

Morgan Against Attorney Gen.

RALEIGH—State Senator Robert Morgan of Lillington announced here Wednesday that he will be a candidate for North Carolina's Attorney General.

Referring to the office as "the people's attorney," Morgan's announcement set the stage for a lively primary contest for the office. Incumbent Wade Bruton has already paid his filing fee to run again. Both Morgan and Bruton are Democrats.

Morgan's statement that he will seek the office came as no surprise. He told a press conference at the Sir Walter Hotel that he had been considering the race for some time.

"North Carolinians are demanding as never before," he told reporters, "more vigorous, more imaginative, more aggressive and more capable leadership. I am challenged by their demands and thus moved to seek this office."

He pledged, if elected, to "exert this kind of leadership myself and demand it as well from all those who serve on the staff of the Attorney General or in the agencies for which he is responsible."

Morgan has served five terms in the North Carolina Senate and was elected president pro tem by that body for the 1965 session. As chairman of East Carolina University's board of trustees, Morgan was the legislative leader who carried the ball for that institution's bid for university status.

His name is also closely linked with efforts for better mental health facilities, jail reform and he served in 1965-66 as co-chairman of the General Assembly's Legislative Research Commission.

Morgan gained statewide prominence in 1960 when he managed Beverly Lake's campaign for Governor in the Democratic primaries. Lake is now a member of the State Supreme Court.

Morgan, a native of Harnett County, is a practicing attorney. He was first elected to public office in 1950 when Harnett voters elected him as clerk of Superior Court while he was still in law school at Wake Forest University. He completed law school a month after his victory at the polls.

He was first elected to the State Senate in 1955, and he served in the 1959, 1963, 1965 and 1967 sessions.

He is married to the former Katie Earle Owen of Roseboro and they have two daughters, Margaret Anne, age 6; Mary Elizabeth, age 5, and a foster son, Rupert, age 17.

Concert Slated By State Band

High school students in Edenton-Chowan Schools will attend a concert by the N. C. State University Symphonic Band at Ernest A. Swain Elementary School auditorium at 2 P. M. today (Thursday).

This is another in a series of fine arts programs arranged by the Arts and Humanities Department, headed by Mrs. James Partin.

The 78-member band played in Jacksonville and Washington Wednesday and goes from Edenton to Chesapeake, Va., for an 8 P. M. concert at Indian River High School. The 1968 concert tour ends at 2 P. M. Friday at Park View High School in South Hill, Va.

John T. Caldwell, N. C. State chancellor, said the "Symphonic Band is an example of one of the many groups which help make college life at N. C. State more rewarding. We sincerely trust that all our many friends will share our pride in the accomplishments of this outstanding organization."

It is good beating proud folks, for they will not complain.

—John Clarke.
