Noting that the NCBA continues to place increased emphasis on this service, President Barrett thanked the 100 County Key Bankers for their contribution to this record. He called attention to the projects sponsored by the association such as the annual Farm Credit Conference, the two-week school of N. C. State University for 150 young farm leaders from every section of North Carolina. These scholarships have totaled over 1,800, all expenses being paid by their hometown banks. Another project is the land judging contest in the interest of soil conservation.
