

New Dormitory For Women At East Carolina College To Be Dedicated To Mrs. Inglis Fletcher On Sunday, Nov. 8

Ceremonies Scheduled To Begin Sunday Afternoon at 3:30; Picture to Be Unveiled By Granddaughter

Formal dedication ceremonies for Inglis Fletcher Hall, new seven-story women's dormitory at East Carolina College, will be held at Greenville on Sunday, November 8, with Mrs. Fletcher as guest of honor.

Dedicatory services will be held in the spacious first floor parlor with officials of the college and Mrs. Fletcher's granddaughter, Carolista Fletcher of Chapel Hill, as participants.

The granddaughter, a recent graduate of East Carolina, will unveil a portrait of her grandmother by Fayetteville artist Bill Fields. The portrait has been presented to the college by the novelist and it will hang in Fletcher Hall.

Members of Mrs. Fletcher's family invited to attend the

115 Pints Of Blood Donated At Bloodmobile Friday At Armory

Once again the bloodmobile visit to Edenton proved highly successful. Quota for the visit last Friday was 85 pints, but the Red Cross reports that 115 pints of blood were donated.

One hundred thirty-five came to donate, with some rejected for medical reasons.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce took charge of the bloodmobile visits over a year ago and since that time the blood donations have always topped the quota.

Frank Roberts, who is chairman of the project, especially thanks one of Edenton's newest industries, the George C. Moore Corporation. About 30 members of the Moore concern visited the bloodmobile en masse. Special thanks also to the Rev. F. H. LaGarde, who stressed to his people the importance of donating blood.

The bloodmobile stayed in Edenton almost an hour longer than scheduled to take care of the vast group of donors.

Plans Now Shaping Up For Mass Sabin Polio Vaccination Nov. 15

Final plans for the largest mass immunization program ever staged in Northeastern North Carolina are now taking shape as the First District Medical Society prepares for a nine county Stop Polio Campaign.

By the end of the week we will have more than 500 volunteer citizens—physicians, nurses, Jaycees, school principals, PTA women, ham radio operators and law enforcement officers—related to man 37 public clinic locations in the nine county area to give the first of three doses of Sabin oral polio vaccine on Sunday, November 15," Dr. T. P. Brinn of Hertford, chairman of the project, reports. Dr. Brinn said the campaign will run smoothly and that it will take only a minute to send a resident of one of the counties through a public clinic on Sunday.

Edenton's New Municipal Building

Pictured above is Edenton's new Municipal Building which was recently completed and is now occupied by town officials. The attractive exterior is equally matched by the interior which is very beautiful and attractive throughout. The building provides a spacious Council chamber room, an office for the mayor and town administrator, a room for special or executive meetings of Town Council and an office for the assistant town clerk. The new building also houses the Police Department, which is also very beautiful and up-to-date.

Supper Speaker

Edenton Little Theater Presents Play Nov. 12 And 14 At School

A week from today (Thursday), the Edenton Little Theater will present the old favorite comedy, "Arsenic and Old Lace." It will be presented in the auditorium of the John A. Holmes High School on Thursday and Saturday nights, November 12 and 14 at 8 o'clock.

The comedy centers around the charity work of two old ladies. The charity? Poisoning some lonely old gents. The ladies are portrayed by Fran Mc-Caskill and Catherine Aman. Also prominent in the cast is Wesley Chesson as a dramatic critic and the only sane member of the family (almost). There's lovely Sandra Nixon as his fiancé. Glenn Mabe portrays a Boris Karloff type killer and Frank Roberts as his Peter Lorre type sidekick. West Byrum is cast as a far-from-bright policeman. Charlie Overman is the nuttiest of the brothers, who imagines himself to be Teddy Roosevelt.

Others in the cast include Johnny Goodwin and Paul Twidley as officers only slightly brighter than West Byrum.

Dr. Polk Williams, Dick Lanhman and Sam Bowen round out the cast of "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Tickets are now available at either of the two drug stores or from any member of the Edenton Little Theater.

Bright Future Is Predicted For Proposed Edenton Hall Of Fame

The planned Hall of Fame for Patriots of the Revolution in Edenton has been described as a million dollar tourist attraction. It will rank alongside such Tar Heel "visitor-musts," as Tryon Palace, the Wright Brothers Monument and the battleship North Carolina.

The Hall of Fame, which will be located in Edenton, will spotlight an amphitheatre, a main building columned of majestic proportions, a rotunda showing scenes of the Revolutionary era. Beyond the main building will be a stage and a hand-shell with terraced semi-circular seating. Bands will play during the week and at night various pageants will be presented. Other features will include tavern-type colonial restaurants and a Black-beard tavern. There will be walks leading to an Indian village and nature trails leading to a zoo, featuring animals native to the area. Eventual plans might also include a canal connecting the Hall of Fame with Edenton Bay.

Chowan Democrats Join Landslide For Candidates And Big School Bond Issue

STILL PRESIDENT

NEW GOVERNOR

Voters in Chowan County turned out in record numbers Tuesday to join fellow North Carolinians in the landslide victory of President Lyndon Johnson. Dan K. Moore of Canton was elected Governor by a wide margin and received an overwhelming majority in this Chowan County.

The $100 million school bond issue was approved here by a vote of 1,940 to 407.

Congressman Herbert Bonner picked up 1,985 to 359 for his opponent as he swept to victory and another term representing the First Congressional District. The total vote in Chowan's six precincts was 2,470. This topped the new record established in 1960, when 2,453 voters trekked to the polls.

Although rolling up handsome majorities in Chowan, the Democrats generally did not receive as high a percentage of the vote as in 1960. President Johnson received 1,696 while Senator Barry Goldwater was getting 787. The late President John Kennedy enjoyed a 1,920 to 533 vote in his bid against Richard Nixon.

L. F. (Bud) Amburn Joins Herald Staff

Effective Monday of this week, L. F. (Bud) Amburn, Jr., became associated with The Chowan Herald. Mr. Amburn will assist in gathering and writing news for The Herald as well as soliciting advertising for the paper.

Mr. Amburn hails from Statesville, N. C., where he has been associated with his brother-in-law, Jay Huskins, on the Statesville Record, so he comes with considerable newspaper experience. He is married and the father of three children. In the few days he has been in Edenton he has been very favorably impressed with Edenton and its people. At present he is looking for a house in order to move his family to Edenton.

Aces Scalp Ahsokie Indians 25-7 To Win Eighth Game Of Season

Edenton's Aces hung up their eighth victory of the season Friday night in Ahsokie when they defeated the Indians 25-7. However, the score somewhat belies the strength of the Indians, who threw a scare in the Aces' camp especially in the first half, when they led by a 7-6 score. While performance of the Aces was superb, at least three very lucky breaks was a contributing factor in scalping the Indians. Two pass interceptions by Phil Harrell and Wesley Chesson and Charlie Overton falling on an Ahsokie fumble on their 40-yard line were big factors in three of the Aces' touchdowns.

The Aces drew first blood shortly after they received the opening kick-off. They chalked up four successive first downs during the first quarter. Wesley Chesson and Ikey Davis tearing the Ahsokie line to shreds. They advanced the ball to a few inches of the goal line, from where David Holton crashed through for the first score. Holton's kick for extra point was wide.

Ahsokie came back strong and upon receiving Mitchener's kick, in six plays passed in the end zone for their only score. A kick for extra point was good and the Indians held a 7-6 edge.

Ahsokie outplayed the Aces in the second quarter but neither team was able to score. The Indians chalked up four successive
