employers to iron out difficult export problems which have been of concern for years. I have supported all phases of research which would benefit our agriculture program and particularly cancer research.

As I view it, the most serious problem for the tobacco grower, the tobacco worker, and the tobacco industry arises out of the Federal Trade Commission's order, issued last week, which specifies that every container in which cigarettes are sold to the consuming public must bear a label reciting that cigarette smoking is dangerous to health and may cause death from cancer and other diseases.

I respectfully submit that the ruling of the Federal Trade Commission is unfair and unjust and should be forthwith contested by the tobacco companies in the Federal courts. This ruling asserts as a fact something which has not been established by adequate proof or reliable medical research. The next logical step in this battle would be to contest the FTC ruling in the courts. If this ruling is not annulled by the courts, I shall seek to obtain a satisfactory legislative solution.

Much has been said about the Georgia tobacco case and its effect upon the price-support program. That case does not challenge the Federal statutes which set up the tobacco program, nor does it challenge the price-support system, nor is it an attack on the validity of this program. The three Georgia tobacco growers who sued the Secretary of Agriculture sought greater benefits under the program than the order of the Secretary would have permitted. The growers' contention was that the Secretary had no valid reason to order a 10% cut in acreage allotments for Type 14 tobacco. The court order enjoining the Secretary from enforcement of his order has been stayed until the matter can be heard upon its merits. A 5th Circuit Court of Appeals ruling is expected sometime in the late fall. I am hopeful that the Court will hold that there was no valid ground for the original issuance of the injunction. As I have sought to indicate all along, the matter now resides in the courts where it should be determined by that branch of government. Should the court render a decision which adversely affects the tobacco program, then it will become a matter for consideration by the Congress. I shall be standing shoulder to shoulder with the North Carolina Congressional Delegation to promote useful legislation in that event.

I wish to assure the people of North Carolina that I plan to continue my unceasing efforts to promote the best interests of our State, and that includes the welfare of our farmers.

Mrs. Bell's Mother Dies In Washington

Mrs. Lola Haste Miller, 85, died Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. H. Noll, in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Miller was a native of Edenton, the widow of Thomas W. Miller. She lived in Edenton until about 35 years ago when she and her husband moved to Washington.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. P. Watson Bell of Edenton and Mrs. L. H. Noll of Washington.

Burial will be today (Thursday) in the Fort Lincoln Cemetery in Washington.

All too often we are giving young people cut flowers when we should be teaching them to grow their own plants.

John W. Gardner.
