

Physicians From Area To Hear UNC Doctor

CHAPEL HILL — Understanding the role of growth and development in children with anemia will be stressed at a 17-county medical meeting in Edenton on January 19.

Dr. Campbell McMillan, a pediatrician at the University of North Carolina School of Medicine who specializes in blood diseases of children, will speak to practicing physicians at the Edenton Restaurant.

In an afternoon lecture, his topic will be "Coming to Grips with Childhood Anemia." He will point out the most common causes of the disease and will emphasize that an expert isn't necessary to begin the correct diagnosis.

At 7:30 P. M., Dr. McMillan will discuss "The Solitary Mass: A Pediatric Emergency." His talk will focus on early diagnosis of tumors as the real answer to protecting children from cancer.

This is the second in a series of medical meetings which will alternate weekly between Edenton, Ahoskie, and Elizabeth City. The series is sponsored by the Chowan - Pasquotank - Hertford medical societies, the UNC School of Medicine and the UNC Extension Division.

Practicing physicians from the following counties are included: Beaufort; Bertie; Camden; Chowan; Currituck; Dare; Edgecombe; Gates; Halifax; Hertford; Martin; Nash; Northampton; Pasquotank; Perquimans; Tyrrell; and Washington.

Dr. McMillan is a graduate of Whiteville High School, served as a hospital corpsman with the U. S. Navy in 1945-46 and received his medical degree from the Bowman Gray School of Medicine in 1952.

He has been on the UNC medical faculty since 1963 after two years of private practice in Laurinburg.

Yeopim 4-H'ers Hold Meeting

December 17 members of the Yeopim 4-H Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Yates Parrish on the old Hertford Road. Mrs. Parrish gave each girl and lady a lovely Christmas corsage and the boys candy.

Each member took fruit, which was divided in four parts and placed in Christmas baskets and boxes. Then we went to visit four shut-ins. We sang Christmas carols and left fruit for them. It was very impressive and brought out the true meaning of Christmas. After caroling we again went to the Parrish's lovely home, which was very tastefully decorated for Christmas. We were served so many Christmas goodies, which were truly enjoyed by each and every one.

Our thanks goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Parrish for being so nice to our club at Christmas.

A smart fruit seller makes it a point to pack his boxes so he can turn them up-side-down before the customer. The best ideas germinate in honest, idealistic minds and are not the result of self-seeking thoughts.

Moore Predicts

been in a town with the cooperative spirit of the citizens of Edenton. "The general attitude of the people in Edenton and Chowan County is just great," he states. He points to progress that has been made in the past five or six years and says: "This is what happens when the average citizen becomes interested in his town."

Lighting of the runway at Edenton Municipal Airport will be a great asset to the entire community, he says.

The chamber executive says he is more interested in the expansion of existing industry than in getting new plants. "All existing firms expanded in 1965 and that is a healthy sign," he contends.

"The future looks quite promising for Edenton, Chowan County and the Albemarle area," Moore said. "If we continue to receive support from all concerned as demonstrated in the past, our accomplishments are unlimited."

Most people feel that their neighbors have it pretty easy. Every minority has the idea that it should rule the nation.

the end of the first six lease portions of the property.

Gardner reported on the condition of the budget at months of the year. He said tax collections were $98,000 and all expenses were normal.

Mayor John A. Mitchener, Jr., commended Gardner for his efficient manner in which the town's business has been conducted.

The council took action to secure property on the west side of Broad Street for off-street parking. Gardner said it is hoped that sufficient property can be secured to park some 64 cars. He said an off-street parking lot on the west side of the street would be a great deal of assistance to downtown merchants.

Councilman Henry Quin proposed that Edenton make a bid for one of two alcoholic rehabilitation centers that will be constructed by the state. Councilmen agreed this would be like having a new industry in town and Mayor Mitchener will appoint a committee to work on this project.

James H. Griffin was given the oath of office as chief of police. He returned to the department on January 1 after working with the State Board of Paroles for two months.

Good Ones, Too!

"I represent the Mountain Wool Company, madam. Would you be interested in some coarse yarns?" "Gosh, yes. Come in and tell me a couple."

The accident toll in this country is big enough to warrant serious attention and so, if you want to save your own life, be careful in 1966.

'By Numbers' Salute Given State

RALEIGH—North Carolina was saluted "by the numbers" when the North Carolina Motor Carriers Association presented industrial fact booklets to Gov. Dan Moore.

J. T. Outlaw, executive vice president, NCMCA, presented the booklets covering pertinent facts on each of the 100 counties of North Carolina.

Basic North Carolina facts in the 103,000 booklets include: Population, 4,766,103; land area, 49,067; households, 1,239,700; effective buying income, $7,186,755,000; retail sales, $4,975,282,000; farm income, $1,412,324,923; wholesale sales, $6,982,616,000; median family income, $3,956; travel expenditures, $467,000,000; employment, 1,605,478; highway miles, 71,845.0; motor vehicle registrations, automobiles, 1,545,908; trucks, 376,884 and trucking employment, 294,417; truck taxes, $97,497,159 and truck wages, $1,194,367,278.

The booklets are being distributed to local county commissioners, mayors, merchants associations, chambers of commerce, industrial development groups and government leaders.

"It is our pleasure to serve North Carolina in this new industrial development technique," Outlaw told Governor Moore.

"We sincerely hope the business and industrial development leaders and groups may utilize this free fact booklet in the future promotion of industrial development throughout North Carolina's 100 counties," Outlaw concluded.

Surprise Party Given Mr. Hobbs

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hobbs had a surprise birthday party for Hilery T. Hobbs Saturday night at his home in the Paradise section.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Long surprised him with a beautiful birthday cake which was served with punch and ice cream.

Mr. Hobbs was 86 years old and 20 people called on him during the evening to wish him many more happy birthdays.

Mr. Hobbs loves to have his friends call on him any time they can.

Rally Planned

December is expected to carry over to the general election on February 5. He said since Jones has Republican opposition, efforts are being made to get out a big Democratic vote.

The district rally — with representatives from the 15 counties already in the district, as well as new counties added by the special session of the General Assembly now in session—will be staged at the Williamston High School gymnasium. A barbecue dinner will be served along with the political speeches.

Nat Johnson, chairman of the Martin County Democratic Executive Committee is handling local arrangements for the rally.

An Ancient Alliance
The feline family outdates man by thousands of years! As soon as man arrived on the scene, though, they struck up an acquaintance that has lasted and grown throughout all time.
The early Egyptians worshipped the cat as a god. In fact, the honored position which cats occupied in society under the Pharaohs has never been equalled. The cat was sacred to the Egyptian goddess, Pasht (whence the name "Puss"). Cats were worshipped, paraded and garlanded.
Because cats have always had the qualities of beauty, intelligence and grace the cat population of today is up to 26 million. Equally at home in city apartment or country home, the fastidious and well-mannered cat is a welcome and loved companion.
Because cats are intensely self-sufficient creatures, some people have labeled them arrogant, disobedient and unpredictable. According to the experts at the Purina Pet Care Center cats really have a keen appreciation of comfort and companionship. The key to getting in their good graces is to treat them as they are, not as a dog or unruly child. They know intuitively whether they're loved and understood, and they have innumerable subtle ways of making their desires and feelings known.
From its place as a god the cat has come down a peg to enjoying and being enjoyed in many homes. If you don't own one yet, you have a great friendship in store for you.

Sound Off
Bores won't bother you if you monopolize the conversation yourself.
—Courant, Hartford.

Not Bad
It wouldn't be a bad idea at that to put the designers of bathing suits in charge of cutting governmental budgets.
