A LIFT FOR TODAY

What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ?—Matthew 72:22.

Through centuries Christ has stood before the world with transcendent beauty and power, but he does not force man to respond to his appeal. Each must make his own decision as to whether or not he will accept and follow him.

May we, today, open our hearts and give Jesus supreme place in our lives, reconsecrating ourselves to his service, we pray, O Lord.

Saved By The Glow

If 25 states think "safety" license plates are valuable enough as accident preventers to issue them to all motorists, the other 25 should at least consider them.

Half the states HAVE adopted light-reflective "safety" plates that glow so brightly at night they can be seen for 2,000 feet. Eight states replaced their ordinary painted plates with the reflective kind by enacting new laws during 1965 legislative sessions. They are Illinois, North Carolina, Vermont, Arkansas, Nevada, Nebraska, Montana and Oklahoma.

Before voting for reflective plates, every one of these eight state legislatures considered impartial study results such as these:

ITEM: In Maine, the annual number of nighttime collisions with parked cars dropped 58 per cent from 1950 (when the state first issued reflective tags) to 1963, compared with the five years before 1950, according to Maine State Police.

ITEM: Nighttime property damage collisions involving parked and disabled cars dropped 74 per cent in Minnesota during the second year after reflective plates were issued, the National Safety Council reported.

ITEM: Prof. Edward G. Brown of the University of Washington studied the experience of all reflective-plate states in a comprehensive study for the Washington state legislature. As a result, he recommended that the 1965 legislature adopt reflective plates.

Next year, the legislatures of 14 states will have a chance to adopt reflective license plates, thus rectifying what we think has been an oversight. The states are Alaska, Colorado, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina and Virginia.

Perhaps some day every car on the highways of every state will be marked with the warning glow of a "safety" plate at night.

Heard & Seen

"By Buff"

We're all proud of Edenton Aces' record this year and while it would be hard to single out all of the particular stars, a feeling of pride is caused by an article written by Bill Ballenger in the Charlotte News in connection with the Shrine Bowl game, where Bill Griffin, one of the Aces' outstanding performers this year, was chosen on the Charlotte News All-State team. Ballenger's article follows:

Big Bill Griffin is a formidable man, standing 6-6 and tipping the scales at 248 pounds.

Those figures make him easily the biggest football player in the Shrine Bowl, a fact that makes Tar Heel Coach Clyde Walker smile a little because the monster from Edenton is on his side.

"Bill's a big man all right," Walker says, "but he is very maneuverable for his size." He is also from the smallest school represented on the North Carolina roster. Edenton is a 2-A school located in the northeast corner of the state and coached by Gerald McGee, brother of Duke All-American Mike McGee.

This year the Edenton squad marched to a 12-0 record as they took their quarter of the state 2-A title.

"The closest anybody came to beating us was 20-6," Big Bill explains it. "We played Ahsokie twice and got them 21-7 in the first game, then 20-6 in the second one. That's as close as anybody got to us . . ."

They went out of their class in one game, playing tough Elizabeth City of the 3-A ranks.

"That was our finest game," Griffin says. "It was my best game and it was the team's best game. We beat 'em 26-0 and I guess that's the thing I'm proudest of—next to being in the Shrine Bowl."

He has played three years of varsity ball at Edenton, starting out as a callow sophomore of only 215 pounds. Last year he weighed in at 230 pounds and now the full 248.

"I think I'll be at a playing weight of around 255 or 260 when I get to college," he says. "I don't have much trouble carrying it . . ."

He has plenty of college offers. A spot checks shows at least 11 institutions that have already bid for his services and if he continues to hit in practice as he did yesterday, there will probably be a lot more.

"These guys out here really are hitting," he said, perspiration cascading off his brow in king sized droplets. "I've never been hit this hard before. It's quite a change. Today I hit with Mike Bobbitt (223) and Ronnie Carpenter (237) and they gave me a good working over."

He gave them back some of the same in spades. The big guy from the little school isn't having too much trouble moving up in classification.

