

70 Pullets Sold At Show And Sale

Sell at an Average Price of $2.01 Each Friday

The 70 pullets exhibited by seven 4-H'ers on Friday, September 25 at the fourth annual Show and Sale held at the Edenton Army, showed a decided improvement in the quality of pullets exhibited the last three previous years.

Of the ten pens of seven pullets exhibited, six pens were placed in the blue ribbon class and four in the red ribbon class. Boys and girls exhibiting blue ribbon pens were: Peggie Taylor, Marvin Parks, Doris Holley, Johnny Rountree and Lewis Rountree, all of the Hudson Grove community. Boys and girls exhibiting pullets in the red ribbon class were: Larry Ganby of the St. John Club and David Rountree of the Hudson Grove Club.

The 70 pullets, auctioned off to the highest bidders, sold for an average of $2.01 each. This money will be used to purchase 500 more day-old chicks next spring for other boys and girls. The pullet chain, sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, was started in Chowan County in 1961. Since that time 33 4-H boys have participated in the program.

committee presented the budget for this year and it was accepted by the club.

As the club's program theme for this year is "Responsibility of Full Partnership To The Youth of Our Community," the certain items included in the budget for the benefit of youth was stressed by Mrs. Dale as follows: Scholarship fund which will present two scholarship awards to a senior at John A. Holmes' and Chowan High Schools; also a fund for the Teenage Club and John A. Holmes Band.

Members of the Finance Committee helping present the program were Maggie Dale, Carolyn Ricks, Goldie Niblett and Myrtle Cuthrell.

The next meeting will be held Thursday night, October 15.

All members were urged to attend the area meeting October 17 and 18 in New Bern.

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

BY GEORGE HAGEDORN

INCREASED SAVINGS

One of the most interesting, and unexpected, of recent economic developments has been the increase in the rate of personal saving. During the second quarter of 1964 individuals saved 8.2 percent of their total income after taxes. This is the highest percentage recorded in the past 6 years.

The 8.2 percent compares with a 6.8 percent savings rate in the same quarter of 1963. The gain may not seem spectacular, but to achieve this individuals had to save one-quarter of the increase in their total incomes over the year.

Savings and Taxes

This has occurred while the economy has been gaining upward momentum. The combination of a general economic rise with an increase in the savings rate suggests a new look at some previously accepted theories.

When the tax cut was first being discussed, Administration witnesses argued that what was most needed was an increase in consumer demand—and that this could be achieved by cutting personal income taxes. When the objection was raised that the increased demand could be frustrated if people saved rather than spent their gains from tax reduction, the Administration spokesmen answered that this was an unlikely development. People could be relied on, they said, to continue spending the same old percentage of their after-tax incomes.

Well, for the time being at least people are saving an unexpectedly large part of their gain from tax reduction. But, strangely, this seems not to have slowed down the general economic upsurge. Apparently there is something wrong with the underlying notion that a high savings rate is bad for business in that it detracts from consumer demand.

Restraints Inflation

In fact, the increase in savings has helped to restrain inflation during this period of rising economic activity. Capital outlays by business have been increasing rapidly. To the extent that they can be financed, by drawing on voluntary savings, inflationary increases of bank credit can be avoided.

The increase in the savings rate may be only temporary. That is to say it may give us protection from inflation only for an interim period. But even what has happened so far has an important bearing on economic

Mizelle Added To Police Department

Sworn In Tuesday of Last Week By Mayor John Mitchener

Gussie Wayne Mizelle was sworn in by Mayor John Mitchener Tuesday morning of last week as a patrolman with the Edenton Police Department. Mizelle replaces George Boyce, who resigned to return home with the Elizabeth City Police Department.

Mizelle is 24 years old and married to the former Ellen Smithwick of Bath County. They have three children and reside on Badham Road. They are Baptists and members of Emmanuel Baptist Church. Mr. Mizelle has been employed as body shop manager for George Chevrolet Company since April of 1961. Chief James H. Griffin says that Mizelle brings the force up to full strength and is very happy to have him as a new member.

DOCTOR KNOWS BEST...

As American as pumpkin pie is the phrase, "Doctor knows best." We all remember this truism from childhood. Yet, in this enlightened day, some people, relatively few in number, attempt to diagnose and treat their own illnesses. A dangerous practice to say the least. Only your physician is qualified to diagnose and prescribe. When medication is required, our prescription department is equipped to serve your needs.
