Plans Are Made Woolard Picked As Scoutmaster

John H. Woolard has assumed the duties of scoutmaster of Edenton Troop 156, Boy Scouts of America.

Woolard, owner of Montgomery-Ward's Edenton outlet, will direct the local scout program and have four assistants. They are: Dr. George Hunnicut, Murray Byrum, Brad Williford and Bob Baukin.

The local scout troop is sponsored by Edenton Rotary Club. At a recent troop meeting, 16 scouts were advanced in rank. They included:

Joe Bunch, star; Walter Byrum, Mike Hall, Lyle Hunnicut, Rob Roy Holmes and Hanna Habit, first class.

Jeff Knox, Jarvis Belch, Haywood Phthisic, David Shoaf, Hermon Bond, John Williams, Jimmy Barger and John Harrell, III, second class, and Tony Belch and William Bindeman, tenderfoot.

AGE 65 OR OLDER. The open enrollment period to sign up for Medicare doctor-bill insurance ends April 1.

The magic screen process being introduced to ice show audiences is an integration of performers on film and on ice with skaters darting in and out of a giant motion picture screen. And an underwater sequence will be seen.

This original underwater number, "Ritual of the Waters," incorporates an actual waterfall as well as an aquatic ballet performed inside a gigantic glass bubble.

The children's specialty in this year's show, "Sugar 'n Spice" should astound the youngsters, yet hold the interest of adults because of its imaginative execution.

Brother and sister team Otto and Maria Jelinek are spotlighted throughout the second half. The world champions take the audience on a tour of America—both on film and skates—from San Francisco to New York.

The seven performances of Ice Capades run from Tuesday, April 2, through Saturday, April 6, at the Reynolds Coliseum.