Leonard Bass up at the Sunoco Service Station was delighted the other day when he received a letter from the Sun Oil Company. The letter from A. J. Johnston, Jr., district manager, congratulated Bass on being one of the top 10 dealers in the Norfolk District with regard to Sunoco's "Go First Class" Appearance Campaign. Mr. Johnston told Bass that in the near future he and his wife will be invited to attend a dinner in appreciation for his work.

Members of the Chowan Scottish Rite Club are gathering toys, clothing and food to be distributed among the needy in the community during the Christmas holidays. Miss Glenna Quinn, in charge of the project, urges anyone who will make contributions of any kind to take them to the Edenton Fire Station.

And speaking about the holidays, there'll be a lot of parties and meals served from now until Christmas. And I'll go along with Malvin Parham. Malvin says that with so much crop failures blamed on nematodes, he wished nematodes would attack the green pea crop so that they're not on about every menu served at a banquet.

Edenton's Christmas parade was just about one of the best ever. It was my privilege to ride in the front of the parade due to the absence of Mayor John Mitchener, who had to be out of town. Riding at the forefront was quite an advantage, for I got out and then watched the entire parade. The floats were especially attractive, so that the judges no doubt had a difficult time picking the winners. Oh, yes, Winks Bond, sitting with me in the car, commented upon me having on my "Sunday best" and enjoined me to smoke my pipe so people would know who I was. And I did just that.

Election Scheduled For Supervisor

The voters in Chowan County will elect a soil and water conservation district supervisor this Friday, December 10, to serve a three-year term beginning January 1, 1966.

Lloyd C. Bunch, a local supervisor for several years, is seeking re-election to this position. Curtis Forehand, Route 3, Edenton, is also seeking the position.

Ballot boxes will be open all day Friday at the following places throughout the county: Henderson Goodwin's Store, M&R Service Center, Troy Toppin's Store, H. A. Perry's Store, W. E. Smith's Store, L. C. Briggs' Store, Hughes - Parker Hardware Company, H. R. Peele's Store and the ASCS Office. All eligible voters in the county are eligible and encouraged to vote for the candidate of their choice this Friday.

Soil and Water Conservation District Supervisors occupy a position of public office and public trust. As a member of our local board, he elected official will assist the other members of the board, Joe Webb, Jr., and H. Fahey Byrum, in program planning, policy making and the carrying out of a soil and water conservation program for Chowan County, a Unit of the Albemarle Soil and Water Conservation District. Members of our county and district boards will meet regularly with agricultural agency representatives and others interested in this important program. District supervisors are non-salaried officials, serving our district, state and nation in this important role largely at their own expense and with no compensation in the form of a salary.

The Albemarle District is a subdivision of our North Carolina State Government, organized under the provisions of the General Statutes of North Carolina. As such, supervisors and districts have a responsibility to the people of our county and district. Many individuals, agencies and other groups supply assistance of one form or another. Conservation goals and objectives are set up each year. District supervisors are your elected representatives to coordinate the various aspects of your conservation program.

TB Yule Seals Are Distributed

The annual Christmas Seal campaign is underway in Chowan County and hundreds of letters filled with the seals have been mailed by the local tuberculosis association.

R. Graham White is president of the Chowan County unit; Hulda Wood is secretary and Ralph E. Parrish is treasurer. Local residents receiving the Christmas Seals are asked to make a contribution of at least $1 per sheet and the face value of the bond which was enclosed in some envelopes. Then they are encouraged to use the seals on pieces of mail sent during the holidays season.

"We firmly believe that your annual investment in the fight against tuberculosis is one of the best you can make," Parrish said in a letter. "An increasingly larger share of your investment is being spent in research, which we feel is the key to the victory."

"Tuberculosis is happening to someone somewhere in Chowan County—now—but other lung crippling diseases are adding to the tuberculosis problem. These diseases cripple the lungs and make a person more susceptible to tuberculosis."

Good Advice

Don't believe all you hear, unless it's a police car or fire truck siren or a railroad train.
