A LIFT FOR TODAY

That your faith and hope might be in God.—Peter 1:21.
Faith in God is not static; it grows as we commune with him, as we discern his guiding hand and understand his will for us.

Summer's Itchy Foot

One thing that can be said for Summer — it's a pretty sure cure for Spring Fever. The combination of heat and humidity can bring a quick end to those wild impulses which so recently drove us out into yard and garden and unaccustomed toil.

But that same summertime sultriness also sets the stage for an equally prevalent and more aggravating and tenacious affliction that has been known through the centuries as "athlete's foot."

Through the ages, treatment of athlete's foot and other ringworm infections has been based more on hope than confidence. Remedies have been concocted that give varying degrees of relief.

This summer — for the first time since vacations were invented — the itchy feet of our feet can be limited to the kind that can best be taken care of by a trip to the seashore or the mountains.

Selling LBJ's Idea

We are frankly wondering about what has happened to Lester B. Dill of Meraec Caverns on US Route 66 in Missouri who undertook awhile back to help out the President with his "See the USA" program to solve the balance of payments problem.

Mr. Dill, whose fortunes depend upon the visitors to his caves, and being a patriot, went all-out, according to his own report, and "put up signs all over" to call attention to his "Lucky Seven Point Check-List for Americans."

Presented under the heading: "SEE THE U.S.A." these are: 1. No passports 2. No shots 3. No language barriers 4. No Customs inspections 5. No food or water problem 6. No confusing rate of exchange 7. No limit to duty-free purchases.

And to give his message an official flavor, he included that quote of the Vice President's: "In this land you can see beauty the likes of which no other country on the face of the earth can possibly give you."

Next, Mr. Dill had undertaken to urge his seven-point billboards on the automobile and oil industries, hotels, motels, rent-a-car companies, resort operators, credit card firms, etc.

The man who tries to work all day and night, too, is not always the fellow who gets the most work done.

"By Buff"

What's in a name? Well, that all depends. Last week a correction appeared in The Herald to the effect that a Fred Bunch listed in Recorder Court news was not the Fred C. Bunch who lives on Hawthorne Road. In talking with W. C. (Carey) Bunch the other night, he was telling me that a W. C. Bunch was listed a week or two ago in The Herald for some traffic violation. The one listed was not Carey, but with same names or initials it is sort of hard to make proper identification. In the Bunch case, however, maybe it would be better to refer to Carey Bunch as "Fish Hatchery" Bunch, for he was connected with the U. S. Fish Hatchery for many years.

Here's one who was unfortunate enough to have to miss the celebration at Rocky Hock Baptist Church Sunday when the congregation observed its 130th anniversary. According to reports it was a wonderful affair. Mrs. Thurman Allred in her column says the church was filled to the rafters and that some even could not get into the church building.

had many good times as a member and regret that practically all of my brothers in the early days of my membership have passed away." Three others were honored at the same time with a certificate for 25 years continuous membership; Paul Wallace, Vernon Barrow, E. D. Babb and J. E. Rogerson. But that quartet has a long way ahead to meet Friend Jackson's record. Only two other Edenton Masons have received the 50-year honor, the late E. R. Conger and Charles H. Wood.

Another delightful affair I had to miss was the ordination of two young men, Tommy Kehayes of Edenton and James F. Fordham of Washington, N. C., in St. Paul's Episcopal Church Tuesday morning. Quite a few preachers were also present for this occasion and a very good meal was served following the service. Looks like food and religion go together.

Edenton Rotarians will have a new president as of today (Thursday). Glenn Mabe will succeed West Byrum as president of the club. West had a very successful year, but fell down in one aspect. He was hopeful of registering one 100 per cent meeting during his term of office, but the closest he got was on April 1, when Dick Hines announced that it was a 100 per cent meeting.

It was nice to see Fielding Tanner in town Tuesday. Friend Tanner brought a bunch of fish from Charles City, Va., to the local fish hatchery and, of course, called around to see some of his relatives and friends. It used to be that when he came back to Edenton he'd get the speckled perch to biting, but he said he hasn't tried 'em now for a long time.

Howard Jackson was especially honored Thursday night when he was presented a 50-year gold emblem. The pin was awarded by the Grand Lodge of Masons in North Carolina in recognition of having a record of 50 years continuous membership in Unanimity Lodge. "It's a long time," said Howard, "but I've rade up Fifth Avenue, ticker tape and all," for having made it through the screening process. It seems the program has been in operation in his district for months with nothing constructive having been done. New York City, the editorial said, has been allocated 830 Job Corps trainees and 1,600 youngsters have filled out applications. However only two had been admitted to the program.

A director of New York's Poverty Operations Board is quoted as having told the New York Times that it costs the city $180 to screen each applicant whether he is accepted or not. At that rate the city will spend $300,000 screening the number of applicants who have already expressed interest in the program. The Dallas paper expressed the hope that for this price more than two youngsters will be admitted to the program.

The Herald suggests that the youngsters who have filed applications be put in charge of the program and let those now running it file their applications for jobs. Isn't it too bad that New Yorkers play such a leading role in running the nation? Maybe this is an important reason why it is in such a mess.

FIRST BLOSSOM?—It is always of general interest to know who is first and with what. Therefore, we are happy to report that A. C. Griffin, Route 2, Edenton, is the first to report cotton blossoms this season. Mr. Griffin brought in proof of the blossom he found in his field Sunday. Now we know who's on first.
