Free as a bird? I wonder why we think they're more free than you and I. It's what we believe in that makes us free, Holding fast to faith and liberty.

I watched two birds flying high in the sky outside my hospital room window and they seemed so free up there. Then I began to wonder about this thing called "freedom." To me, freedom is within oneself. A clean conscience, love and consideration for others will give us freedom. As a man thinketh so is he!

Being on the sick list the last three months has not been without its compensations. I know now that much good can come, even from misery. My only hope is that I'll remember to be more kind and considerate of others.
