Big Vote Expected In Town Election; Interest Great On Public Works Issue

Edenton voters go to the polls Tuesday to elect a mayor, three councilmen, a treasurer and three members to the Board of Public Works. At the same time, a special election will be held on the question of abolishing the Board of Public Works.

In this election, voters will be casting their ballots on an at-large basis for the first time. In the past the councilmen have been elected in their individual wards.

MR. CHAIRMAN — Henry G. Quinn, councilman-at-large and a downtown merchant, has more than a passing interest in Edenton's future. He is also chairman of the important Downtown Committee of Edenton Chamber of Commerce which is continuously coming up with ideas designed to make Edenton more of a shopping center for this entire area. It was Quinn's committee which suggested an anti-litter ordinance which is now being enforced in the town and there is evidence this measure is working.

Clocks Will Be Turned Up Sunday

Daylight Saving Time comes to North Carolina at midnight Sunday when all clocks will be advanced one hour. This means everyone, regardless of their wishes, will lose an hour's sleep.

But those who make out until October without this hour's sleep can regain it when the clocks are turned back and Eastern Standard Time returns.

A check in the Edenton area indicates

Tour Set At Plants

Local plants plan to have tours of manufacturing facilities here May 16 and 17 during Industry Appreciation Week.

Robert W. Moore of the Edenton Chamber of Commerce said plants will be open for tours from 9 A. M., to 12 noon and 1 P. M., to 3 P. M., on the two days. He said tours can be arranged on May 18 if necessary and reservations are requested by the chamber.

Groups of students and others interested in viewing the local plants are requested to contact the chamber for a time to visit the plants.

there will be no exemptions from DST.

Supt. Hiram J. Mayo of Edenton and Chowan County schools said all units will operate on DST beginning Monday. Students will hurry off to their respective schools an hour earlier and return home in the same fashion, giving them additional time for farm and home chores.

But for some, DST won't bother their schedule one bit. "When you work from sun up to sun down the way you set your clock makes no difference," one was heard to comment.

Don't forget, Sunday midnight will automatically become 1 A. M., Monday throughout Tar Heelia.

Morris Gets Support

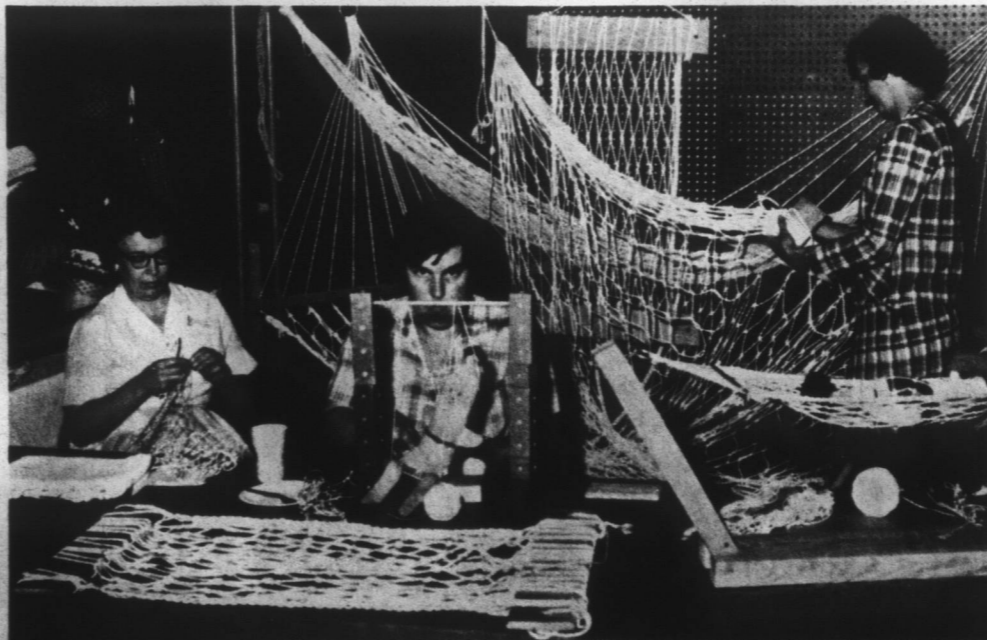

Members of the First District Bar Association have endorsed Judge Chester R. Morris of Coinjock for a seat on the newly established Intermediate Court of Appeals.

