I'm sorry she's ill, I'll visit her soon
And then I promptly forget it.
Not wait 'til too late and regret it.
I now make a vow, I'll go see her now,

You know, it doesn't take long for a "drop-in" visit, with a cheerful word, a bouquet of flowers, a book or magazine or a funny story. And who knows, you might get a different perspective on your individual "difficulties."

We've had such an interesting and busy week which makes time just race by. Last Wednesday afternoon, being such a nice balmy one, of course, I HAD to go fishing. And I rowed a boat for the first time this year—it was fun Wednesday, but, oh, the sore muscles on Thursday.

The party which Judy and Jim Earnhardt gave for the young Merrill Evans was really nice. As usual, Judy looked so pretty and was so gracious, and Carrie, who always makes people so welcome, did just that, in her usual charming manner. Tish and Merrill, I'm sure will be wonderful assets to our community.

Another highlight of our week was the open installation of new officers of the Eastern Star. It was a beautiful and impressive ceremony, almost as a dedication to its members.

Sunday afternoon we decided to take a trip over to Lake Phelps, and it was a trip well worth while. Although there was a chill in the air, we enjoyed walking over the grounds of Pettigrew State Park and visiting the beautiful Somerset Place, home of the Josiah Collins family, who once lived in Edenton. Much lore is attached to this place and if you shut your eyes, you could almost imagine yourself being a part of this history. It is really a beautiful place.

I met Mrs. Hazel Carter on the street this week and she told me about her recent trip to Yuma, Arizona, where she spent several months with her son-in-law and daughter and family, Major and Mrs. J. W. Christopher. Mrs. Carter says the climate in Yuma is wonderful, warm days and cool nights. She tells me that the desert flowers are now blooming and that it's a lovely sight, purple verbena and desert lilies. Really sounds like a good idea to "Pack up your sinus and go to Arizona."

SERMON ON HATS: You still have 12 days left to shop for an Easter bonnet, but if you can't find one, you might consider going bareheaded to church. Some clergymen, according to The Insider, say they would rather see you bareheaded than not at all. And they hate to look down from their pulpits on a sea of makeshift head-coverings, fashioned from facial tissues, doilies and gloves. One thing yet is not settled. If you're a wig-wearer, does your wig count as a hair covering?

Snuff is being sniffed again in England on a large scale, apparently among the members of the younger set who have given up smoking.

You can now get fresh rhubarb at the produce counter in your grocery store and, believe me, fresh rhubarb pie or sauce is delicious. This recipe will make filling for a nine-inch pie:

1 1/2 cups sugar.
1/4 cup flour.
1/4 teaspoon salt.
1 pound rhubarb, cut in 1/2-inch pieces.
1 tablespoon butter.
Mix sugar, flour and salt. Combine rhubarb with one-half the sugar-flour mixture. Pour filling into unbaked pastry shell. Sprinkle remaining sugar-flour mixture over the filling. Dot with butter. Roll out pastry and cut into six equal triangular shaped pieces. Place over filling with points towards the center. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 40 to 50 minutes.

The following was given to me and, even though the Lenten season is half over, we could all follow this advice the whole year through. Thanks so much to Carrie Earnhardt:

Fast from criticism, and feast on praise.
Fast from self-pity and feast on joy.
Fast from ill-temper and feast on peace.
Fast from pride and feast on humility.
Fast from selfishness and feast on service.
Fast from fear and feast on faith.

Did You Know—

Stains on your marble coffee table can be erased by a gentle rubbing with a mixture of hydrogen peroxide and ammonia. Use a soft cloth and then rinse in clear water and wipe dry. For scratches, try a delicate brush with fine sandpaper and repolish the spot with a damp cloth dipped in putty powder.
Celery salt is an excellent flavoring for stewed tomatoes.
Plastic coffee can lids make excellent spoon rests keeping your stove top nice and clean.
