

Around Chowan County Farms

Cotton and Peanut Tour: Interested in seeing performance of new cotton varieties and some good cotton fields? What about new practices on trial for peanuts? If you are, you will want to attend the cotton and peanut tour next Monday afternoon, September 16.

We will meet at Carroll and Fahey Byrum's at 1:30 o'clock. Our first stop will be a cotton variety in the field behind Carroll's home.

Our second stop will be at the Bertram Hollowell home to observe the same cotton varieties being compared by Joe Hollowell.

The third stop will be at the E. N. Elliott farm to observe a good cotton crop being grown by Thomas Corpew.

The fourth stop will be at Bennie Bateman's lane where, across the road, we will observe peanut variety mix comparison.

The fifth stop will be at Wilbert M. Hare's home, where we will observe landplaster and nitrogen comparisons with peanuts.

4-H Pullet Show and Sale: The Chowan County 4-H pullet show and sale will be held at the Edenton Armory on Thursday, September 19. Ten pens of seven pullets each will be shown and sold at public auction.

These pullets are of high egg producing strains and should make excellent layers if properly fed and cared for. People who are interested in purchasing some pullets for home egg production and all who are really interested in backing these 4-H projects should attend the event.

Soybean Insects: Boll worms and beetles are invading our soybean fields as we have been expecting. Unless insecticides are applied promptly, severe damage and yield losses will result. Check your fields carefully to be sure of the situation.

The following insecticides are recommended. For bean leaf beetles and corn ear worms, a combination of Sevin and DDT; for Mexican bean beetles, a combination of Malathion and Sevin; for stink bugs and most insects, a mixture of Toxaphene 14 per cent plus DDT 7 per cent. Peanut Insects: For worms of all kinds, the safest insecticide to use is Sevin as a dust or spray. Repeated application may be necessary.

We already have corn ear worm and fall army worm invading a few fields, so I urge growers to be on the watch and not let the worms ruin the peanuts we have surviving the draught.