W. J. P. Earnhardt, Jr., local attorney and association secretary, said the attorneys met Saturday in Elizabeth City to discuss the endorsement of a colleague to the court.

Judge Morris, who retired recently as resident Superior Court judge in the First District and was named a special judge by Gov. Dan Moore.

The first district meeting was well attended and members of the First District Bar in attendance were unanimous in their support of an outstanding judge

BUSY CRAFTSMEN—Hammock making by three craftsmen from Chowan County drew considerable attention at the annual Craftsman's Fair in Elizabeth City last week. Here, Mrs. E. C. Shost, left, Mrs. Fred Cameron, and Mrs. Eow Ingels are busy at work in their booth. The doll hammock in right foreground was a demonstration model which became quite popular. Another interesting item is the swing center. This year's fair, with craftsmen from throughout the Albemarle Area exhibiting, was considered the most successful in history.

E. L. Hollowell, chairman of Chowan County Board of Elections, said voters will be given one ballot on which will be listed candidates for all offices. A second ballot, dealing with the Board of Public Works question, will also be passed out.

The polls open in the four wards at 6:30 A. M., and will close at 6:30 P. M. The Board of Public Works question, as well as contests for all but two positions in the municipal government is expected to bring out a record vote. Hollowell said there are approximately 2,500 registered voters in Edenton.

Mayor John A. Mitchener, Jr., is being opposed by Roy L. Harrell, a political newcomer two years ago who made an impressive showing.

J. D. Elliott, a former councilman, and Leroy H. Haskett, veteran politician who is a former mayor, are running for councilman-at-large.

The First Ward race is between incumbent Councilman Tom H. Shepard and Jacob Hobowsky.

In the Second Ward, incumbent Councilman Leo Katkaveck is opposed by Ray Ward, another newcomer to the political arena.

James M. Bond, town treasurer is unopposed as are three members running for the Board of Public Works: Jesse L. Harrell, J. H. Conger, Jr., and T. C. Byrum, Jr.

Legislation calling for a referendum on the question of abolishing the Board of Public Works was supported by the Town Council on the grounds that Edenton needs only one policy-making board. This is opposed by members of the E&W Board.

If voters approve the question of abolishing the Board of Public Works, the three elected in Tuesday's election will not serve. W. J. P. Earnhardt, Sr., and J. P. Ricks, Jr., members who have two additional years to serve, would automatically become advisors to the Town

Coach Vic Bubas

Bubas To Speak

Coach Vic Bubas of Duke University comes to Edenton next month to be principal speaker at the annual Varsity Club sports awards banquet.

Bubas, highly successful basketball coach, will keynote the May 8 banquet at which time athletes at John A. Holmes High School will be honored. The banquet will be held at National Guard Armory beginning at 7 P. M.

Bob Ashley, president of Edenton Varsity Club, said tickets for this year's banquet are now on sale and can be purchased from club members.

Coach Bubas has completed his eighth season as head coach with the reputation of being one of the most successful basketball coaches in the country today. The Blue Devils were 18-9 this year with six of the losses being administered by Top 10 quintets, two by national champion UCLA.

Bubas' eight-year record of 176 victories and only 48 losses, including four ACC championships and three trips to the NCAA finals, has vaulted him far into the national limelight.

First as a player, the redhead was a star of the first magnitude on four great teams at N. C. State.

Second, Bubas began his coaching career on a winning note by compiling a 64-10 mark as head coach of the Wolfpack freshmen for four years.

Third, he was a highly successful assistant coach under the late Everett Case at State for four seasons.

In 1959-60 he switched from State to Duke, but his talented touch stayed with him.
