

The Public Parade

Going Places

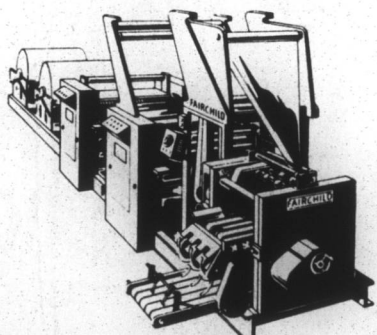

The growth which Edenton and Chowan County has experienced in the past few years has brought about many changes in various aspects of this community.

We here at The Chowan Herald like to feel that we are keeping pace with this growth. A newspaper is the mirror used by many to reflect the image of a community. Therefore, the newspaper has a tremendous responsibility to make whatever changes necessary to present this image as accurately as possible.

This newspaper continuously has expressed faith in the further growth and development of the community in which we work, play and raise our families. This has been done, in some ways, through expansion and broadening of our facilities and services.

Today, we take another giant step. We accept shipment of a new Fairchild News King web offset press. Within two weeks we anticipate in-plant printing of our newspaper once again.

In order to provide our subscribers with a better looking product and our advertisers with new services such as color, etc., we switched to offset production in March. However, it was necessary to have the newspaper printed in another plant while we were getting our press.

The Fairchild press is capable of producing sparkling black and white and color while providing the utmost flexibility. It will turn out an eight page

Continued on Page 4

WHO WON?—Coach Marion Kirby, right, of the Edenton Aces joins Halfback John Sutton for a few happy moments as they flash victory smiles after the Aces upset Ahsokie, 7-0, at Hicks Field Friday night. Sutton, who scored on a 74-yard run with 25 seconds left in the game, displays the game ball and a traditional "V" for victory. The win put the Aces in top spot of the 2-A Albemarle Conference with a 7-0 record and two games left on the schedule.

Edenton Can Win Title Against Plymouth Friday

John Sutton could have written his own ticket in Edenton Friday night after he raced 74 yards for a touchdown on the last play from scrimmage to give the Aces a well deserved upset victory over Ahsokie.

Matt Neipraschk, who two weeks ago booted a field goal to push the Aces over Bertie, missed on a 20-yarder late in the game. However, the soccer-style kicking specialist split the uprights after Sutton's brilliant run to make it 7-0.

Coach Marion Kirby, who had the Aces really "up" for the Indians, completely fooled everyone with the running play. Edenton had missed on two passes in the last series of downs. Then Frankie Katkaveck lost 10 back to the 26.

Sutton, a junior 142-pound halfback, swung around the left side on a well executed double reverse as the defense moved back to cover the certain pass. At midfield he was boxed in but found daylight and was sprung loose by a beautiful block. It was then clear sailing and that is exactly what Sutton did as 3,500 fans—some happy and some stunned—went wild.

The victory kept the Aces undefeated in conference play and with a single victory they can win the title and go on to the playoffs. Ahsokie was heavily favored to win the game at Hicks Field as they had averaged 26 points per game and had shut out all opponents during the regular season.

The shifty runners on the Ahsokie squad were kept bottled up most of the night as the stubborn Edenton defense wouldn't give. Ahsokie got only one first down the entire first half of play. Edenton ran 66 plays during the night while Ahsokie ran only 39.

Coach Kirby said his plan was to keep the ball as much as possible. "We just threw a good defense at them, the best our boys have played all year while maintaining ball control," he said this week.

The coach would not single out any particular star, save Sutton. "This was a magnificent team effort and shows what a bunch of youngsters can do when

Continued on Page 4

Comedy Planned By Little Theater

Comedy at its finest will be center stage as the Edenton Little Theater presents "Harvey". This rollicking show casts Dr. Richard Hardin as Elwood P. Dowd, the greatest friend and confidante of a rather furry six-footer named Harvey.

The production, presently in its third week of rehearsal, will be presented on the evenings of November 16 and 18 in John A. Holmes High School Auditorium. Curtain time will be 8 o'clock.

John Becker is directing "Harvey", a light comedy, which should please any audience.

Becker has cast Iris Etheridge as sister of Mr. Dowd. Jill Crandall plays a delightful role as a daughter, Myrtle Mae.

Doris Parrish takes the part of a wealthy society matron who visits the somewhat nutty Dowd household. Dewey Mills, Jean Peele, Frank Palumbo, and Joe Conger, Jr., are cast as staff members of "Happy Dale" Sanitorium.

Jane Holmes portrays a doctor's wife and Haughton Ehringhaus plays a cab driver who takes many visitors to "Happy Dale", the type of "visitors" who never return. Judge Gafney, in this delightful comedy, is played by Pat Flanagan.

Advance tickets are being sold by little theater members or may be obtained from Mr. and Mrs. Alton Elmore. Tickets also will be available at the door.

Phthisic's Super Market Re-Opening

Phthisic's Super Market today (Thursday) opened a new 10,000-square-foot store on West Queen Street.

McKay Phthisic, store manager, said the store is about three times the size of the space vacated on South Broad Street in July.

The new store features numerous items which space would not permit the market to carry at the old location. New, modern fixtures have been installed and wide aisles are set for the convenience of shoppers.

The 50-car parking lot will be paved as soon as some "soft" spots settle.

The store will have some 15 employees including Don Morgan, head of the meat department; Mrs. Doris Lane, head cashier; and Mrs. Gertie Goodwin, head of the produce department.

The grand opening prize will be a one week vacation in Florida for two people. Drawing for the prize will be November 30.

Phthisic said he regrets the inconvenience to the firm's customers caused by the delay in opening the new store but welcomed everyone in the community to visit them at the new location and register for the free prize.

Student Concert

Students from the Department of Music, North Carolina School of Arts in Winston-Salem, Monday afternoon presented a program to approximately 800 high school students from three Edenton-Chowan schools.

The program was presented in Ernest A. Swain Elementary School as part of a Fine Arts series.

The program opened with Joseph Bodin deBeismertier's Sonata for Three Flutes. Artists were Laura Dietz of Atlanta, Ga.; Sandra Miller of Lincoln; and Christine Neild of Morristown, Tenn.

Bernard Thacker, Winston-Salem tenor also performed with Drucilla Engel of Orlando, Fla., at the piano. Later Miss Engel gave a solo presentation.

The most popular portion of the program was provided by Jauvier Calderon of LaPaz, Bolivia, who played the guitar.

Continued on Page 4

Copeland Booked

James E. Copeland, 23-year-old Chowan County Negro, has been jailed on a charge of secret assault involving a white woman.

Copeland was arrested on a warrant signed by Mrs. Sylvia Daniels Tynch, Route 3, Edenton.

Sheriff Earl Goodwin said Copeland is charged with assaulting Mrs. Tynch with a .22 caliber rifle with "intent to feloniously kill and murder" her.

The incident is alleged to have happened Monday night at Mrs. Tynch's home.

Copeland's bond has been set at $1,000 with a hearing scheduled next Tuesday in Chowan District Court.

LEAGUE LEADERS—Mayor John A. Mitchener, Jr., right, is shown here with Mayor M. C. Benton, Jr., of Winston-Salem, newly elected president of the N. C. League of Municipalities, and Mrs. Davetta L. Steed, executive director, at the league's annual convention in Raleigh. Mayor Mitchener completed his tenure as president at the convention.

Local Mayor Finishes League Year

Mayor John A. Mitchener, Jr., completed his tenure as president of the North Carolina League of Municipalities at the organization's 58th annual convention held last weekend in Raleigh.

He was succeeded by Mayor M. C. Benton, Jr., of Winston-Salem who was elevated to the post from first vice president.

Mayor Travis H. Tomilson of Raleigh was elected first vice president; Mayor A. Thomas Stewart of Washington, second vice president; and Mayor Ferd L. Harrison of Scotland Neck, third vice president.

New officers were installed at a closing breakfast Saturday morning at Sir Walter Hotel.

Mayor Mitchener presided at the opening session Thursday night in Municipal Auditorium and gave the president's annual report. The text of Mayor Mitchener's remarks are found on page eight

Continued on Page 4

A BREAK IN REHEARSAL—Six members of the Edenton Little Theater who are cast in "Harvey" are pictured above during a break in rehearsals. Front row are: Doris Parrish, Jill Crandall and Jean Peele. On the second row are: Joe Conger, Jr., Dewey Mills and Frank Palumbo. The delightful comedy will be produced at John A. Holmes High School auditorium November 16 and 18. Tickets are now on sale.

Center Is Dedicated To 'Individuals'

Dr. B. A. Barringer, president, College of the Albemarle, Tuesday night called the Learning Resources Center in Edenton a "venture in inter-county cooperation that other county agencies would do well to emulate."

Speaking at dedication ceremonies for the center in Ernest A. Swain Elementary School, Dr. Barringer praised the foresighted planning of COA and local community leaders that made the center a reality.

He said the COA board had agreed to arrest the growth of the on-campus center in order to provide the support needed for this off-campus unit. It is only the second such unit in a public school in North Carolina.

The college president went on to say while we praise the efforts of cooperation which insured the establishment of this center, "what is it?" "Is it an environment, an idea or an implementation of a concept in education which holds that all of us are individuals—varying in our intellectual and motivational skills, with many patterns of interpersonal relationship?" he asked. "It seems to me to be all of this."

He called the Learning Resources Center a process which takes into consideration individual needs. "It offers a program of various levels of study from the non reader to college," he added.

An important facet of the center is that it is accessible to the citizens of this area both financially and geographically. There is no cost for participation in the center.

"This Learning Resources Center stands as a glimmer of hope," the presi-

Continued on Page 4

LEARNING CENTER DEDICATED—The second Learning Resources Center in the state to open in a public school was dedicated Tuesday night at Ernest A. Swain Elementary School. Shown during open house are, left to right: Dr. B. A. Barringer, president, College of the Albemarle in Elizabeth City; Mrs. F. L. Britt, center coordinator, and N. J. George, who accepted the center on the part of the community.